THREE-POWER ACCORD NEARS IN SEA PARLEY

Pact, to Large Extent, Is Held Dependent on Cut in French Demands.

U. S. ENVOYS SUGGEST PROGRAM TO JAPAN

70 Per Cent in Cruisers in Five Years Offered Island Empire.

CONCESSIONS ASKED ON AMERICAN AIMS

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, Feb. 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Considerable progress has been made in the last 48 hours toward a British-American-Japanese naval agreement. Were it not that any such understanding is dependent to a large extent upon contraction of the French program, which Paris dispatches indicate is more and more unlikely, the position tonight would warrant moderate optimism.

The United States, in tentative fashion and without committing its delegation, has suggested to Japan a course of action which would probably give that country by the time for the next conference, five years hence, more than 70 per cent in big cruisers. This surprising proposal is conditional upon Great Britain and Japan conceding the right of the United States to build up to absolute parity with Great Britain in light cruisers, and upon an agreement that the United States, within the tonnage limitation of 339,000 tons of light cruisers, may build as big 6-inch-gun cruisers as she likes.

These facts, together with a complete account of the negotiations between Senator Reed and Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudira yesterday and today and of their implications, were given the New York World News Service by a delegate in a position to know all the facts and who does not agree with the obscurantist policy which the chief delegates are seeking to enforce.

Routs 8-Inch-Gun Cruisers.

The tentative change in the American position, if maintained, means rout of the supporters of 8-inch-gun cruisers and a victory of the Admiral William Veazie Pratt school over that of Admiral Hilary P. Jones, now ill and homeward bound on the Berengaria.

Senator Reed suggested to Ambassador Matsudaira that the United States, in the interests of a three-power agreement, might invoke her own suggestion in Secretary of State Stimson's statement of February 6, which, after proposing eighteen big cruisers for America, added, "on the other hand, the United States would have the option by reducing large cruisers from eighteen to fifteen to increase the number of its small cruisers so as to give it a total cruiser tonnage of 339,000 tons, the exact amount of tonnage which the British now ask."

If the United States adopted this course, Senator Reed pointed out, she would have constructed, as at present planned, only thirteen 8-inch-gun cruisers by 1936 against twelve Japanese. The tonnage would be 180,000 American tons against 108,000 Japanese, four of the Japanese cruisers mounting 8-inch guns being of only 7,100 tons each.

Would Give Japan 70 Per Cent.

This, Senator Reed remarked, would give Japan more than 70 per cent, but the price asked for this might be no limitation on the displacement of American 6-inch-gun cruisers, which would equal the British in tonnage.

Senator Reed also raised the American submarine offer to Japan to about 50,000 tons, the exact figure being left in the air.

Then came the most interesting part of the extremely important conversation. Would Japan, Ambassador Matsudaira was asked, object to a clause in a possible treaty safeguarding the right of Great Britain to build more ships than contemplated in answer to a high-building program by a continental power? To this question, which goes to the root of the whole conference deadlock, Ambassador Matsudaira replied evasively that Japan would not object to what Great Britain might do in this direction, but, according to the New York World News Service's informant, the even more delicate implications of this subject were not at this time pursued.

What would Japan do if the United States, in order to keep up to parity with Great Britain, had to build more than she expected? A possible compromise, if a three-power treaty is signed, is for Japan also to insert a similar clause claiming the right to build more vis-a-vis the United States

League Parley Envoy Is Washington Woman

Dr. Emma Wold One of Delegation That Sails for Hague Today.

DR. EMMA WOLD.

When the American delegation to the League of Nations conference on the codification of international law sails on the Aquitania today for The Hague, one member will be a woman attorney of the Capital, the first to be honored with appointment as a technical advisor on such a delegation.

Dr. Emma Wold, with offices at 1010 Vermont avenue northwest, is the first woman recognized as a technical expert on international law by President Hoover. In addition to being a practicing attorney, Dr. Wold is a member of the National Council of the National Woman's Party; legislative secretary of that organization, and a member of the Woman's Bar Association of the District.

Delegates to the conference include David H. Miller, editor of treaties of the State Department; Green H. Hackworth, solicitor of the Department of State; Theodore G. Risley, solicitor of the Labor Department; Richard W. Flournoy, jr., assistant solicitor of the State Department, and Mrs. Ruth B. Shipley, head of the passport division, Department of State.

In addition to Dr. Wold, the technical advisors include Dr. Manley O. Hudson, professor of international law at Harvard University; Dr. Edwin M. Borchard, professor of international law at Yale; Dr. Jesse S. Reeves, professor of international law at the University of Michigan, and S. W. Boggs, geographer of the State Department.

Dr. Wold, who is an authority on international law, having written several pamphlets on the subject, is now at work on a compilation of laws bearing on the status of aliens. Born in South Dakota, she was brought up at an Indian mission in eastern Nebraska, where her father was a Congregational missionary.

Dr. Wold studied at the University of Oregon, receiving her A. B. degree there, and later becoming a member of the school's faculty. Still later she studied at Columbia University and the University of California. She is

REBEL NAMED AS DOMINICAN REPUBLIC HEAD

Gen. Urena, Commander of Insurgents, Is Appointed.

U. S. ENVOY FINDS HIM SATISFACTORY

Official Recognition of De Facto Government Is Withheld.

CAPITAL IS NORMAL AFTER OCCUPATION

Retiring President Requests Permission to Take Up Residence Abroad.

Santo Domingo, Feb 28 (A.P.).—The governmental forces of President Horacio Vasquez and the insurgent leaders of the movement against him, with the apparent approval of the American Minister, today agreed on a provisional president for the Dominican republic. He is Gen. Rafael Estrella Urena, one of the insurgent leaders.

At noon President Vasquez, against whose continuation in office during the presidential elections the insurgent movement started, signed a decree appointing Gen. Estrella Urena secretary of state for the interior. According to the constitution, this member of the cabinet acts as president in the absence of the president and of the vice president.

At the same time President Vasquez asked the national assembly to permit him to leave the republic and stay in a foreign country. He gave ill health as his reason for making such a request before his term of office was over.

Led Insurgent Troops.

Estrella Urena, who is a lawyer by profession, led the insurgent troops into Santo Domingo two days ago, and carried on negotiations with Gen. Rafael Trujillo, loyal commander of Fort Ozama. He was minister of justice and instruction in the Dominican cabinet in 1926, but resigned six months later and was appointed minister to France.

Gen. Trujillo declined to be considered as a candidate for the provisional presidency, though his name had been prominently mentioned in connection with it.

Charles B. Curtis, American Minister to the republic, who today informed the insurgents that the American Government would not recognize a de facto government, apparently found the appointment of Estrella Urena satisfactory.

Occupation Quietly Effected.

With the departure of President Vasquez and the appointment of a provisional president, chosen from the ranks of the insurgents themselves, the political effervescence of the past week will probably die down. The insurgents' advance on Santo Domingo and their seizure of power in the north was practically bloodless, and no violent enmities seem to have been aroused by their action.

The movement was primarily one of protest against President Vasquez personally. The insurgents accused him of planning to push his own candidacy at the presidential elections in May, and, as he already had lengthened his term for two years, they opposed him.

President Omits Message.

The Senate and the Deputies both met today, but President Vasquez found it impossible to unite the National Assembly constitutionally and had to give up his plan of delivering a presidential message.

The city was quiet, and though the heavy shooting heard last night could not be traced to its cause it had no untoward consequences.

SENATE DOWNS TARIFF ON OIL BY 39-27 VOTE

CAMPAIGN SPLITS COMBINE, HOWEVER

Vote Swapping Bared in Lengthy Session of Lobby Committee.

INGENUOUS FRANKLIN TELLS OF HIS WORK

Always Understood Duties Were Decided That Way, He Tells Board.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The big oil men of Oklahoma who became millionaires overnight and built bathtubs of gold put up an inimitable and ingenuous fight against the Senate Democratic-Progressive coalition, so much so that they weaned many members away, but the Old Guard split and they lost their fight for a tariff on petroleum last night by a vote of 39 to 27.

The wide margin by which the coalition continued control of the tariff bill against two serious threats in as many days was a general surprise. The leaders on both sides had believed that the matter would be determined by two or three votes either way. When the vote came in at a late night session of the Senate, however, there was a surprising number of senators absent and their stand did not account for one or two other strange things as well.

It was the most interesting tariff story that has developed in the long consideration of the bill. To all intents and purposes President Hoover's oil conservation program seemed to be at stake. Administration supporters such as Senators Allen and Capper, of Kansas, deserted him because of the warmth of home fires and in the end it was the much profaned Old Guard that saved him.

Little Progress at First.

Two months ago any one who would have said that there would be a tariff placed on oil would have been considered no acute observer at all.

The independent oil operators had appeared before the House ways and means committee many months ago asking for assistance against the Standard Oil, the Dutch Shell, the Gulf and the other big fellows who own oil fields both in this country and abroad. They made no progress at all.

But a few weeks ago, under the guidance of Wirt Franklin, head of the Independent Petroleum Producers Association, they came here on a special train, making a big show of affluence and influence, rather suggesting, indeed, the way Death Valley Scotty used to do. Senator Thomas of Oklahoma said last night in the debate that they arrived here with only three senators in favor of their cause.

Start in "Ingenious" Way.

They opened headquarters at the Mayflower Hotel and in their Southwestern, oil field way, set out to get the tariff which Senators Allen and Thomas described as "ingenuous." The former admitted that some silly and foolish things had been done, but that this was because of their simple innocence, but Senator Blaine of Wisconsin, of most cynical mind, described them as "slimy and insidious."

Mr. Franklin, the mainspring of the whole thing, sat in the gallery until Senator Blaine, assisted by Senator Norris, got too critical of him, but returned when Senators Allen and Thomas took up his defense.

Earlier in the day he had appeared before the Caraway lobby committee, an instrument set up by the coalition to expose the ways and means and methods by which people go after

TAFT, MUCH WEAKER, IS UNABLE TO SPEAK TO SON IN SICK ROOM

Henry Miller Service.

Resistance Slowly Falls to Make Uncertain Span of Life.

NOURISHMENT AGAIN PROVING PROBLEM

Charles Taft Hurries to Washington From Cincinnati.

NO DECIDED CHANGE DOCTORS DECLARE

Claytor Believes Former Chief Justice May Live for Five Days.

(Associated Press.)

Weakness gradually encroached on William Howard Taft's resistance last night and increased the uncertainty over how much longer he could live.

Attending physicians said after visiting their patient shortly before midnight that he was somewhat weaker. Drs. Hagner and Claytor expected no great change in the condition of the former Chief Justice during the night, but Dr. Claytor said that in a case of this nature a sharp turn for the worse might come very suddenly.

Recognizes His Son.

During one of his conscious moments, he looked helplessly up from his sickbed into the face of his son. A gleam in his eyes showed that he recognized Robert A. Taft, who had arrived a while earlier from Cincinnati and was being followed from there by his brother, Charles P. Taft.

So weak was the former President and Chief Justice that he was unable to say a word. Previously the dying man also had recognized Dr. Francis R. Hagner and his sunken cheeks had rippled slightly into a smile. The smile was gone and the eyes closed almost at once, for then too, Mr. Taft could not speak.

No Decided Change.

The physician afterward described Mr. Taft as "slightly weaker;" and said he had not been able to take much nourishment.

"There is no decided change since Thursday," the bulletin added.

From time to time through the day persons called at the Taft residence to express their sympathy to Mrs. Taft because of her husband's critical condition. Ambassador Claudel of France was one. Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of Vice President Curtis, was another. Various justices of the Supreme Court also conveyed their solicitude.

Mrs. Taft was being comforted by their daughter, Mrs. Helen Taft Manning, and other relatives.

Second Bulletin Issued.

Attending physicians reported Mr. Taft at 6:45 p. m. yesterday to be in practically the same condition as he was yesterday morning, when they said he was growing weaker.

The bulletin issued through the White House read:

Drs. Francis R. Hagner and Thomas A. Claytor signed the bulletin.

After their regular evening call at the home, Drs. Hagner and Claytor issued a bulletin through the White House which said Mr. Taft's condition was unchanged from the morning.

May Live Five Days.

Discussing the former Chief Justice's condition, Dr. Claytor said it was impossible to estimate how long the 72-year-old man would live. He said that he was now in a semi-conscious condition and at times was able to understand what was said to him.

Dr. Claytor said that he had known persons suffering similarly to live as long as five days in a state

SNOOK CONFESSION BARES MURDER PLAN

GOES TO DEATH CALMLY

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—The Cleveland Plain Dealer and the Columbus Dispatch tomorrow morning will print a copyrighted story written by Warden P. E. Thomas of the Ohio Penitentiary, stating that Dr. James H. Snook told him prior to his electrocution that he had deliberately planned the slaying of Miss Theora Hix.

Warden Thomas said:

"At his trial Dr. Snook testified in great detail regarding * * * a brutal attack he said Miss Hix made on him. This testimony, Dr. Snook told me, was absolutely false in its entirety. Snook's only regret was that the story 'did me more harm than good and probably had something to do with the severity of the verdict.' He admitted it was a grave mistake for him to have told this story.

"He then went at length into the character of Miss Hix, saying she had threatened to expose the whole affair and ruin him socially and professionally. This fear of disgrace and loss of position caused him to make up his mind to kill her. From that time on he planned to carry out this decision. The instruments of death—the hammer and knife, Snook said, 'I always carried with me.' He made the final decision to carry out his plan to kill her when they met the night of the murder and she said she 'did not want to go to the room but preferred to drive out into the country.' The opportunity had occurred; he drove out to the rifle range and carried out his decision.

"He admitted that the mutilation of the body was planned to make the crime look like the work of a fiend.

"'Doctor,' I asked him, 'why were you not all wrought up and nervous

OPEN-AIR SPEECHES CAUSE ARREST OF 10

POLICE SQUAD PREPARED

Mild disturbances incident to two attempts to hold public demonstrations along Seventh street northwest shortly before 8 o'clock last night evoked prompt interference by Second Precinct police and arrest of ten persons, several of them avowed Communists taken in custody in previous red disorders here.

Posted at Seventh and P streets northwest in anticipation of a gathering, Lieut. J. W. Pierson, six uniformed policemen and one plain-clothesman of the Second Precinct promptly arrested Harold Brisker, 19 years old, of Fourteenth street near Otis place northwest, after he was said to have leaped upon a soap box and started haranguing a crowd numbering two score or more persons.

"Comrades and fellow workers, this is the third meeting of the Washington Open Air Unemployment Council," Brisker was quoted as declaring. "We must unite. I'll read you an editorial about that from a Washington newspaper."

When he finished reading a newspaper clipping, Brisker was seized. In turn police arrested Solomon Harper, colored, 34 years old, of Winston-Salem, N. C., and Albert Mallin, 17 years old, of Seventh street near N street northwest, as they jumped on the box and started speaking. Each was charged with holding a public meeting without a permit.

The Second Precinct patrol, en route to a minor chimney blaze at 1303 P street northwest, while passing the corner was halted and the three men placed inside. In the meanwhile, a young girl distributed literature demanding recognition by the United States of Soviet Russia.

Five others were arrested there on charges of disorderly conduct in re-

Senate Committee Orders Quiz as Police and Fire Pay Raise Is Voted.

ARREST RECORD BARED

The Senate District committee yesterday assigned a subcommittee to investigate the latest charges against the Police Department, and then voted the policemen and the firemen a raise in pay.

The charges of Public Printer George H. Carter that gambling and bootlegging have been "protected" by the police throughout the administration of Maj. Henry G. Pratt were turned over to the police and fire subcommittee, which is headed by Senator John M. Robsion, (Republican), of Kentucky.

Senator Robsion said that he would call a meeting of the subcommittee in the near future and decide on a course of procedure. Public Printer Carter, he said, might be summoned as a witness.

The Kentuckian, however, made it very clear that he was not going to let his subcommittee be used as a grand jury.

"Nor," said he, "will it be used as a sewer through which to pass filth and mud, blackening men's reputations.

"I have lived here twelve years, and I think Washington is well above the average. When we are spending millions to make Washington a model city it does no good to let the people in the provinces think it is a town of hoodlums."

At the same time he declared that if a chief of police or the head of any other local department is faithless to his trust he would urge the subcommittee "to take hold of him and throw him out."

Senator Robsion expressed surprise that Public Printer Carter should permit the Government Printing

THREE TRADE BODIES TO DISCUSS BUREAU

Value of "Municipal Host" for Tourists Is Conceded at Meeting.

FINANCING IS QUESTION

By WILLIAM ULLMAN.

Whether the National Capital shall have a central information or "municipal host" bureau for its half million tourist visitors every year or whether it shall allow present conditions to maintain is now left to the discretion of its three large trade bodies.

This was the consensus of representatives of interested organizations which met yesterday afternoon at the Washington Chamber of Commerce at the behest of Charles W. Darr, its president. After a two-hour discussion of the creation of such a bureau, the value of which was readily conceded by every one present, it was voted that the sentiment of the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Trade, and the Merchants and Manufacturers Association should be determined before further action should be taken on the establishment of the bureau.

That the National Capital stood to benefit by the establishment of a municipal host agency was agreed by all representatives of organizations present. The only question raised in connection with such a course was the method of financing the creation of a bureau that would distribute without cost to the stranger full information concerning Washington's every attraction. Whether the cost of such a program, variously estimated at from $15,000 to $30,000 annually, was justified, and how the money should be raised were the issues which the delegates decided should be submitted to the local trade bodies before further action is taken.

The only dissenting opinions as to the wisdom of establishing a municipal host bureau were voiced in-

U. S. Sea Parley Delegation Splits on Submarine Piracy

Majority Wants to Scrap Clause Contained in Washington Pact.

London, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—With every desire to press the treaty on the humanization of submarine warfare forward to a successful conclusion, the American naval conference delegation today finds itself sharply divided over one of the most important clauses.

The question that will come before the delegation for a decision as to policy is the position the United States is to take on the so-called "piracy" clause.

This clause, as contained in the treaty signed at Washington and ratified by all delegates except the French, provided for the trial and punishment as a pirate of any person who violated the established rules regarding the destruction of merchant ships in submarine warfare, whether or not such a person was acting under the orders of his government.

Those opposing the retention of this clause in the proposed human-

Barricaded Maniac Foils Dynamite Blast by Suicide

Ohio Wife Killer Attacked With Bombs, Shells, Machine Guns.

Defiance, Ohio, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Eight sticks of dynamite thrown at the head of the stairway, blew Henry Floehr, 60, escaped inmate from the Toledo State Hospital for the Insane, out of the upstairs closet of his home here tonight, where he had battled police and National Guardsmen for three hours.

The man had slain his wife and wounded Chief of Police Karl Weaner and two spectators.

Precautions were taken to maintain quiet on the street on which he resides and a policeman was stationed in front of the house.

Among the high-powered motors that moved almost noiselessly along the pavement past the house there came yesterday afternoon a carriage reminiscent of the days when Mr. Taft was in the White House. Drawn by two bay horses, coachman and footman sitting erect in their places, the coupe came to a stop in front of the house, and Mrs. Charles MacVeagh, the wife of a former Ambassador to Japan and an old friend of the family, alighted to leave her card at the door.

Unidentified Man Killed on Highway

Stranger Dies Shortly After He Is Discovered on Arlington Pike.

An unidentified man, believed to have been the victim of a hit-and-run automobile driver, was picked up by the roadside in Arlington County last night and died without regaining consciousness about an hour and a half later in the Alexandria Hospital.

Two motorists, coming in opposite directions, noted a bus in the vicinity of the accident just before they discovered the body and took the man to the hospital.

The victim was shabbily dressed, had no money, and a gold stickpin was the only thing of value in his possession. In his pockets were several cards, a letter, and a scrap of paper.

The name "Harvey J. Dietterich, 409 East Fourth street, Berwick, Pa.," was on one card, and the name, "William H. Sarley, 333 Grant street, Berwick, Pa.," on a piece of paper. A letter in his possession was addressed to "Mrs. John H. Taylor, West Second street, Berwick, Pa.," and had been mailed at Lansdowne, Pa.

Resort Is Bombed; One Musician Hurt

Authorities Profess to See Rum Plot Behind Newest Chicago Outbreak.

Chicago, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Diners at the Club Algiers, a bright spot on Chicago's near North Side, were endangered early tonight and one musician is reported to have been injured by a bomb which was exploded under the orchestra platform at the club.

The explosion was set off during a slack period of patronage, and had it been later in the night scores of couples would have been whirling about the orchestra dancing. But one musician was near the stand at the time of the explosion.

The explosive was placed against a wall behind the orchestra stand. The wall was shattered and a piano overturned by the force of the blast.

Authorities professed to see a liquor argument behind the bombing. Ablin, they said, was at odds with one faction of North Side bootleggers over his purported refusal to purchase goods from them for use in the epicure resort.

Slayer of Labor Editor Acquitted

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 28 (A.P.).—A circuit court jury in 3 hours 35 minutes today freed Harvey Jackson of charges that he murdered W. P. (Billy) Parker, former editor of the Menace.

The verdict climaxed a ten-day trial. Jackson was too overcome by the verdict to speak as he eagerly grasped the hands of the jurors.

The jury decided Jackson had acted in self-defense when he shot and killed Parker in the editorial room of the Blue Shirt, a labor paper, last September.

The State contended Jackson plotted the editor's death as a result of resentment at derogatory articles printed by Parker, but Jackson claimed he was forced to kill Parker when the latter advanced on him with a carpenter's square.

George Marshall and Forest McElroy were placed on trial along with Jackson on the basis of indictments which alleged the men entered a plot with the slayer. They were freed, however, at the conclusion of the State's evidence when it was announced there was no chance to convict them.

UTILITIES BUILDING TO SHOW INCREASE

REPORT IS GIVEN HOOVER

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover made public yesterday a report estimating that public utility construction expenditures during 1930 would exceed $1,400,000,000 and affect every city and town in the country. The report, made to the chief executive by Matthew S. Sloan, chairman of his committee on expedition of public utility construction to aid employment, said the program now under way had been accelerated.

Mr. Sloan, who is president of the Brooklyn Edison Co., said there had been no great modification of the utilities program outlined in November and that a recanvass had shown that those plans probably would be somewhat expanded.

"Information completed yesterday indicates that the total expenditures for new construction already made this year or to be made by March 31, by electric, gas and street railway companies will aggregate $305,000,000," Mr. Sloan's report said.

Higher Than in 1929.

"This amount is 12 per cent higher than corresponding expenditures during the first quarter of 1929. Since the total estimated expenditures for new construction during the entire year 1930 are 8½ per cent higher than for 1929, this indicates that the construction program now under way has been accelerated."

Mr. Sloan reported that the committee interpreted present electrical energy output as indicative that "industrial production, considering the country as a whole, is maintaining itself on approximately the same levels as the unusually high ones of last year, which were considerably above those of any since the postwar collapse."

The committee was advised by the utility companies "that of the total $865,000,000 to be expended by them for new construction, $465,000,000 will be in orders with manufacturers and producers of equipment and construction materials, with corresponding acceleration of factory employment."

Expenditure for Labor.

"Furthermore," the report continued, "a very large proportion of the remaining $400,000,000 will be expended for local labor. It is especially significant that the expenditures are not concentrated in a few localities, but, on the contrary, are spread quite evenly throughout the Nation. It is safe to say that every city and town in the country will be directly affected by this program.

"The volume of new orders for equipment and materials already placed or to be placed by March 31, will be $180,000,000, or 38 per cent of the year's total. This likewise indicates positive and accelerated progress in the new construction program."

after the killing?'. 'It was such a relief to have it over,' he answered, and then, added, 'You know one grows nervous over sudden impulses.' He added he was surprised when he was even suspected of the crime."

Goes to Chair Calmly.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Displaying the same iron nerve that carried him through six months of residence in the death house at Ohio State Penitentiary, Dr. James Howard Snook, university professor, went to his death in the electric chair tonight for the murder of his coed companion, Theora Hix. The current was turned on at 7:05½ and he was pronounced dead at 7:11 p. m.

He received three contacts of 2,000 volts each.

Dr. Snook appeared to be the calmest man in the crowded execution chamber. He entered accompanied by three guards and two ministers—the Rev. Isaac Miller and the Rev. K. E. Wall. His eyes were red—as if he had cried after his last meeting with his wife. He walked with firm step and head erect.

Is Silent to Last.

Dr. Snook said nothing as he entered the death house. His lips were clasped tightly, and he did not open them once. He gazed fixedly at the witnesses until the death mask was set in place. Shortly before the execution, Mrs. Helen Snook, wife of the condemned man, who broke bread with her husband at his last meal on earth, was led from the prison by two friends. She seemed in a state of collapse and was able to walk only with the aid of one of her escorts.

During the electrocution, Mrs. Snook, her ankle injured slightly, sat in Warden Thomas' residence in the penitentiary building. In addition to her, two others had the final meal with Snook—Oscar Roedell, of Pomery, a close friend, and Mrs. Frank Landrum, a cousin of Mrs. Snook and a resident of Junction City, Ohio.

Hundreds of curious gathered outside the prison walls while the execution was impending, and until newspapermen rushed from the main door. The reporters were besieged, the stock question being "Has he gone?". Police kept the crowds moving as best they could, but on the street upon which the penitentiary faces, thousands of automobiles, containing curious, moved by slowly, gazing at the forbidding prison walls.

SHAKE-UP REVEALED IN NARCOTIC BUREAU

Changes Are Precipitated by Transfer of Nutt to Dry Unit.

LOWMAN LAUDS OFFICER

A general shake-up in the Narcotic Bureau of the Prohibition Unit precipitated by the surprising "transfer" of Col. L. G. Nutt as head of the Narcotic Bureau was announced yesterday by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman.

Col. Nutt, whose shift to the position as field supervisor of the Prohibition Unit, with headquarters here was made public at the same time, will be succeeded temporarily, beginning today, by Harry J. Anslinger, assistant commissioner of prohibition.

Col. Nutt recently was held responsible by a New York grand jury for the padding of figures on narcotic arrests by Government squads in New York.

Secretary Lowman issued a lengthy statement announcing the action and lauded Col. Nutt, who had been head of the Narcotic Unit since 1920 as an "active and zealous officer" and that he was expected to render "great service" in his new position, in which he will serve generally throughout the United States and its Territorial possessions.

George W. Cunningham, narcotic agent in New York, and Joseph A. Manning, narcotic agent in Nashville, Tenn., have exchanged positions. A number of narcotic agents in New York recently have been sent to other posts.

Col. Nutt received $6,200 as head of the Narcotic Bureau, according to Secretary Lowman. His salary as prohibition agent can be fixed at that figure in the discretion of Dr. J. M. Doran, dry commissioner, who now is in Florida.

Mitchell's Stand On Home Raids Hit

When Residences Are Made Blind Tigers Action Is Due, Says Blease.

Senator Cole L. Blease, (Democrat), of South Carolina, who, though he votes dry, admits he takes a drink, yesterday denounced Attorney General Mitchell for disapproving the home-raid provisions in the Howell bill to establish an enforcement act for Washington.

"A man's home is his castle," said Senator Blease, "and I believe in the sanctity of the home. But when a man makes a blind tiger or a disorderly house out of his home, it is no longer his castle. Mitchell ought to know that."

Senator Robert G. Howell, (Republican), of Nebraska, author of the enforcement bill, feels pretty much the same way about it, and, notwithstanding the Attorney General's contention that the home-raid provision is too drastic, he says he will not change it.

U. S. Aid Explains Packer Warnings

Mohler Says Department Has No Evidence of Closed Market.

(Associated Press.)

Agriculture Department officials said yesterday they had no evidence that livestock markets were not being kept open and competitive and that Thursday's warning of certain trade practice violations related only to one feature of the trade code adopted by the industry last fall.

Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, explained that the department's warning was based wholly on reports that some order buyers and packer buyers had not observed that clause of the code declaring it unfair "to engage livestock at any public market prior to the market or buying livestock at any public market without divulging the purchase price at the time sale is effected."

Dr. Mohler expects the packers to help see that the trade agreement is fully observed.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 11 and recessed at 10:12 p. m. to 11 today.

Voted to keep crude oil on the free list.

Senator Dale (Republican), Vermont, denied that he had promised Charles Flint, of Tulsa, Okla., that he would vote for duty on crude oil.

Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, suggested that the American delegates to the London naval conference be recalled on account of the attitude of the other delegates.

Lobby committee investigated reports of trading for votes in the Senate on the tariffs for oil, lumber and sugar.

Senator Blease (Democrat), South Carolina, denounced Attorney General Mitchell for disapproving of the "home raid" provisions in the Howell bill for a prohibition enforcement act for Washington.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and adjourned at 5 to noon today.

Passed and sent to the Senate the White bill to enable award of mail contracts to shipping lines operating in Canadian ports.

Passed and sent to the Senate the Free bill to provide that loans for ship construction made under the Jones-White act shall bear interest at the lowest rate borne by any Government obligation, except postal savings bonds.

Representative LaGuardia (Republican), New York, charged that the Shipping Board had sold the Leviathan and ten other ships for less than the Government had spent in repairing them.

Representative Fish (Republican), New York, accused Russian Communists of trying to exterminate religion and urged support of his resolution opposing recognition of the Soviet republic.

Chairman James, of the military committee, introduced a bill authorizing $7,500 for additional land for Langley Field, Va.

M'KELLAR ATTACKS NAVAL CONFERENCE

Senator Thinks Attitude of British Nullifies Aim of Parley.

HITS CRUISER PROGRAM

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Asserting that the British government's advance promises respecting naval reduction and parity with America had been abandoned at the London naval conference, Senator McKellar yesterday delivered a prepared speech in the Senate expressing the hope that President Hoover would call the American delegates home. The senator was unsparing in his criticism, but laid the responsibility for failure at the door of the other powers and not upon the representatives of the United States.

Senator Vandenberg, who is a member of the foreign relations committee, replied to Mr. McKellar's speech. He said that he sympathized with much that the senator from Tennessee had said but thought the attack would do more harm than good. Incidentally, the British and French correspondents here hastened to cable extracts of the McKellar speech to London for publication this morning.

Senator McKellar began his speech by citing Prime Minister MacDonald's note to the United States which said "there is no point outstanding of such serious importance as to prevent an agreement." Despite this there has been increase of naval strength instead of decrease, the senator stated, with no parity for America and with a cruiser program fashioned after British, instead of American needs.

Hits Cruiser Cut Plan.

"The great trouble with the cruiser limitation agreement," said Senator McKellar, "is that the United States will not be permitted to build more cruisers of the kind she actually needs but must build, if she builds at all, such cruisers as the members of the conference permit her to build."

The cost of the cruiser program, fashioned after British suggestions, would be $1,500,000,000 "for cruisers we don't need," added the senator from Tennessee.

It is obvious that the British will not agree to battleship parity because she will not agree to sink the Rodney, Senator McKellar continued. No consideration, he said, was being given to freedom of the seas or naval bases or merchantmen converted in time of war, all matters of vital concern to the American people.

Respecting naval bases, the senator said:

"Consideration of this question, is absolutely vital, it seems to me, to our safety and defense, and, more so because Great Britain now has naval bases all around. One, perhaps two, in Nova Scotia; one in Bermuda; one, perhaps two, near the Panama Canal, and one in Vancouver.

"If these mean nothing to Great Britain in her attitude toward us, why does she keep them at an enormous expense? I am told that she expects to build one in India, which, of course, will threaten us in the Philippines. These naval bases at our doors should be abandoned."

Mr. McKellar said it was unbelievable that any American would attempt to commit the United States, even remotely, in any political pact with Europe. He expressed opposition to a three-power pact.

"A three-power pact," he said, "would naturally give offense to both France and Italy, and, I believe, would be unwise. The United States has everything to lose and nothing to gain by a three-power pact."

The plan to humanize submarine warfare was characterized as an immaterial agreement which would contain "concessions by the United States and practically none by the other powers." It would handicap the United States in future conferences, the senator added, "just as the sinking of our great battleships in 1922 constitutes a handicap in obtaining reduction of armaments at this conference."

Attacks British Attitude.

"So far as I can judge," said Senator McKellar, "Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy, instead of seeking a reduction of all armament, are each laboriously and diligently seeking to increase their armaments or to retain naval superiority over us.

"Great Britain's refusal to consider the Rodney matter and the high limit she sets upon cruiser tonnage and her unwillingness to regard other nations building the kind of cruisers suitable to other nations' needs indicate her attitude quite fully.

"On the other hand France apparently hopes to attain superiority over Great Britain on the submarine issue and manifestly is seeking superiority over Italy in naval armaments. Of course Japan is holding out for all she can get. In other words, it seems to me that our delegates to the conference are the only ones who are really seeking a reduction or limitation of armaments. All others are fighting for increases or superiority.

"In view of the high limit set by Great Britain for cruisers, her refusal either to sink the Rodney or permit the United States to build one of similar kind; her published refusal to consider her limit already suggested as between her and the United States unless France lessens her demands, in view of the fact that France is not going to agree to anything unless the United States agrees to come to her protection in the Mediterranean, in view of the perfectly apparent desire upon the part of the other four nations either to maintain their superiority or to increase their naval strength, in view of the enormous increase of our own naval construction provided for in the propsed agreement, it seems to me that it is very fortunate that there have been two changes in the French Government which will give all the nations concerned a chance to withdraw gracefully from the conference.

"I hope President Hoover will advise our delegates to come home. If we do not need a great navy, let us decide that question ourselves. Later on a confrence may be held which may bring about a real reduction of naval armament, but in the present state of mind of the conferees representing the other powers it is clear there is no possibility of disarmament or of reduction of armaments, or even a limitation of armaments."

Senator Vandenberg Replies.

Senator Vandenberg in reply said: "I sympathize fundamentally with a great many things that he has said. But I emphatically do not sympathize in any degree with premature American pronouncements, based upon inadequate, insufficient, incomplete gossip and information. I think such contributions to the delicate situation are calculated to do more harm than good."

The senator from Michigan then introduced into the Record a resolution of the Veterans of Foreign Wars expressing faith in the American mission.

"I make that opinion my own," continued Senator Vandenberg. "There is no danger that our splendid American mission will neglect to serve American interests."

Rival Journalist Wins Contest of Newspaper

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 28 (A.P.).—For three weeks the Columbia Record, afternoon newspaper here, has been searching for "Columbia's most useful citizen." Subscribers were asked to nominate persons whom they considered most worthy of the title. The Record announced that it would present a gold watch to the citizen selected.

A committee of five, representing the civic clubs and chamber of commerce, was appointed to judge the qualifications of the score of candidates. The Record's search ended today. William E. Gonzales, editor in chief of the State, morning newspaper here, was the unanimous selection of the judges.

if Great Britain builds more than agreed upon on account of the French program and the United States then builds up to Great Britain.

Super-Rodney Idea Dropped.

Senator Reed hinted to Ambassador Matsudaira, according to the authoritative account given to the New York World News Service, that the idea of an American super-Rodney would be dropped if the other matters were arranged satisfactorily, and Ambassador Matsudaira agreed to a naval building holiday in battleships, but opposed for the present the scrapping of those now in commission.

It was after these new suggestions to Japan that the chiefs of the American and British delegations conferred on them, and the Japanese delegation held two meetings. The Japanese referred the whole matter to Tokyo and have not received an answer up to tonight.

The issues raised by Senator Reed's suggestions are vast and it must be emphasized that his talk with Ambassador Matsudaira was entirely "without prepudice." It was agreed to begin again to exchange ideas, and the suggestions made are not to be regarded as concrete, hard and fast proposals committing either delegation.

On destroyers and submarines, America and Japan are still some distance apart, although the Japanese are on the whole much pleased. They think the United States for the first time is making real concessions. Japan's demand for 78,000 tons of submarines nevertheless remains adamanant, it was stated today by a high authority.

Cruiser Battle to Be Violent.

The British, it is gathered, would be pleased at an American cut of three more 10,000-ton cruisers, but are not yet sure how the new tentative ideas of the American delegation would work out as applied to Japanese cruiser strength as against their own, while an outcry from the admiralty will be prompt and vigorous when it is learned that the United States demands parity with Great Britain in 6-inch-gun cruisers together with the right to build as many big ones as she likes since the British feel forced to use their light cruiser tonnage in building many more units than the United States desires. On this issue the battle will be violent, but there is at least some reason to hope for weakening on the British front since there is disaffection in the political ranks behind the combative admirals.

The Japanese "second schedule" in the proposals made to Senator Reed on February 13 is exactly met by Senator Reed's counter-suggestions yesterday as regards big cruisers and there is also exact equality between the American suggestion yesterday to build a 339,000-ton total cruiser tonnage, achieving parity with Great Britain, and the Japanese proposal in the second schedule that the United States should build fifteen 10,000-ton cruisers and 189,000 tons of small cruisers.

The only divergence, therefore, between Japan's second schedule and the American line of negotiation at present lies in the submarine and destroyer field and, as stated above, there is still a big gap there, but exact figures are not now being talked. It is probable that the Americans have in mind 45,000 tons of Japanese submarines instead of the 78,000 tons which the Japanese still ask.

Guatemala Protests Honduras Raids.

Guatemala City, Guatemala, Feb 28 (A.P.).—The Guatemalan government today lodged a strong protest with the Honduran government against raids reported to have been made on February 21 by Honduran troops on the right bank of the Motagua River. The government announced that any recurrence of such raids would compel Guatemala to check them.

TARDIEU CONFIDENT OF FORMING CABINET

Will Have All Ministers Chosen by Thursday, He Tells President.

LEFT GROUPS STUBBORN

Paris, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Andre Tardieu today informed President Doumergue that he was certain to have his new cabinet before Parliament at 3 p. m. next Thursday.

He made that statement after a laborious day in which he encountered stubborn opposition from the left groups, but he hopes to have his ministry completed for Sunday and then to get it into shape for the Parliamentary appearance.

The conviction is growing in Chamber circles that should M. Tardieu meet defeat on his initial appearance before the deputies, as was the fate of Camille Chautemps, President Doumergue is resolved to call upon a joint meeting of the Senate and Chamber for a vote on dissolution.

Dissolution talk, it was felt, rather helped M. Tardieu with the smaller groups. This is the very eventuality they are desirous of avoiding, and they are likely to support M. Tardieu rather than to chance it.

The premier-designate confined his consultations today to the leaders of the right and center groups, although circles close to M. Tardieu aver he will have some lefts in his cabinet—but as individuals not mandated by their party. Thus far the only portfolio M. Tardieu is willing to say is definitely arranged is that of foreign affairs, of which Artistide Briand is chief.

Late tonight a feeling of optimism prevailed in both Chamber and Senate that M. Tardieu would succeed. He said himself, when he received newspaper men at 6:45, that he hoped to have the cabinet ready to present to President Doumergue late Sunday or Monday morning.

U. S. Unemployed Gain, Says Green

(Associated Press.)

A 2 per cent increase in unemployment was reported in February over the January figures in a summary of conditions in 24 cities made public last night by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

The preliminary figures for February, Mr. Green said, showed that 22 per cent of the members reporting were out of work as compared with 20 per cent for the preceding month.

Mr. Green noted increases in miscellaneous and in the shipping and seafaring trades.

"Reports from cities show especially high unemployment in New York, where 26 per cent are unemployed," he said, "and in Chicago and St. Louis building tradesmen are suffering especially with 51 per cent and 49 per cent, respectively, out of work. Seven cities have a general average of more than 24 per cent unemployed, six have 45 per cent out of work in building trades. This report covers 670,000 trade union members."

ization treaty feel that it opens all submarine attack cases to reprisals.

It is understood that Secretary of State Stimson is one of those who desire to keep the clause, and that most of the American diplomatic advisers are opposing it.

The diplomatic advisers likewise are inclined to believe that the Washington Submarine Treaty is totally inadequate for present-day purposes.

One of them said today that the treaty was "somewhat the result of postwar hysteria and does not sufficiently cover the ground."

Those playing a large part in putting on paper the American desires for this treaty are Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, who has made a special study of submarines; Ambassador Hugh Gibson, and Minister Hugh Wilson. The two latter have devoted considerable attention to the French desires for the treaty and as Ambassador to Belgium and Minister to Switzerland, respectively, have been in close touch with Paris and the French viewpoint.

The French and the Americans appear to be the delegates most interested in the drafting of the treaty, the British, Japanese and Italians not taking any active part in the work.

Conversations are constantly taking place between the American and the French legal experts in an effort to reconcile their viewpoints on the treaty. It is generally believed that the Americans will leave to the French the submittal of the document to the plenary session of the conference.

The Americans feel that if the French were given an opportunity to propose the treaty and to have it supported and signed by the others they would make no difficulty in granting the ratification withheld in 1922.

Archduke to Be Questioned In Hapsburg Necklace Sale

Leopold of Austria, Visiting in New York, Called to District Attorney's Office to Tell What He Knows of Century-Old Heirloom.

New York, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Archduke Leopold of Austria, visiting here, was subpenaed today by District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain to appear in Mr. Crain's office Monday morning to tell what he knows of the $60,000 Hapsburg necklace reported sold in this city by a member of the British colonial secret service.

The necklace, originally owned by the Empress Marie Louise, wife of Napoleon Bonaparte and mother of L'Aiglon, was sent to this country for sale by the aged Archduchess Marie Teresa of Austria.

The district attorney's investigation began when Mrs. Anna Eisenmenger, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., came from Vienna with power of attorney from the Archduchess Maria Teresa to find out what had become of the necklace.

Mrs. Eisenmenger said the archduchess had commissioned the British colonial secret service man, whom she had met through Archduke Leopold, to dispose of the necklace, a Hapsburg family heirloom for 100 years.

The secret service man, she said, at first tried to interest the Khedive of Egypt in the necklace, but the deal fell through when the Egyptian monarch said the price asked was too high.

About three months ago, the archduchess was informed by the secret service man, Mrs. Eisenmenger said, that he had found a market for the necklace. The archduchess sent it to him by registered mail and afterward learned he had sold it for $60,000.

The archduchess has received neither money nor the necklace and has not heard from her agent, Mrs Eisenmenger said.

Church Group Stages Cabaret.

More than 200 persons last night attended a cabaret and dance presented by the Theta Nu Sigma group of Trinity Episcopal Church at its parish house on Piney Branch road. The program included vocal numbers by a chorus of 25 girls and young women and four vaudeville skits under the direction of Miss Ruth Ivers.

HYDE WILL CONFER WITH WHEAT GROUP

HOOVER IS OPTIMISTIC

(Associated Press.)

Encouraged by the rising wheat market, Secretary Hyde, Chairman Legge, of the Farm Board, and Sam R. McKelvie, board member representing wheat, were en route to Chicago last night to confer with the national wheat advisory committee.

Prior to departure the Agriculture Secretary attended a meeting of the Cabinet, at which conditions of both the wheat and cotton markets were discussed fully with the President. Mr. Hoover was represented to be optimistic for general improvement as a result of the upturn in the market.

While he did not confirm a report that he would carry a personal message from the President to the wheat advisory committee, the Secretary said that Mr. Hoover was "keenly interested" in its deliberations.

It was on recommendation of the committee that the Farm Board authorized the stabilization operations which, financed by Federal funds, were generally credited here with halting the rapid market deflections that had made "dollar wheat" a reality in Chicago.

Secretary Hyde said he did not believe the stabilization corporation had bought any wheat yesterday, either in the cash or futures market. The inactivity, however, he said, did not necessarily imply that it would not resume purchases when and in whatever manner necessary to improve the market.

He said the meeting with the committee had been arranged for some time to discuss general grain trade problems, and that there was no present indication that it would result in any drastic modification of stabilization operations.

Chairman Legge previously had said recent heavy receipts of wheat might make it necessary to alter methods of stabilization in so far as required to facilitate country storage.

Mr. Hyde said he would defer until after the meeting with the committee his answer to the Heflin resolution, adopted by the Senate, calling upon him to make whatever recommendations he saw fit in the present market situation even to the extent of closing wheat and cotton exchanges to prevent harmful speculation.

"It is very probable," he said, "that I shall not recommend that the exchanges be closed."

Mr. McKelvie listed the decline in export trade as an important factor contributing to depression in the wheat market, although, he said, there were others as important.

Export of North American wheat totaled only 179,000,000 bushels from August 1 to February 21, as compared with 359,000,000 bushels for the same period a year ago, leaving on the market 180,000,000 bushels that normally would have been taken by European consumers. Mr. McKelvie said the recent decline in domestic prices of wheat had stimulated export trade to a limited degree.

Commercial Plane Altitude Mark Set

G. W. Haldeman Takes Craft to Height of 33,500 Feet.

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 28 (A.P.).—George W. Haldeman unofficially broke the world's altitude record for commercial airplanes at Bellanca Field today by piloting a Bellanca Pacemaker to an altitude of 33,500 feet, 7,800 feet more than the previous mark, held by Martin Jensen.

The test was conducted by officials of the United States Department of Commerce and National Aeronautical Association.

Haldeman took off at 3:40 p. m. in a standard commercial plane equipped with a 300-horsepower Wright J-6 motor. He was in the air 1 hour 16 minutes and 31 seconds.

LAGUARDIA ATTACKS SHIPS SALE BY U. S.

New Yorker Says Vessels Sold for Less Than It Cost to Repair Them.

MAIL CONTRACTS GIVEN

(Associated Press.)

Representative LaGuardia (Republican), New York, asserted in the House yesterday that the United States Shipping Board had sold the Leviathan and ten other ships for less than the Government had spent in repairing them.

He attacked the sale of ships to the J. W. Chapman Co., purchasers of the United States Lines, and also the sale of the Black Diamond and America-France Lines, saying that the Shipping Board had sold lines to operators on "shoe strings" so they could obtain mail contracts that would pay for the ships.

The New Yorker said $19,000,000 had been spent in repairing the Leviathan and ten other ships and that they had been sold for $16,000,000.

Representative Woodruff (Republican), Michigan, interrupted to say that the sale of the President Lines, operated on the West Coast, "smelled to high heaven."

"Well, if you think that contract smelled to high heaven," Mr. LaGuardia retorted, "you will need a carload of disinfectant and a gas mask when you come to the sale of the Black Diamond and America-France Lines."

He then attacked the award of "juicy mail contracts that do not carry mail," as "not subsidies but gratuities given to a few impecunious ship operators on the good side of the chairman of the Shipping Board."

"We're paying hundreds of thousands of dollars to companies operating old tubs that couldn't carry a first-class letter!" he ejaculated.

Contracts for carrying the mails overseas for ten years were awarded yesterday by Postmaster General Brown, calling for construction of 66,000 tons of American-built new ships costing approximately $150,000,000. The contracts are part of the Government's program for the upbuilding of the American merchant marine.

Public Utility Profits Show Increase for 1929

(Associated Press.)

Earnings of public utility companies for 1929, both gross and net, were reported yesterday by the Commerce Department as the largest on record.

The 95 corporations operating gas, electric light, heat, power and water and traction services for about 90 per cent of the country's population had gross receipts last year of $2,306,750,000, which compared with $2,229,552,394 in 1928, the previous high yearly receipts. Net earnings for 1929 were placed at $1,006,500,000 for the same concerns, against $886,702,577 in 1928.

KEECH TAKES POST AS COUNSEL TODAY

Oath Is to Be Administered in District Building This Morning.

LEGAL STAFF IS SHIFTED

Richmond B. Keech, who ended his service as assistant corporation counsel yesterday, will be sworn in as people's counsel at 10 o'clock this morning in the offices of the Public Utilities Commission in the District Building. Frank E. Cunningham, clerk of the District Supreme Court, will administer the oath in the presence of Utilities Commission officials and others.

The departure of Mr. Keech from the assistant corporation counsel post resulted in the shifting of the legal staff of the District and the appointment of Raymond Sparks to be assistant corporation counsel. Mr. Sparks has been assistant investigator of claims against the District and recently was admitted to the District bar. John O'Day was appointed by William W. Bride, corporation counsel, to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Mr. Sparks.

Several of the other assistants corporation counsel were promoted and assigned to different work, including Walter Fowler, who will have charge of condemnation proceedings; Thomas F. Cameron, Alexander H. Bell, all of whom have been at the District Building. E. M. Welliver will be transferred from the Juvenile to the Police Court to replace Chester H. Gray, who goes into the District Building. Mr. Sparks will be assigned to Juvenile Court.

Mr. Keech's resignation as assistant corporation counsel was accepted with deepest regret, Mr. Bride said in a letter to him, adding that Mr Keech's work had been "eminently satisfactory" and the "devotion, willingness and painstaking intelligence which you have displayed clearly foreshadow a fine measure of success in your new office."

Two Held for Stealing From Senator's Widow

Theft of a $135 evening dress Monday from Mrs. Frederick T. DuBois, wife of the late senator from Idaho, at her residence at 3114 R street northwest yesterday morning, led to the arrest of two Negroes at their residences on charges of housebreaking and grand larceny in connection with the loss.

The two, booked at the Seventh Precinct station, gave their names as Eloise Gray, 19 years old, of N street, near Twenty-seventh street northwest, and Grafton Lyles, 19 years old, of Scott place northwest.

Fine Arts Group Meeting Is Called

U. S. Building Program to Come Up at Parley in New York.

Secretary H. P. Caemmerer, of the Commission of Fine Arts, announced yesterday that Chairman Charles Moore, of Detroit, has called a special meeting of the commission in New York City Monday.

A full attendance is anticipated as it is understood that important features in connection with the Government's building program will come up for discussion.

Associate members of the commission include Abram Garfield, of Cleveland; Benjamin Wistar Morris, of New York City; Ferruccio Vitale, of New York City; Adolph A. Weinman, of Forest Hills, N. Y., and Ezra Winter, of New York City.

FORMER G. U. DEAN DEAD IN MONTREAL

Rev. Thomas I. Gasson Dies; Taught in Capital for Eight Years.

WAS BORN IN ENGLAND

The Rev. Thomas I. Gasson, S. J., former dean of the graduate department of Georgetown University and a lecturer for ten years at the Georgetown Law School, died Thursday night in Montreal, Canada, according to word received here. He was 71 years old and had been in the Jesuit order more than 50 years.

Father Gasson was also a former rector of Boston College and dean of studies and lecturer of ethics and philosophy at Loyola College, Montreal. He was rector of the Boston College from 1907 to 1914 and from Boston he came to Georgetown University.

Eight years later he was placed in charge of the retreat house at Staten Island, New York. The following year he was sent to Loyola. He remained there until his death, which followed an operation.

Father Gasson was born of a noble family in 1859 near Knowle Castle, Seven Oaks, Kent, England. In his early manhood he came to this country. In 1874 he joined the Catholic Church and the Jesuit Order. He entered the Society of Jesus at Frederick, Md., and later studied philosophy at Woodstock, Md.

He began his teaching career in Baltimore in 1883 and two years later went to Francis Xavier College in New York. Later he studied theology at the Imperial Royal University at Innsbruck, Austria, and was ordained a priest in 1891 by the Prince Bishop c. Brixen in the Tyrol.

He returned to this country as an instructor at Frederick and finished his aesthetic studies of the Jesuit course. He then was appointed to Boston College as professor of philosophy and ethics, which was followed by his term as rector of that institution.

Father Gasson is survived by a brother who lives in Virginia, and a nephew, who is an Anglican minister in South America.

Davison Defends Inspection Group

Engineer States Reported Defects in Service Are Being Remedied.

The majority of the defects in the District inspection services complained of in the recent report sent the Commissioners by the Bureau of Efficiency were pointed out to the bureau's investigators by District officials, Maj. D. A. Davison, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, declared yesterday.

"We are not trying to hide anything," Maj. Davison said. "We are far more interested in giving the city good inspection service than is the Bureau of Efficiency.

"I do not think it is altogether fair for the bureau to spring these facts in a report as though they were something new, whereas they are things about which we told them eight months ago and which we are trying to correct."

Maj. Davison said that District officials agreed with most of the recommendations contained in the bureau's report; and various steps had already been taken to correct some of the defects. Among these is a plan for reorganization of the Building Inspector's Office, for which provision is made in the annual District appropriation bill now pending before the House District appropriations subcommittee.

Reinstatement Asked By Ousted Policeman

C. A. Waterman, formerly attached to the First Precinct police, yesterday filed a brief with the District Commissioners seeking reinstatement to the Metropolitan police force through a reversal of a finding of the Police Trial Board in convicting him on charges of association with a Washington woman on Third street near G street northwest.

Waterman, through his attorney, Godfrey L. Munter, claimed that his friendship with the woman was proper in every way and that he felt at liberty to associate with any woman in view of separation from his wife, divorce proceedings now pending in Supreme Court. He pointed out that the police manual did not forbid him from keepnig company with any person he chose.

U. S. Aviatrix Remains At Mazatlan on Flight

Mexico City, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Mrs. Florence Lowe Barnes, American aviatrix, remained at Mazatlan today on her flight from Los Angeles to Mexico City.

The civil aviation department announced she would leave for Mexico City probably tomorrow.

U. S. OFFICER'S WIFE AND SON DIE IN CHINA

INTERMENT IN ARLINGTON

Mrs. Margaret G. Rupertus and William H. Rupertus, jr., her 13-year-old son, died Tuesday in Peiping, China, according to advices received here at the Marine Corps headquarters.

They were the wife and son of Maj. William H. Rupertus, U. S. M. C., who is second in command of the American Marine Legation guard at Peiping. They were widely known here.

Mrs. Rupertus and her son died within a few hours of each other. Death was caused by scarlet fever, the same malady that took the life of their 4-year-old daughter, Anne Rodney Rupertus, in Peiping last December.

Interment of the three bodies will be in Arlington Cemetery. The body of the daughter was en route here when the two remaining members of Maj. Rupertus' family were stricken.

Mrs. Rupertus had resided in this city since childhood. Maj. and Mrs. Rupertus were prominent in Army and Navy circles. The family departed last summer for China.

Mrs. Rupertus is survived by her husband, her father, T. J. Gorman, formerly of the Treasury Department, now of Albany, N. Y.; two brothers, Thomas J. Gorman, assistant deputy commissioner of customs, of this city, and Lieut. Comdr. Frank J. Gorman, stationed at Astoria, Oreg.; two sisters, Mrs. May Gorman Meredith, of New York City, and Mrs. John Mulligan, of Westfield, N. J.

Maj. Rupertus' mother lives at 2493 Upton street, this city.

O'Neill Enters Race For Alabama Senator

Selma, Ala., Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Formal declaration of John W. O'Neill, of Birmingham, as a candidate for United States senator subject to the Democratic primary in August, was received by Edmund W. Pettus, chairman of the State Democratic executive committee, here today.

Mr. Pettus said that a reported eleventh-hour plea of Senator J. Thomas Heflin for admission to the primary as a candidate for reelection had not been received at noon. Mr. O'Neill, a prominent political figure of Birmingham several years ago, will oppose John H. Bankhead, of Jasper, and Frederick I. Thompson, of Mobile.

Love Affair Is Blamed For Worthless Checks

Kenneth Homer Morrison, 22 years old, who is reported to have furthered a courtship with money gained through cashing worthless checks, was arrested yesterday in his room at the Young Men's Christian Association Building, Eighteenth and G streets northwest, by Detectives Ira E. Keck and Bernard W. Thompson.

Morrison was accused of passing bad checks totaling $43. He said he came from his Virginia home about six months ago and his efforts to gain employment failed. He met a young woman recently, he told detectives, fell in love with her and passed the checks.

MRS. RICHEY IS DEAD OF SEPTIC POISONING

SICK ONLY SHORT TIME

Mrs. Lawrence Richey, wife of one of President Hoover's secretaries, died at 4:35 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Emergency Hospital following an illness of several days. Her death was said to be due to septic poisoning coupled with meningitis.

Physicians had virtually abandoned hope early yesterday, and Mrs. Richey had been in a coma most of the time for more than 48 hours. A blood transfusion was tried Wednesday night but with little success. She lapsed into unconsciousness shortly after this operation and only at rare intervals was she able to recognize her husband who was at her bedside almost constantly.

The President and Mrs. Hoover will attend the funeral services which will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at St. Paul's Chapel, Rock Creek Cemetery. The Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

Mrs. Richey was taken ill shortly after returning from Long Key, Fla., where she accompanied her husband on President Hoover's fishing trip. She appeared to be in the best of health at that time. Upon reaching home again, she complained of not feeling well, but it was several days before her illness reached serious enough proportions to have her removed to the hospital.

The Richeys had lived in Washington for more than 10 years. During Mrs. Richey's illness the President and Mrs. Hoover have sent flowers to her daily.

No funeral arrangements had been announced last night.

Before marriage 16 years ago in Chicago, Mrs. Richey was Miss Mabel Hunter. She was a native of California. There are no children. A brother, Morton R. Hunter, of Milwaukee, Wis., was notified yesterday afternoon and is expected to reach the Capital today in time to participate in the funeral services.

Fruit Fly Planted, Charge at Hearing

Florida Plant Board Men Accused of Putting Pest in Groves.

Orlando, Fla., Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Charges and counter-charges that the Mediterannean fruit fly had been "planted" in Florida by State plant board inspectors enlivened the hearings of a congressional subcommittee here today.

The arguments started after Chairman W. R. Wood (Republican), Indiana, charged openly that the pest had been planted and produced an affidavit from a citrus grower.

Dr. Wilmon Newell, State plant board commissioner in charge of the entire eradication work in the State, branded the affidavit as an "ingenious misrepresentation." He produced affidavits from three of the inspectors to prove the charges were false. The affidavit charging the fly had been planted was sworn to before Robert P. Perry, United States Secret Service agent, by Forest B. Stone, filling station operator and citrus grower, of Maitland, who formerly was employed in the Department of Agriculture experiment station in Orlando.

Former Representative Dies of Crash Injuries

Brush, Colo., Feb. 28 (A.P.).—George Kindel, former representative from the First Colorado District, died here this afternoon from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

He was injured last night near Hillrose when the car in which he and Winthrop Bosely, Denver attorney, were riding, plunged into an irrigation ditch.

Wife Claims Mate Has Second Spouse

Two Corespondents Are Named in Westcamp Divorce Suit.

Naming two corespondents, Hertha M. Westcamp, of 1362 Irving street northwest, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to grant her an absolute divorce from Howard Westcamp, a baking company employe residing in Virginia Highlands, Va.

The wife tells the court that she and Mr. Westcamp were married May 15, 1919. She alleges intimacies between her husband and one of the corespondents dating back to December, 1922. She also asserts that the man was named correspondent in a suit for divorce brought against one of the other women.

In addition the wife charges that her husband on April 6, last, went through a bigamous marriage ceremony with the other corespondent and is now living with her in Virginia Highlands. Attorney D. Edward Clarke appears for the wife.

LAWYER DIES

EDWIN P. GROSVENOR.

EDWIN GROSVENOR, NOTED LAWYER, DIES

Attained Prominence When Prosecuting Kentucky "Night Riders."

WAS RELATED TO TAFT

Edwin P. Grosvenor, who attained national renown as counsel for the Federal Government in prosecution of the Tobacco Trust and later obtained convictions against the Kentucky "night riders," died yesterday at his home in New York City following a brief illness. He was a cousin of former Chief Justice Taft.

He was well known in Washington and had a colorful career in the legal profession.

Soon after his graduation from the Columbia University Law School, he was called into Kentucky as a special prosecutor against the "night riders." Prior to his entry, bands of men had conducted a reign of terror in 30 counties of that State and had flogged farmers who refused to cooperate in pool boycotts against tobacco buyers.

In spite of overwhelming public opinion in favor of the riders, Mr. Grosvenor, with the few facts that could be assembled as evidence, succeeded in obtaining many convictions. His conduct of the prosecution brought him into public eye as one of the most outstanding lawyers of the day.

Authority in Trust Laws.

He was an authority on trust laws United States Attorney General in several and was special assistant to the eral antitrust law prosecutions. Following his prosecution of the "Night Raiders," he also served as special counsel in the prosecution of the window glass trust and enameled ware trust in 1910-1912. Shortly after this he took part in the antitrust action against Motion Picture Patents Co. and General Film Co. and the International Harvester Co.

In recent years he has been counsel for the National Geographic Co. and the Asphalt, Shingle and Roofing Institute.

He was born in Constantinople 54 years ago and attended preparatory school there. In 1897 he was graduated from Amherst College and three years later received his master's degree. For several years he taught at Chestnut Hill Academy, Philadelphia.

Graduate of Columbia.

He was graduated from Columbia University in 1904. During the World War he was a member of the legal advisory board of New York City under the selective service act and received a commission as a captain in the military intelligence division of the Army.

In Washington he was well known through legal and club connections. He was a member of the Chevy Chase and National Press Clubs. He was also treasurer of the National Committee on Prisons and Prison Labor and a member of Psi Upsilon, Phi Delta Phi and Phi Beta Kappa. He was a member of the law firm of Cadwalader, Wickersham and Taft, in New York City.

He was also affiliated with the Union League, City Midday, University, Downtown, Columbia University, Apawamis and New York Amherst Clubs.

In addition to his widow, Mrs. Thelma Cudlipp Grosvenor, he is survived by two daughters, Miss Anne and Miss Louis Grosvenor.

Services will be conducted tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at his late home, 455 East Fifty-seventh street, New York City. Burial will be in Washington, Conn.

FUNERAL OF NOBLE V. POTTS

Retired Builder, Who Died in Brooklyn, to Rest in Arlington.

Noble V. Potts, 65 years old, formerly of 1239 New Hampshire avenue northwest, died in the United States Naval Hospital at Brooklyn, N. Y. yesterday of cancer, according to word received here.

Funeral services will be held in Brooklyn and the body will be brought to Arlington National Cemetery for burial Monday. Mr. Potts, a retired builder, was a native of Illinois.

MRS. EMMA SIMONS RITES.

Services to Be Held This Morning, With Burial in Glenwood.

Mrs. Emma H. Simons, who died Thursday, will be buried today in Glenwood Cemetery, following services at her late home at 10:30 o'clock. Mrs. Simons died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Lent, 1528 Corcoran street, after a long illness.

Mrs. Simons was a native of Evans Mills, N. Y. She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Lent and Miss Sarah E. Simons, of this city; Mrs. Edward A. Ross, of Madison, Wis., and Mrs. Victor L. Mason, of New York City.

Guards at Auburn Fire On Low Flying Airplane

Auburn, N. Y., Feb. 28 (A.P.).—State troopers on the walls of Auburn Prison tonight fired upon and drove off an airplane that circled low over Auburn Prison several times. It was feared the plane was trying to drop arms into the yard or signal to some prisoner. The 60 troopers on duty manned the walls and the machine guns were planted.

Officers reported they were ready for the plane should it return. It flew toward the west when fired upon. The yard had not yet been searched for anything it might have dropped.

SENATE DOWNS OIL DUTY IN 39-27 VOTE

FRANKLIN TELLS STORY

tariff things. It is a credit to Mr. Franklin and his crowd that he survived this committee and the presidential oil conservation program to the extent of getting 27 votes to his cause.

Letters, Telegrams Read.

Before the lobby committee in the morning letters and telegrams of overzealous workers of his cause had been bared, one of which was a letter from P. E. Tucker, secretary of the independent producers' organization to Mr. Franklin, asking:

"Would it be impertinent for me to suggest to the President that he make a statement on rumors spreading through the Southwest oil fields that he is heavily interested in South American oil fields?"

Senator Blaine, of Wisconsin, in discussing the matter in the Senate last night, interpreted its purpose to make the President issue a statement denying that he was interested in the South American fields, whereupon the independent producers' lobby could exhibit it as evidence that Mr. Hoover was not against their proposed tariff.

But Senator Allen pointed out that Mr. Franklin adopted no such suggestions as this or none of the many more tricks of the trade that were suggested to him. He just came here frank and earnest, insisted Senator Allen, to present his case in a most ingenuous way.

Stenographers Take Notes.

A commentary on Mr. Franklin's ingenuousness was that he had stenographers in the senators' gallery taking notes all during the debate and when the roll was called, taking the ballot on the prescribed ballot blanks, both of which are strictly against the rules.

The vote, incidentally, follows:

Democrats for—Bratton, Broussard, Caraway, Connally, Ransdell, Sheppard, Thomas of Oklahoma—7.

Vote Against Tariff.

Democrats against—Ashurst, Barkley, Black, Brock, Copeland, Dill, Fletcher, George, Harris, Harrison, Hawes, Hayden, Heflin, McKellar, Pittman, Smith, Steck, Stephens, Swanson, Trammel, Walsh, Massachusetts, Walsh, Montana—22.

Mr. Franklin gave the lobby committee the impression of being most ingenuous and frank. He made no effort to deny a trade whereby the sugar, oil and lumber blocs were to pool their strength. He said, indeed, that he had long understood that this was the way the tariff was passed, and it is. There was unchallenged evidence before the committee that the Colorado senators, Phipps and Waterman, interested in sugar, were to vote for oil in return for sugar support from Senators Pine and Thomas, of Oklahoma, interested in oil. The committee did not go any further into actual trades. The name of Senator Dale, of Vermont, was brought into the hearing, as having agreed with one of Franklin's workers, a man named Flint, that trading was the thing.

Army Service Discussed; Claim.

The senator last night, however, insisted that his conversations with Mr. Flint were on the subject of Maj. Flint's career in the military service here. Maj. Flint is a relative of the Flint working with Franklin, it was said.

This was one of the examples of silliness on the part of the otherwise ingenuous campaign of Mr. Franklin which Senator Allen admitted. Any way, Senator Dale voted against the sugar levy.

One of Mr. Franklin's workers also visited Claudius C. Huston, Republican national chairman, but reported that the chairman remained quiet after he had unloaded his burden. In the correspondence which the committee seized from the lobby there was also reference to Frank W. Mondell, former House leader, as a well-known lobbyist for big business, also a reference to Walter Newton, one of the White House secretaries and others, none of which seemed to be to any serious purpose, especially in view of the fact taht the oil tariff lost.

Tilson Is Quoted.

The correspondence also quoted Majority Leader Tilson as having told one of the workers that if he could get the Texas delegation to vote for the tariff bill he would intervene to do all he could in behalf of oil.

Senator Blaine, in reporting the committee's "revelations" to the Senate last night, read letters purporting to show that the oil men had become so cocksure that on one occasion they wrote they had ceased soliciting engagements with senators and were requiring the senators to come to them.

Some credence was given to this by the scare which the oil men gave to the coalition. The coalition was genuinely surprised when it won by 12 votes; indeed, when it won at all.

It is generally believed that what the opponents call the "timely exposure" of the deal on sugar, lumber and oil prevented the wresting of the control of the tariff away from the coalition. To bear out the combination plot it might be cited that the Colorado and Louisiana senators, both sugar States, voted for both the lumber tariff beaten Thursday night and the oil schedule last night.

Differences Pointed Out.

Senator Steiwer, of Oregon, interested in lumber, voted for the two of them, but Senator McNary, of the same State, after being defeated on lumber, was unrecorded on oil. Senator Jones, of Washington, voted for lumber and oil, being interested, politically, of course, in the former, and Senator Dill, of Washington, wanting the tariff on lumber, waited last night until the vote had been concluded and then with his vote meaning nothing one way or the other, voted against oil.

Mr. Franklin's ingenuousness before the lobby committee must have impressed Senator Caraway because he also waited until after the vote had been called and then voted for the oil levy.

About Mr. Franklin's ingenuousness, he resisted among other suggestions one that he employ Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, whose heart was thought to be in prohibition, at $5,000 or $10,000 a year. A letter to him from one of his workers, revealed before the lobby committee, represented Mrs. Willebrandt as complaining that after she had been once approached no one had ever followed the matter up.

Fliers to Heart of Papua Hailed as Gods by Natives

Widows Wear Thigh Bones of Deceased Husbands About Waists, Dr. Brandes Tells Members of National Geographic Society.

The most extensive tropical region in the world that has never felt the hand of the white man lies in the heart of the huge island of New Guinea just north of Australia, Dr. E. W. Brandes told members of the National Geographic Society last evening in an address at the Washington Auditorium. The island was discovered soon after Columbus reached America, and for the last 50 years ships sailing between Great Britain and Australia have passed within a stone's throw of its coast, the speaker pointed out, but only a little handful of white people have gone to the island. None of these has ever penetrated into certain vast regions of the interior.

Dr. Brandes, in search of new varieties of sugar cane for the United States Department of Agriculture, flew into some of these areas in a seaplane and found that he had arrived in effect in the middle of the Neolithic Age, which existed in Europe 25,000 years ago. The black natives, who had never seen a white man nor heard of his flying machines, promptly hailed the new arrivals as gods.

Among the amazing customs which Dr. Brandes found in force in inland New Guinea probably the strangest was the method by which a widow shows her grief for her departed husband. The thigh bones of the deceased are saved after his death, and the widow wears them dangling from a sort of girdle around her waist. The men are head hunters and also collect jawbones of their human victims as grewsome souvenirs. If an enemy is captured alive the successful warrior has the privilege of biting off his nose. For food these people prefer lizards, snakes and worms to all meat except that of man.

Dr. Brandes looks upon New Guinea as a potential tropical empire. It has lain dormant, he declared, because the outside world has not yet had need of the products which it can furnish. At sometime in the future he believes it will become a second Java.

REDS PLAN TO SHOW STRENGTH TO WORLD

Demonstrations Scheduled for Next Thursday; 12 Taken in Chicago.

OAKLAND RIOT STAGED

Chicago, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Extensive plans for a world wide demonstration of communists March 6 attracted further attention today after a series of raids last night on what police termed headquarters of district leaders of the radical movement. Ten men and two women were arrested and held for investigation by immigration authorities for possible deportation along with numerous others taken here during other demonstrations of the last two weeks.

Records, literature, books and other propaganda of the communists were confiscated and destroyed along with office equipment seized at the main district headquarters where the police arrested Julia Kjar, wife of Neils Kjar, one of the radical leaders. She said she emigrated from Denmark ten years ago and had not been naturalized.

Police said the literature and other records seized disclosed broad plans for an international communistic outbreak March 6, centered chiefly in the larger cities, such as Chicago, New York, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Berlin and Paris.

New York Reds Lay Plans.

New York, Feb. 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Undaunted by their encounters with the police, the Communists have decided to call a general strike in this city Thursday in order to mobilize their full strength for the local demonstration in protest against unemployment ordered by the executive committee of the Communist International in Moscow to coincide with hundreds of similar demonstrations in every large city of the world.

The Reds are preparing to offer active resistance to the police if an attempt is made to interfere with Thursday's demonstration, it was indicated. One Communist official, while refusing to state definitely what steps were being taken along this line, said:

"The workers will know how to defend themselves."

William Z. Foster, national secretary of the Trade Union Unity League, today issued a vitriolic attack against the Department of Justice which had announced that the Third International has sent $1,250,000 here to carry on communistic propaganda among the unemployed.

Seven Hurt in Oakland Riot.

Oakland, Calif., Feb. 28 (A.P.).—A riot today in front of the State employment office here resulted in injury to seven persons including a woman and two policemen, arrest for the five rioters hurt, and a police warning that future demonstrations would be broken up on sight.

None of the seven was seriously hurt. The five were charged with rioting and detained pending posting of $100 bail each. They were:

Mrs. Anna Robbin, mother of a 2-year-old child; Nicola Sopoiff, 34; Ed Wong, 37; Archie Brown, 19, and Carl Trippel, 36. Police said all were members of the radical group among the unemployed. It was Mrs. Robbin's second arrest on such a charge this week. She obtained her liberty on bail only last night.

CAPITAL RABBI HITS SOVIET CHURCH WAR

Rev. Abram Simon Declares Reds Will Rue Persecution of Religious Sects.

MODERN TREND IS CITED

Soviet Russia will ultimately have to pay the penalty for closing churches and synagogues in its domain, the Rev. Abram Simon, rabbi of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, declared last night in his weekly sermon. His topic was "The Soviet's War on Religion."

Explaining that he was making no defense of religion, but was making a plea only for personal liberty which entitles men to believe what they wish, Dr. Simon said that he was surprised that the intellectuals of Russia held to atheism when the trend of modern thought is obviously in the opposite direction.

Present day science has disproved materialism, the rabbi asserted, and views of communistic Russia are 25 years behind the times, he averred.

Taking up specific instances of persecution of the Jews in Russia, Dr. Simon said: "The tragedy of Israel is that its worst enemies are its own people. The Jewish Communists are specialists in refined cruelty."

Russia is the "most sensitive of nations," the rabbi said, and the enmity of Christian nations is hurting the pride of the country, he added.

WALSH GIVES FIRST OF SOVIET LECTURES

RELIGION ATTACK SCORED

Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, regent of the School of Foreign Service of Georgetown University, opened his annual series of Russian lectures last night before an audience of 1,000 persons crowding Gaston Hall.

Making only passing reference to the religious issue, Dr. Walsh said he had reserved this phase of the Russian question to the end of the series, owing to the mass meeting on March 9 called by the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Episcopal Bishop of Washington, to protest against the antireligious movement in Russia.

Dr. Walsh characterized the religious policy in Russia as "the most savage attack on the church ever recorded in history." His lecture was devoted to Nicholas Lenin, founder of the Soviet state.

In contradiction to the Soviet theory of government he declared that for thirteen years the Soviet Union has been "the lengthening shadow of one man," so great has been the influence of Lenin, even after his death.

A special detail of police was on guard at the university last night, to prevent any communistic activities which marred several of Dr. Walsh's lectures last year. Plain clothes men were seated in the audience, but no disturbance occurred.

MANIAC AT BAY ENDS LIFE WITH REVOLVER

machine gun peppered the house. While the concerted attack was going on he confined himself to a closet, but with the windows shattered the tear gas failed to bring him out.

Floehr when carried out was found to have been wounded in the abdomen and about the mouth. Part of the roof of the house was blown off.

The man had quarreled with his wife and in a rage shot her, according to William, a son. While the son attempted to carry the woman outside, the enraged man turned on him and the son dropped the body and fled for aid.

Police and deputies were summoned, but when they attempted to enter, Floehr, with a pistol and shotgun, fired at them from upstairs windows through the glass.

Chief Weaner, braving the gun fire, led a squad through the front door and threw a tear gas bomb to the head of the stairs. As he started to mount the stairs, Floehr shot him, inflicting a minor wound in the cheek below the eye.

From his points of vantage the man would take potshots at any one who approached.

One shot struck William Chappel, a spectator, in the hip. Another spectator, Newell Littlefield, of Newport, Me., a senior in Defiance College, was shot through the chest and his condition tonight was critical.

The tear gas failing to take effect, the police retreated and summoned a fire truck. The police decided, however, that a stream of water from a fire hose would be ineffective and the National Guard company was called out.

The company planted a 1-pound gun about a half block away from the house and sent shots through the upper windows. A machine gun also was stationed beside it to send a supplemental barrage. While this barrage was forcing Floehr to lie low, the dynamite was placed.

The battle, with the patter of rifle fire and the roar of the 1-pounder, attracted pedestrians and motorists for miles around. In the thick of the fight the police estimated a crowd of 3,000 persons who shouted encouragement to the attackers.

The house is located in a sparsely settled neighborhood. There is only one residence next door, and that is to the south, so that the barricaded man had a good point of vantage from three sides.

Floehr is said to have escaped from the State hospital for the insane last April after having been there only a month. He was a retired builder and contractor. The couple is survived by two sons and four daughters.

TRADE BODIES MUST DECIDE TOURIST BUREAU QUESTION

directly to the meeting by letter from the American Automobile Association, which declared it could see no necessity for the creation of such an agency, since that organization already was supplying the need which the bureau was intended to fulfill.

Mr. Darr, presiding, declared he had been informed by E. J. Murphy, president of the Board of Trade, one of the first indorsers of the proposal, that further consideration had shown him that the A. A. A. already was fulfilling the need of tourist visitors and that he now could see no need for another bureau.

Vigorous exception to Mr. Murphy's position in the matter was recorded by Harvey L. Cobb, representing the American Motorists Association, who spoke also for the Automobile Club of Southern California, cited by The Washington Post as serving the city of Los Angeles as a municipal host agency.

Cobb Scores A. A. A.

Reading from executive bulletins of the A. A. A., Mr. Cobb sought to show that the attitude of that organization was that nonmembers who asked for directional information, which the A. A. A. insisted it gave freely, were regarded as "moochers" and "panhandlers."

"Can an organization," asked Mr. Cobb, "which so labels those who seek the services it insists are free, honestly maintain that it welcomes the opportunity to serve as a municipal host bureau?" Continuing he added:

"I do not believe that it can. It seems to me that what is needed is an agency that is strictly noncommercial, nonpartisan, and fully equipped to render courteous service to everyone regardless of affiliation or lack of it with any motoring organization."

Keefe Backs Statement.

The same opinion was expressed by Thomas J. Keefe, general manager of the American Motorists Association and head of the Greater Washington Motor Club. His own club, Mr. Keefe declared, was giving free information to more than 11,000 tourist visitors to Washington annually. This service, he said, was pitifully inadequate to the needs of the half-million strangers who come to the National Capital yearly, clearly indicating the need for a municipal agency much larger in scope, though operating on the basis of giving all needed information without cost to strangers.

W. H. Hickey, president of the Washington Guides Association, declared that an organization making a charge for so many of its services to nonmembers is disqualified to serve as a noncommercial agency for the benefit of tourists.

While offering its own services without cost to visitors, with the exception that they might employ guides at specified rates, Mr. Hickey declared the Washington Guides Association recognized the need for a noncommercial information agency to serve the needs for all strangers who came to see the Capital City.

Others Express Opinions.

Other interested representatives at the meeting included Arthur J. Carr, of the Washington Real Estate Board and the Board of Trade; Edward D. Shaw, secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association; Basil J. Kelly, representing the Washington Automotive Trade Association, and William H. Harland and M. O. Eldridge, of the Traffic Office. While attending the session in the capacity of observers, all expressed the personal opinion that such an agency would be desirable and of value to the National Capital.

Speaking from the standpoint of the traffic office, Mr. Harland reiterated the opinion that relieving traffic officers of the responsibility of serving as guides for strangers would have a beneficial effect upon the traffic situation. On his part Mr. Eldridge cited the advantages that have accrued to States and municipalities through the creation of such agencies and suggested that unless the American Automobile Association or some other agency was willing to fulfill the need, Washington stood to profit by creating a bureau that would supply full and free informational service to its horde of tourist guests.

With the only question raised being that of how to finance its establishment, Mr. Darr suggested that the issue be referred to the trade bodies before further action be taken. His suggestion was put in the form of a motion and unanimously approved.

Accordingly, the question now awaits the ratification or disapproval of the trade bodies before further action toward its creation is taken.

Woman Asks Jury Trial in Rum Case

Alleged Speak-Easy Owner's Bond Set at $2,000 by Judge McMahon.

Margaret M. Price, 42 years old, proprietor of an alleged speak-easy on Sixth street northwest, just across the street from Police Court, pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial yesterday when arraigned before that tribunal on a charge of possessing liquor.

The woman was arrested Thursday on charges of sale and possession, but the former charge was dropped. Attorney John P. Mullen, counsel for the woman, declared that the warrant on which the raid was made would be attacked on the grounds that the person who swore to it had never been in his client's house.

Judge John P. McMahon fixed bond of $2,000 after he learned that the woman already had paid a professional bondsman the fee for that sum. Ordinarily bonds in liquor cases are reduced when the defendant is arraigned.

fusing to disperse, according to police. They were Philip Shinderg, 16 years old, of Seventh street, near N street northwest; John H. Worland, 22 years old, of Harvard street, near Thirteenth street northwest; William Snowden, colored, 23 years old, of New York avenue, near Fourth street northwest; Harry Furach, 16 years old, of Lamont street, near Georgia avenue northwest, and Arthur Walker, 35 years old, of Bryant street, near Third street northwest.

A few minutes later, with the departure of the patrol, police arrested two others on disorderly conduct charges at Seventh and O streets northwest, when another effort to hold a public meeting was thwarted on the salvaged soapbox. The two were Edith Briscoe, 18 years old, of Georgia avenue, near Shepherd street northwest, and William Phillips, 17 years old, of Dent place, near Thirty-fourth street northwest.

All were released on bond, $5 being posted by each on the disorderly conduct charges and $20 each on the charges of holding a public meeting without a permit.

Mission Pioneer Visits in Capital

Rev. E. A. Beavon Was First White Missionary to Live With Kisii Tribe.

The Rev. Eric A. Beavon, first white missionary to live with the Kisii tribe of the Kenya colony in Africa, and his wife, formerly Miss Myra A. Campbell, the first white woman to participate in a marriage ceremony in that section of the world, are visiting Mrs. Beavon's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. M. N. Campbell, 234 Park avenue, Takoma Park.

Going into Africa in 1920 from England, the Rev. Mr. Beavon lived for 18 months among the warlike tribes, eating only pumpkins, sweet potatoes and corn prepared by a native woman, before he won the confidence of the Africans. Miss Campbell, with her father, went to Kenya in 1922 and was married to the Rev. Mr. Beavon in the first ceremony performed for a white couple in that region.

The Rev. Mr. Beavon, who has had three sons born in the Kenya section, 300 miles from the nearest English settlement, declares the Kisii are rapidly absorbing religion. The Seventh Day Adventists, whom the Rev. Mr. Beavon represents, now have seven organized churches and 90 schools in operation in the district with 124 evangelistic workers on the pay roll.

CONSTRUCTION FIRM TO LIMIT ACTIVITIES

W. S. Phillips & Co. Hereafter Will Only Engage in Building Work.

APARTMENT IS STARTED

Announcement was made last night by the real estate and construction firm of William S. Phillips & Co., Inc., Investment Building, that it will devote future activities to construction alone, these having increased rapidly in recent years, and to the management of its buildings, including the Valley Vista apartment, 2032 Belmont road, and Harvard Hall, 1650 Harvard street, both built by the company. It also erected the Argonne apartment, Sixteenth and Columbia road, and Philips Terrace at Argonne place and Harvard street.

Immediate activities of the firm will be erection of a 167-unit apartment of six stories on Connecticut avenue, south of Chevy Chase Circle, containing 70 garages, gymnasium, billiard room and swimming pool. Its units will be equipped with radio and Frigidaire service, electric dishwashers, cabinet ranges and Murphy beds. The estimated cost of the building, to be of reinforced concrete, steel and brick, is approximately $900,000. Louis Justement is the architect. The company will also build a group of detached brick colonial houses in Chevy Chase, D. C.

As a construction and management firm, the company will move its headquarters to the Valley Vista Apartment. Twenty-seven years old, the company started business at 715 Fourteenth street, moving to 1409 New York avenue, then to the Phillips Building at Fifteenth and K streets, then to the Investment Building. Its officers are William S. Phillips, president; Homer Phillips, vice president, and A. M. Renroe, secretary-treasurer.

Dry Transfer Bill To Hit Senate Snag

Drug Association Opposes Measure as Passed in House.

President Hoover's bill to transfer prohibition enforcement from the Treasury to the Department of Justice will not have smooth sailing in the Senate.

The American Drug Manufacturers' Association, a very powerful organization, has served notice on the Senate that it is opposed to the Williamson bill as it passed the House. Senator Lee S. Overman (Democrat), North Carolina, chairman of the subcommittee of the judiciary committee, appointed to pass upon the measure, will give hearings on it after the tariff bill is out of the way.

"I have had many requests from business people and others, who wish to amend or defeat the bill, for hearings, and the subcommittee will grant them," said Mr. Overman. "But we can not do anything until the tariff bill has been disposed of."

SIX DISTRICT BILLS ARE REPORTED OUT

One Favors Change of Iowa Circle to Logan and Two Aid Parks.

MASONIC PLAN APPROVED

In addition to the Capper-Zihlman bill to raise the pay of police and firemen, the Senate District committee yesterday favorably reported six local measures. They are for the following purposes:

To permit the erection of a monumental Masonic building 180 feet high on the Temple Heights, or Dean, tract. This is twice as high as the law allows for such structures unless a special exception is made by the Commissioners.

To change the name of Iowa circle to Logan circle, in honor of Gen. John A. Logan, a Union leader in the Civil War.

To authorize the exchange of one area of land for another in the Klingle Ford Valley, the land to be used for park and playground purposes.

To authorize an exchange of land so as to consolidate and better develop the Turkey Thicket Playground between Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and Bunker Hill road.

To authorize the distribution of automobile tags in December.

Office to harbor employes who would drink and gamble, and he also voiced the opinion that Mr. Carter might very well take some of his charges before the grand jury.

A few minutes before he made his statement, Senator Robsion had recommended to the full committee that it favorably report the Capper-Zihlman bill to raise the pay of police and firemen, and this was done.

Only one vote was cast against a favorable report, that of Senator Cole L. Blease (Democrat), of South Carolina, who declares that he will oppose a pay raise for policemen so long as Maj. Pratt is chief.

Decrease First Suggested.

Senator Robsion at first suggested that the bill be amended so as to carry out the recommendation of the Commissioners that the proposed salaries of the chief of the Police Department and the chief of the Fire Department be reduced from $8,500 to $8,000, but he came out for the original bill after Detective Sergt. Frank A. Varney, president of the Policemen's Association, had pointed out that these two officials have to do vastly more work than police and fire chiefs elsewhere.

There were three other developments in the Carter-Pratt row yesterday, as follows:

Senator Blease made a speech on the Senate floor backing up Public Printer Carter, and renewed his demand that Maj. Pratt be kicked out.

Arrest Record Made Public.

Assistant Superintendent of Police William S. Shelby made public a memorandum sent to District Attorney Leo A. Rover which showed the record of arrests of Louis Herewitz and Joseph A. Fitzgerald, the raiding of whose place near the Government Printing Office started the controversy. This showed that Herewitz has been arrested seven times since April, 1918, and Fitzgerald thirteen times since October, 1924.

Public Printer Carter made public a letter which he had sent to the District Commissioners in which he complained about the inspector of buildings, the superintendent of licenses and the collector of taxes.

In his speech on the floor Senator Blease said:

"If Carter wants any more proof that liquor, gambling and narcotic dens are flourishing in the City of Washington, I'll furnish it. And I'll furnish enough evidence to prove that President Hoover ought to kick Pratt off the job."

Records Cited as Answer.

In making public the records of Fitzgerald and Herwitz or Hurwitz, Inspector Shelby said he would let these serve as an answer to the charge that the two men were being protected.

Maj. Pratt said that the records were sent to District Attorney Rover in connection with a check-up they have been making. Beyond that he would say nothing.

The record of arrests of Joseph A. Fitzgerald, as made public by Inspector Shelby, follows:

February 16, 1924, illegal possession and sale; arrests made in Sixth Precinct; no papers issued when case taken to court.

October 21, 1924, illegal possession, sale, two charges of assault; Second Precinct; no papers issued at court.

Two Disorderly Charges.

November 29, 1924, disorderly conduct; Ninth Precinct; $5 forfeited.

January 25, 1925, disorderly; Sixth Precinct; $5 forfeited.

September 7, 1926, drunk; Ninth Precinct; 30 days.

November 13, 1926, investigation; Sixth Precinct; dismissed.

October 4, 1927, gaming; Sixth Precinct; $10 forfeited.

February 1, 1928, gaming; Sixth Precinct.

February 7, 1928, 865 D. C. Code (gaming table); Sixth Precinct; pleaded not guilty on May 11, 1928, and case still at issue; Criminal Court No. 46988.

August 6, 1929, investigation; Second Precinct; dismissed.

January 4, 1930, gaming; Sixth Precinct. This last case fell down in Police Court, but at instance of police was taken before the grand jury, which ignored the charge on February 18, 1930.

Herwitz Arrests Listed.

The police records show the following arrests of Louis Herwitz or Hurwitz:

April 10, 1918, unlicensed entertainment, First Precinct, $3 forfeited.

July 13, 1925, transporting, Second Precinct. Personal bond.

March 8, 1926, illegal possession, Sixth Precinct. $50 or 50 days.

August 4, 1926, gaming, Sixth Precinct. $25 forfeited.

August 23, 1927, gaming, Sixth Precinct. $25 forfeited.

January 4, 1930, gaming, Sixth Precinct. This case was nolle prossed in Police Court, but police asked Rover to take it before grand jury. The grand jury ignored the charges. The arrests listed above were at 450 R street northwest and 25 H street northwest.

Rum Sale for Years Claimed.

In his letter to the Commissioners, which he made public yesterday, Mr. Carter declared that bootlegging "joints" had infested the area around the big printing plant for years, but that the "police have not shown a sufficient interest in the matter."

He charged that the inspector of buildings either made no examination or was grossly negligent when he issued a certificate of occupancy for a building housing an alleged gambling establishment near the Government Printing Office.

He also charged that there had been "laxity" on the part of District officials in collecting personal taxes from operators of such places.

Daniel E. Garges, secretary to the Board of Commissioners, said that the Commissioners might make a formal reply to these charges today.

Arab-U. S. Mail Robbers Jailed.

Jerusalem, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—The Jewish Telegraphic Agency today reported that of five Arabs from Betir who pleaded guilty to robbing American mail dispatched from New York, three of them, postal employes, were sentenced to terms varying from one to two years while a woman and boy accomplice received sentences of six months each.

Moffatt Perfects Fraud Case Appeal

Man, Given Five Years, Still Faces Two Other Indictments.

William L. Moffatt, investment broker, who is now under sentence of five years following his conviction on two counts of an indictment charging false pretense, through Attorneys O'Shea, Burnett and Goldstein yesterday perfected his appeal from the conviction and the sentence.

Moffatt was found guilty by a jury in Criminal Division No. 2, of District Supreme Court, several weeks ago for perpetrating an alleged fraud on Mrs. Marie T. Pauli. He is alleged to have told her that the Riggs National Bank was behind a promotion scheme, and is said to have received several thousands of dollars from the woman. The Government also charged that Moffatt converted the money to his own use.

Moffatt still is under four other indictments charging alleged offenses ranging from false pretenses to embezzlement. United States Attorney Leo A. Rover is expected to calendar these cases for trial at an early date.

Striking Taxi Men Spurn Peace Plan

Pittsburgh Firm's Proposal for Settlement Turned Down, 1,153 to 1.

Pittsburgh, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Pittsburgh's striking taxicab drivers late today rejected by a vote of 1,153 to 1 a settlement proposal offered by the Parmalee Transportation Co., operating the cabs. The terms were submitted to the drivers following a series of conferences during the week between the strikers' executive committee and cab company officials in the office of Mayor Charles H. Kline.

The drivers walked out on January 12 in furtherance of a demand for larger commissions and recognition of their union. The plan of settlement submitted by the company was understood to have granted increased commissions, although not as great as the drivers had asked. A system of collective bargaining was offered in place of union recognition.

Mayor Kline banned taxicabs from Pittsburgh streets more than a week ago following disorders centering about cabs operated by strike breakers.

U. S. War Veteran Dies in Australia

Son of Rich Manufacurer Victim of Automobile Collision.

Sydney, Australia, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—William V. Kelley, jr., World War veteran and son of a wealthy Chicago manufacturer, died yesterday in Balmain Hospital from injuries received in an automobile accident Wednesday. The accident occurred when an automobile driven by one of his friends crashed into a street car.

Mr. Kelley, who arrived in Australia March 17, 1929, had become a well-known figure in Sydney, entertaining lavishly and receiving substantial remittances from America.

Mr. Kelley left Yale University in 1917, when he was 21, serving in the American Army and later becoming associated with the Lafayette Escadrille. He received the Croix de Guerre from the late Marshal Foch. It is understood his widow and two children are living in Los Angeles.

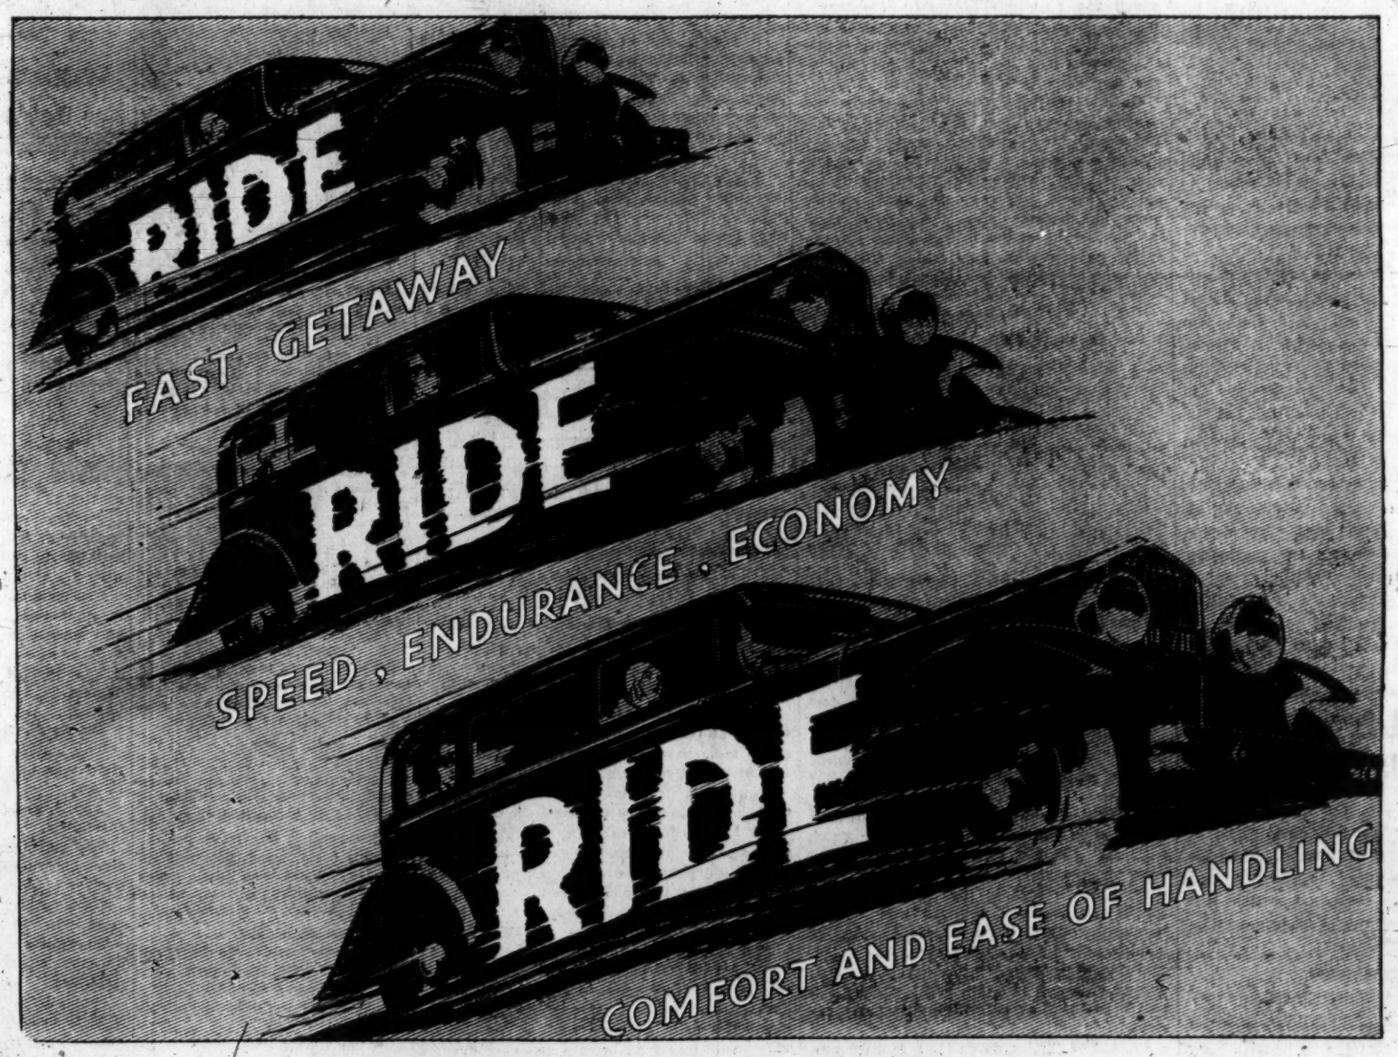
ESSEX Challenger Week



Prove it YOURSELF... no lesser car can satisfy!

In Reliability— in Comfort and Operating Ease.

In Economy— Note its even greater advantage.

You are invited to be one of the drivers to prove Essex' right to Challenge. We want you to drive and ride in this entirely new Essex Challenger.

This is a "Drive-it-Yourself Challenger Week". A week when motorists everywhere will pit the new Essex Challenger against every performance that makes for driving enjoyment. Thousands will know the thrill that comes when they jump away from all rivals as the green traffic light signals "Go!". As they pass drivers who thought they were masters of the road they will feel the real enjoyment that is known only to the man who drives the super-car. On the hills and on the long open stretches these Essex drivers will experience real enjoyment.

Performance, though, isn't the only satisfaction you will experience. There are appearance and comfort and money-saving value beyond anything you could have imagined in a car that sells at a price all can afford.

Nearly 6000 dealers in the U. S. and Canada have standard stock cars to turn over to motorists for this Challenge. These cars will prove Fast Get-away—Speed—Hill climbing-ability—Easy Driving, Easy Operation, Luxury and Comfort.

The Challenge is to all and for all to prove. Drivers of other cars—high-priced cars—that are highly regarded for performance—and of cars considered for their low price are invited. The first will realize that more money does not buy relatively better performance or quality. The others that a lesser car will never satisfy.

Ring us up or call on your nearest dealer now and say you want to be one of the many thousands who this week will prove the right of the new Essex to Challenge.

IS THE FARM BOARD GAMBLING?

It is too early to tell whether or not the wheat crisis has passed. The Farm Board, through the Farmers' National Grain Corporation and other of its agencies, holds about 25,000,000 bushels of wheat. Some 10,000,000 bushels have been bought outright, money has been advanced on 8,000,000 bushels, and contracts have been made for future delivery of about 7,000,000 bushels more. These purchases have forced grain prices upward or, at least, have served to halt what might have been a drastic decline. But has the day of reckoning only been postponed?

The Government faces the problem of getting its wheat holdings back into the market without upsetting prices. Had the Farm Board stayed out of the market, it may be presumed that prices would have stabilized at the economic level. As it is, the price has been pegged at an inflated level, and the law of supply and demand temporarily has been pushed aside.

The Farm Board, in other words, has gone in for speculation. When it started out on the experiment of farm relief with a program designed to improve the marketing machine there were many warnings against price fixing by the board. Now, however, it has become responsible for enormous quantities of wheat at a fictitious price, fixed by itself. If it has guessed right, a rising market will wipe out its losses and may even produce a profit. If it has guessed wrong, the taxpayer will foot the bill.

The United Stafes Treasury, to the extent of $500,000,000, is committed to speculation in farm products—for the Farm Board is merely speculating when it buys wheat at prices above the level of demand. Does the law authorize the board to pay fictitious prices? What is the current operation, if it is not gambling with the people's money on the future price of wheat?

RADICALISM IN SPAIN.

Whatever may come of Spain's political crisis, it is evident that the radicals will not let the occasion pass without making a determined fight to overturn the monarchy and set up a republic. The most serious challenge to the king's authority since the fall of the Rivera dictatorship was the assembly of republican sympathizers in Madrid Thursday to hear Jose Antonio Sanchez Guerra, former Conservative premier, declare that events are "moving toward a republic." Following the address the streets of Madrid resounded with shouts of "down with the monarchy" and "death to the king." Riots in the streets brought charges from the police and resulted in the injury of many persons.

Senor Sanchez Guerro, who is frequently referred to as Spain's "grand old man," has given inestimable prestige to the radical movement. He struck a doubly effective blow at King Alfonso by declaring himself a monarchist but unalterably opposed to continuance of the king's rule. He boldly charged the king with responsibility for the Moroccan disaster which led to the dictatorship and declared that the dictatorship should be punished.

The rigid censorship imposed on Spain by Premier Rivera made such criticism impossible. Now that the ban has been lifted and Spain is trying to shift back to a constitutional monarchy it is not surprising to find the dictator and even the king excoriated. Grievances have been brewing for a long time. Criticism and discontent, which have been bottled up since before the dictatorship began, must now be uncorked. Under the rigid suppression they have acquired a strong taint of communism, and have secretly nourished plots against the monarchy.

The radicals are trying to provoke riots all over Spain. Their program is to create sufficient disturbance to make another dictatorship necessary, on the theory that a second suspension of constitutional government would bring the monarchy to an end. King Alfonso exercises more power than any other monarch in Europe can command. He has maneuvered toward both the left and the right in an effort to preserve the dignity of his throne. The enthusiasm with which the attack on the king was greeted indicates that troublous times are in store for Spain.

A CONTRAST OF GOVERNMENTS.

Students of political science are frequently very critical of the American form of government. The system of checks and balances, the definite term of the Chief Executive, the separation of executive and legislative functions and the alleged dilatory response of the Government to public opinion are among the features which bring out endless criticism. So many professors are impressed with the perfections of the parliamentary system, as practiced in Great Britain and other European countries, that it is not uncommon for a university student to graduate with the intention of using his influence to reform the American plan.

For those who see only the advantages of the parliamentary system it should be enlightening to give a little attention to the current political operations at Paris and London. At the critical moment when the naval conference was just getting down to work, the French upset their government. The other four naval powers are left holding the bag while France makes successive trials to establish an administration that can command support in the Chamber of Deputies. No one can foretell how long it will take to establish a stable ministry in France, and when that has been accomplished there is nothing to guarantee it against defeat on some trivial issue.

In London Premier MacDonald has just escaped defeat by the narrow margin of five votes. Both France and Britain are crosscut by political factions, making all governments depend upon the treacherous favor of opposing groups. They lack the stability which the American people like to feel is behind their Government. No matter how crucial the moment, the platform on which the premier and his cabinet stand may be snatched away at any time.

On the contrary, the United States can always depend upon the services of its President. The American people can rely upon a continuity of policy, at least for definite periods. When the instability of the parliamentary governments now holding power in Europe is contrasted with the regular functioning of the United States Government, the professors may confess that there are some advantages to the American way of doing things, even in theory.

A CAUSE OF ACCIDENTS.

A significant contribution to modern thought on employment of workmen beyond the prime of life has been made by Miss Frances L. Perkins, State industrial commissioner of New York. Speaking before a large group of safety experts she called attention to the rapid increase in the industrial accident rate, and advanced the theory that this is due to some extent to the replacement of older and experienced workers by young men.

"This deadline of 40, of which we have heard so much of late," Miss Perkins said, "has undoubtedly increased our accident rate. In some trades almost the only thing that makes a difference between safe practice and unsafe practice is the presence of an experienced man who can exercise judgment correctly and soundly." She believes the time is coming when industries will demand a larger number of older and more experienced men to make the factories more safe for others.

Safety is an element that is too frequently neglected in the modern demand for quick workers. Possibly some industries require hasty movement and quick judgment. But there are few jobs in the industrial world which can ignore experience and mature judgment. Most of the labor once done by hand is now done by machinery. As a general rule the factory employe is not a toiler, but an operator of a machine. Strength is not so essential as stability and good judgment.

Instead of cutting down the period of usefulness in a man's life, industrial machinery should lengthen it. Human beings are no longer worn out by the heavy labor of the world. They have become the directing force in the processes of production. When the period of transition from hand to machine labor is completed a higher valuation will no doubt be placed on reliability and good judgment.

A GASOLINE PRICE WAR.

A gasoline price war is brewing in New York. On Wednesday the Standard Oil Co. announced a 1-cent price cut, ostensibly to meet the competition of independent dealers. Experts insist, however, that the cut is aimed at big game. They maintain that it is designed to offset the Eastern invasion by Royal Dutch Shell interests.

A price war is evidence that some one has been getting too much for his product, or that some one is willing to assume losses to drive a competitor out of business. The affair started by Standard of New York indicates that it has either been making excessive profit on its gasoline sales or that it is willing to weather a lean period to discommode a competitor. Every price war is essentially tactically unfair. In the end, any losses sustained are passed on to the consumer in the form of exorbitantly high prices.

Standard of New York has worked out a scheme for a merger with the Vacuum Co. There is good ground to believe that such a merger would be in violation of the antitrust laws. In connection with this merger, and in connection with the suit filed by the Government in California charging certain West Coast companies with unlawfully fixing prices and otherwise violating the antitrust laws, the New York price war is of interest. This is no time for starting such affairs.

GENEROSITY TO THE VETERANS.

Each piece of legislation enacted for the benefit of veterans since the close of the World War has extended the liberality of the Government. At first the Government undertook to provide vocational training, compensation and medical care for those disabled through their connections with the military or naval service. Government insurance has been provided at low costs. Hospital facilities have been increased and more liberal arrangements for treatment of former soldiers have been made. Compensation has been increased, time limits for application of insurance have been removed, an officers' retirement act was passed, and recently an elaborate program to care for the mentally incompetent veterans was initiated.

It is now time, in the opinion of the House veterans committee, still further to extend these relief measures. The committee has reported favorably on a bill which would increase the cost of veterans' relief by $100,000,000, bringing the annual total appropriations for this purpose to approximately $900,000,000. Rules and regulations would be loosened all down the line so that veterans who have heretofore been denied aid because their cases did not come within the law would be given attention. "Lay evidence and other evidence not of a medical nature" would be taken into consideration in deciding veterans' claims. The difficulty of tracing current ailments to injuries suffered during the war would be recognized, and the man who was rated as 10 per cent disabled at the beginning of 1925 would be presumed to have acquired his disability in the Government service. This would enable the Government to aid thousands of veterans throughout the country who are suffering because of disabilities of unknown origin. No doubt the Government will in time sweep away all restrictions of this kind and extend assistance to all former soldiers who are unable to care for themselves.

There is no reason why the Government should quibble about aiding any veteran who defended the American flag on foreign soil. Minor technicalities should not stand between the former soldier and the Veterans' Bureau. This liberalized program is fully justified by the services these men rendered. President Hoover is known to be favorable to the veterans' cause, and Congress will no doubt hasten to enact this new measure for their relief.

A Senate committee reduced by one-half an appropriation requested for an American delegation to The Hague law codification conference. Taking the bunk out of junkets is easy when members of Congress are not in on the trip.

A New Jersey couple celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary without divulging whether they are wet or dry. Evidently they intend to support Dwight Morrow.

Dr. Adler says those who play bridge suffer from an inferiority complex. We can sympathize with the doctor, because we usually are beaten, too.

TELEVISION

By MORTIMER STEWART,
In the New York World.

When will we have television? How much will it cost? How good will it be? How long before it's as good as radio is now? And finally, how does it work?

I think that television will begin to find its way to the average radio-enthusiast in the crude form associated with pioneer work in any field in about one year from now.

Remember, television is already an accomplished fact; has been for some time. On the other hand, there are many technical difficulties yet to be overcome before it may be termed practical. In other words, it has been shown what can be done with it as a custom-built article; it remains now to adapt it to mass production.

And this implies the answer to question number two: "What'll it cost me?" Again, this is something which only time can tell; but roughly speaking, it will set you back about the price of your present radio set. This would be for a separate receiving outfit, as well as a televisor, so that you might have both sight and sound of the same broadcast, and together. If you would be content with sight or sound, one at a time, and alternately, then the expense of the receiver is eliminated, and your outlay for the televisor alone would be about that of your present loudspeaker, with which it would share the nutrition of the receiving set, at your pleasure.

From which it would appear that the purchase of a television outfit will run into much or little money, according to the demands of the buyer and the quality of the goods, as with the radio set as we know it today.

How good will it be and when will it reach the degree of perfection which radio has today achieved? Well, it all depends. Restricted to the standard 10-kilocycle width band now regulation for sound transmission, the best that has been secured to date is an image about 3 inches in diameter, of fairly good definition, of a human head only. Thus, the size of the television images and the size of the scanning field (scene to be broadcast) seem to be limited. But, given a short wave band 100 kilocycles wide, or greater, instantly you widen also the scope of your vision; it is then possible to produce an image a foot square of good quality; 2 feet, 3 feet, even life size, perhaps, with satisfactory detail. And the boundaries of the scanning field or stage expand themselves from 1 foot to 10, 15, maybe 30 feet in horizon. With an unrestrictedly wide channel one might encompass larger and still larger areas.

The chief problem of television is that of transmission. It is subject to all the ills that radio is heir to: fading, static, interference and various forms of distortion. These difficulties will have to be met and solved; and they will be. Radio has done it with sound; it seems only logical to assume that it will repeat its gradual victory with sight.

How long before television will be on a par with radio as we know it today? This, again, is a matter for surmise; but from an examination of radio's upward climbing graphline, and a contemplation of television's less steeply oblique but nevertheless sturdily mounting peaks, we may plot a theoretic curve which decrees not less than five years, more probably seven. Within ten years, surely, television will be ordinary. And as early as 1935 it should be a practical commercial proposition.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

MY DEAR LOUISE:

At supper last night, one of the ladies offered the opinion that the right time for a girl to marry is when the right man comes along—whether she is 18 or 25.

There seemed to be a general agreement, your own included, and I accepted the theory for the sake of harmony; but there isn't much security in a plan based on a supposition, and the soundness of your theory depends on your having the divine intuition to recognize the right man.

Fathers have little faith in young scamps who are interested in their daughters—perhaps because they remember their own unworthiness in courting days—and they live in dread of minor tragedies.

Perhaps—no, certainly you think their anxiety absurd and feel capable of taking care of yourself; but the new freedom and self-reliance of your sex hasn't changed biology and the way of a man with a maid is now as it always has been.

The primitive man wasn't handicapped by law or church, and when he went a-wooing he merely "took up" with the woman of his choice and incontinently dropped her when she became a burden or he saw another with brighter eyes.

That was his nature then, and it is his nature now, though law and custom hold him to his contracts and make him honorable against his will.

He isn't to be trusted until he is tied.

The maiden hasn't a fair chance, for she is always expecting the right man and imagination always helps us to see the thing we wish to see.

Any desirable chap who comes calling is at once accepted as a possibility.

The maid hopes he will prove to be the right one, and this hope gives him such an advantage that he need only mind his manners and declare his love and Lo! he is the one ordained of Heaven!

Then he kisses and gets bored and looks for another girl, and the maid is left in tears.

That's the way the theory works. Too much eagerness to accept the right one whenever he comes makes every young adventurer the right one.

It may be years—I hope it will be—before you have need of a yardstick to measure "suitors," but here is one you can lay away for future reference.

You dare not risk losing your heart to one who is merely amusing himself, and the easiest way to avoid humiliation and sorrow is to measure the man when first he appears.

If his days are devoted to good times and his one ambition is to get all he can with the least expenditure of effort, he regards you merely as another form of amusement and his compliments are bait to catch a fish.

If he is a climber, fighting hard to get somewhere and eager to set the world afire, he doesn't know how to pretend and he means business in courtship as in everything else he undertakes.

Love, DAD.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS.

THE CHILDS RESTAUURANT OPERA.

(Georges Antheil, composer of "Ballet Mechanique," is at work on an opera with a Childs Restaurant background.—News Item.)

"I am at work on the same idea," said Elmer Twitchell today. "I already have a name for the opera. It will be 'Madame Buttercake.'"

* * * *

Elmer then went into all the details. Two of its big numbers will be "The Vegetable Dinner's Good-By" and "Song of the Flapjack." There will also be an aria written around the idea of a dropped egg.

* * * *

The story will be about a beautiful girl who is forced to make a living as a flapjack-turner in a Childs Restaurant. As the opera opens there is a rippling ensemble, which conveys the idea that the heroine, Olga, is adjusting herself to life in a front window. The tread of feet is heard on the pavement without, and Olga, in the midst of her work, runs out of batter, a thing she has been warned against. She then sings a solo, "Batter up!"

* * * *

There is a clash with the manager and with a man from Cohoes, who ordered cakes and sausages fifteen minutes ago and has to catch a train. Olga, pretty well disheartened, is about to chuck up her job, when Her eyes, staring out the window, meet those of Wingate Prudge, chairman of the board of a great industrial corporation, who, on the way to an important business conference, stops for a half-hour to watch her turn the cakes.

* * * *

She is held by the mysterious spell of his gaze and forgets to turn the cakes, with the result that they become so much charcoal. There is a movement of wood instruments to indicate that the restaurant is full of smoke. Olga remains at her post and sings "La Griddle," a very touching composition. Here the manager notifies Olga that she is through, but she is saved by Wingate, who turns out to be a director of the Childs Co. and orders her retained. The manager relents, but puts her to work as a waitress. Wingate gives Olga his card. Olga gives Wingate a charred buttercake, which he presses to his bosom as she sings "La Wheatcake Tosser's Good-By."

* * * *

To make a long opera short, Olga does not make good as a waitress, because both thumbs are paralyzed and she can't hold dishes very well. There is a stirring scene with the management, and here occurs a high light of the opera, a "Ballet of the Bouncing Crockery," in which the noise made by the fall of every type of plate, cup, saucer, bowl, spoon, pan, &c., is recorded by some type of musical instrument. It is pretty awful.

* * * *

Well, anyway, Olga's fight for existence appears to be a losing one, and she is about to be driven into the snow on a cold, wintry night because of a customer's complaint that, although he specifically ordered his toast well done, she has repeatedly served it to him barely browned. He demands her discharge. The manager is about to comply, when a stranger taps Olga on the shoulder. It is Wingate Prudge!

* * * *

He takes from his pocket the blackened buttercake, which Olga had given him as a keepsake years before, and gives it to the customer who wants the burned toast. Thus a crisis is averted, Wingate and Olga are married, the customer is kept contented, and everything ends happily as the orchestra plays "Not Responsible for Hats and Overcoats."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The Rev. Dr. Taylor Suggests That Communists Be Permitted to Blow Off Steam in Potomac Park.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In the issue of The Post for Friday, February 21, you make reference to the activity of the reds and to the fact that "Four Young Reds Held, Four Freed in Speechmaking." On Thursday in another paper reference was made to pupils in the District schools who were working for communism.

It has occurred to me that perhaps some arrangement could be made whereby there might be an outlet for this excessive steam pressure. As it now stands many radical views that affect the Government and the social order are kept repressed to such an extent that there is a seething mass beneath the surface of things that is most dangerous. When the lid blows off, even a little, and these radical and dangerous views are expressed in many objectionable ways we become aware of the fact that beneath the surface there are perilous activities. We may become even temporarily alarmed, but soon we are lulled back again into indifferent state of mind. These open air meetings and parades, without permission, are signs that are ominous.

In England and Scotland provision is made whereby these people can blow off steam without any particular harm. One has only to visit Hyde Park in London to appreciate the fact that free speech duly regulated, and that does not infringe on the rights of others offers an opportunity for many to relieve themselves of their ideas. In the city of Edinburgh parts of the streets are roped off and set aside for soapbox orators and others who regard their own views of major importance. All such gatherings, however, are under police supervision and most of them quite orderly.

Would it be possible to allow some of these groups, under police supervision, to let off steam at stated intervals on the Mall or somewhere in Potomac Park? The danger of secret meetings and secret movements might be in a measure lessened.

Postmasters Should Help in Checking Up Population for Census Purposes.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Having in mind that the reapportionment of representation in Congress will be based upon the State populations as returned by the coming census, a United States senator has urged all public schools and the civic and business organizations in each community throughout his State to "begin now and carry on continually to the end that no citizens, young or old, white or black, escape the census enumeration." Sociologists and economists, business men and others the country over are also particularly interested. They have succeeded in causing various important questions to be placed on the schedules. Yet if thousands are to be overlooked during the 1930 census the value of the returns bearing on these important questions will be impaired.

Responsibility for ascertaining the information authorized by Congress should not rest solely upon the Census Bureau. In addition to the plans of that bureau, the Postmaster General should at the proper time issue an order calling upon every local postmaster in the United States having letter carriers and R. F. D. men under him, and to all local postmasters who, having no such subordinates, themselves "deliver" mail by deposit in pigeonholes, to make, or cause to be made, some such simple inquiry of individual recipients of mail, as—"Did the census enumerator visit your place, yet?" If the reply is in the negative, the individual's name and address should be immediately noted, and as speedily handed in to the local postmaster. He in turn should forward it to the person having charge of the census taking in the particular postmaster's city, town or area.

Such method alone appears foolproof. Little would be added to the work of those concerned. The result would be our first all-inclusive census enumeration. STATIST.

How Man's Life Is Spent, on the Average — Nearly One-Third in Sleep.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As the days lengthen, the farmers, business men and workers generally will turn their attention to the question of daylight saving. It may not, perhaps, be inopportune to generalize upon the disposition by the average man of his threescore years and ten. Research has disclosed the following average figures:

Man sleeps, for example, oh! an average of 23 of his 70 allotted years. He works—contrary to popular belief—but 18 of those 70 years. He spends 4 years of his life reading newspapers, books and magazines; 1 year and 9 months at play; 2½ years idling, and only 3 months less than that washing, shaving and dressing. He devotes some 2 years and 3 months to walking, riding on cars, on trains, ships and in automobiles, airplanes, &c. Three full years he spends eating his food, while another year and 3 months are devoted to school. A year and 6 months, usually, represents time out on account of sickness. Radios, movies and various other forms of entertainment claim 3½ years of man's life. The remaining 7 years and 65 days may be classed as "sundries."

Getting down to fine points, a statistical wizard once figured out that man spends 15 days of his life waiting for street cars, or coaxing the old bus to start, yet only twice that number "sweethearting." S. P. E.

SPANISH MINISTERS BACK KING ALFONSO

FORMER PREMIER IS HIT

Madrid, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—The Spanish cabinet, after a three-hour session devoted to discussion of the present political situation and of current propaganda against the monarchy, tonight declared it will unwaveringly support King Alfonso in every move he takes and is determined to protect him from attacks by his enemies.

The cabinet council declared the government will not permit any attack against the normal political life of Spain. It officially and severely condemned the attitude taken by former Premier Sanchez Guerra in a speech last night in which he said he could no longer support King Alfonso.

The ministers stated that they were surprised at this declaration and that it would mean that in the future the government will not allow political meetings directed against the monarchy.

Demonstrations occurred in Barcelona again today, with several arrests, and there were minor student ones in Madrid. For these and for yesterday's disorders the government blames Sanches Guerra.

The note, issued after the meeting, explained that the cabinet's chief duty was to reconfirm protection through law and order and lamented that "such a distinguished person as Sanchez Guerra, who has heretofore been a stanch supporter of the king, should have made the declaration attributed to him."

"The government," the note says, "solemnly resolves never to allow present ideas or unfounded prejudices to place obstacles in the path of the normal political life of the country."

Madrid was quiet tonight and there were no new reports of trouble in the provinces.

The council of ministers has decided, as the result of the disorders following the Sanchez Guerra speech, to postpone indefinitely the municipal, provincial and parliamentary elections in Spain.

No definite dates have ever been set by the government for these elections, but the authorities declared they would be held as soon as the country was ready for them, which was generally taken to mean very soon.

Capital Pair Licensed To Marry in New York

Although employes of the Kennedy Radio Service Studios, 3319 Fourteenth street northwest, denied any knowledge of their employer's intentions, a marriage license was issued in New York yesterday to Joseph Charles Kennedy, 24 years old, radio dealer of that address, and Miss Louise Mozier, 24 years old, Fourteenth and Irving streets northwest. The couple announced they would be married in the Little Church Around the Corner.

Mr. Kennedy was born in Bridgewater, Va., and Miss Mozier in Norfolk, Va., although both have been residents of the Capital for some time.

Police Force Veteran Celebrates Birthday

A veteran of more than 33 years' service on the Metropolitan Police force, Jacob Larrick, a clerk at Detective Headquarters, last night celebrated his sixty-eighth birthday in the manner of a loyal policeman-on-duty.

Within the near future, Mr. Larrick, who is affectionately known as "the Judge" among scores of detectives, plans to submit his application for retirement. Mr. Larrick was born in Frederick County, Va. Shortly after coming to the Capital, he gained an appointment on the police force on July 6, 1896. Mr. Larrick resides at 1067 Rhode Island avenue northeast.

Comdr. Towers Fined $15 on Speeding Count

Commander John H. Towers, assistant chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics and one of the Navy's most distinguished flyers, paid a $15 fine yesterday in Police Court on a charge of driving his automobile at an excessive speed.

The commander was arrested Thursday night at his home on Seventeenth street near I street on an attachment issued by Judge Gus A. Schuldt. The attachment was issued after the naval officer had failed to appear in court to answer the charge. Commander Towers declared that he failed to appear in court because he thought that he could forfeit his collateral and save himself the trouble.

Judge of Police Court, Reappointed, Sworn In

Judge Gus A. Schuldt, presiding judge of the Police Court, was officially sworn into office yesterday by Clerk Frank A. Sebring.

Judge Schuldt, who has been on bench as presiding judge for a number of years, was recently renominated by the President, and the Senate last week confirmed the appointment. In addition to Judge Schuldt and Clerk Sebring, the only other witness of the ceremony was Mrs. Ethel Spates, confidential secretary to the Police Court judges.

On the Rules of Traffic

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

There is nothing in the traffic regulations which justifies the assumption on the part of a motorist that his vehicle does not need a parking light. The regulations say plainly that from a half-hour after sunset to a half-hour before sunrise each car left on the streets of the city must display a white light in the front and a red light in the rear.

The light may be a special parking lamp or it may be combination of cowl and tail lights, but it must be visible 200 feet in either direction.

Example: A driver parks his car on a street that is brightly illuminated not only by street lamps but by electric signs. He knows the car is visible in all directions and consequently leaves his parking lamp unlighted. He has violated the law.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

IT is now a very clear and inescapable fact that our Nation's legislators, or the lawmakers as they are affectionately called, are the most inconsistent persons in the world.

Year after year they extend benefits to veterans of the World War and to the veterans of other wars, give them assistance in many ways, pensions, insurance, hospital treatment, houses and homes and preference in jobs. They take on a sanctimonious air and talk of and in many instances provide for mothers' pensions.

And throughout our land there are charitable institutions, homes for the poor and the aged and the blind.

* * * * *

YET when such an outstanding, unmistakably worthy appeal as that of Mr. Wirt Franklin, of the Independent Petroleum Producers Association, appears, there is laughter and mockery the breadth and length of the Capitol corridors.

Is it possible that our legislators, indeed, the people themselves, are callous beneath their veneer of charity? Just how they can continue to boast of their generosity to the four corners of the globe, now that Mr. Franklin has been turned down, is way beyond the capacity of our mind.

This man came here from the land of the innocents, from down there where they have implicit faith in the justice of mankind, from those godfearing, simple folk of Oklahoma.

* * * *

THEY do not ply the devious and intricate ways of the Eastern city slicker. They do not live by their wits. Theirs is indeed the rigid code of just plain right and wrong.

As simply as the Dairy Maid who sang "My face is my fortune," did Mr. Franklin come to Washington. He resorted to no tricks, yet tricks were suggested to him, such as the advice that he employ our own dear Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, who knows our Eastern slicking ways so very well.

But he turned a deaf ear. The honesty of purpose that was written all over his rugged face and the justice of his cause was all he deemed necessary to employ.

* * * *

SUCH faith is not to be lightly destroyed, such confidence that our governmental fathers would readily give justice where justice was so plainly due is not to be dissipated without some one paying dearly for it.

There was pathos to Mr. Franklin's appeal, his appeal for $1 a barrel tariff on oil.

If there was ever a man who needed governmental assistance it was Mr. Franklin. He only has $50,000,000 to his name, not another red cent.

The Congress may be blind to it, but what this country needs above all else is a home for indigent millionaires.

WAR BAN ADOPTED BY LEAGUE JURISTS

GREAT POWERS RAPPED

Geneva, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—The committee of jurists attempting to harmonize the League of Nations covenant with the Kellogg pact accomplished one of the most difficult parts of its task today by agreeing on an amendment to article XII. This is the one article of the covenant which leaves an obvious gap for employment of war as an instrument of international policy.

The full committee adopted a subcommittee formula which prohibits resort to war in any case. The formula is as follows:

"Members of the league agree that if there should arise between them any dispute likely to lead to rupture they will have recourse for its settlement to pacific means only.

"If the disagreement continues, the dispute shall be submitted either to arbitration or judicial settlement or to inquiry of the council. Members of the league agree that they will in no case resort to war for the solution of their disputes."

The League of Nations assembly will be asked to approve this change the next time it convenes. The other paragraph of the articles remains the same.

An attempt by the Peruvian delegate, Mariano Cornejo, to restrict what he characterizes as the dominance of great powers in the council of the league and in the league's decisions, was unsuccessful at the afternoon session.

The South American contended that the five council seats held permanently by five great powers, give them the master hand in that executive body; and that the right which the council now has, to decide in questions of international dispute without reference to the assembly, secures dominance to the council and therefore to the great powers.

Mr. Cornejo's move was in the form of a proposed amendment to Article V, Paragraph VII, whereby he would require the council to refer disputes to the assembly when the council was unable to agree.

Other members spoke against the amendment and it was postponed until the end of the committee session.

RHODE ISLAND PLANS TO VOTE ON DRY LAW

BALLOTING IS 24 TO 11

Providence, R. I., Feb. 28 (A.P.).—With passage by the State Senate today of the Republican administration's referendum measure, Rhode Island voters were virtually assured of an opportunity to vote on retention of the eighteenth amendment at the November elections. The measure goes for concurrent action to the House, where wet sentiment is much stronger than in the upper branch.

The 24 to 11 vote by which the measure passed the Senate showed a sharp break in party lines, the votes of eight Democrats forcing passage when ten rural Republican drys bolted and opposed the bill. Sixteen Republicans and eight Democrats voted for passage, ten Republicans and one Democrat were against it, and three Republicans and one Democrat were absent.

The bill provides for submission to the electorate, upon a separate ballot, of the following question.

"The eighteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States, shall it be retained?"

In 90 minutes of spirited debate both Republicans and Democrats sought vainly to change the word "retained," assailing it as "negative."

Proposals to change the word to "repealed," "ratified," or "modified" were voted down. Rhode Island never has ratified the eighteenth amendment.

Russian Royalist Pair Is Married in France

Paris, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—A dispatch from Clamart today said the Prince Nicholas Troubetzkoy and Princess Alexandria Obolensky were married Monday in he litle chapel of the prince's large home on the edge of the town. Later a civil ceremony was performed in the city hall at Clamart.

They are spending their honeymoon at Clamart. The princess is 24 years old and the daughter of Prince Alexis Obolensky, now in New York. Prince Nicholas is 26 and is an electrical engineer. Both are members of the old regime in Russia, forced to leave that country after the revolution.

HAITIAN COMMITTEE BEGINS ISLAND WORK

Populace Stages Orderly Demonstration as Group Lands.

STATEMENT IS ISSUED

Port-Au-Prince, Haiti, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—President Hoover's Haitian commission, appointed to investigate conditions in Haiti and to make recommendations as to the future of American policy in the island republic, arrived at the capital today and were greeted by an orderly popular demonstration.

As the members of the commission drove to the American Legation, a crowd of more than 5,000 Haitians followed them carrying banners reading "We want legislative elections" and "no more high commissioners."

The Haitian colors were spread everywhere on houses and on automobiles.

Call on Borno.

The commissioners, after issuing a statement saying that they would hold open sessions every day except Sunday, went to call on Brig. Gen. John H. Russell, high commissioner in Haiti, and then on President Borno.

All the demonstrations were orderly, though last night a number of persons were injured and thirteen arrests were made after a fight outside the council of state building. A big crowd came down to the pier to see the commissioners come ashore. Haitian gardes held the people back.

The statement issued by the commission invited all Haitian citizens to attend the open sessions at the Hotel Excelsior.

Offices Open to Citizens.

It added: "The offices of the commission will be open daily from 9 to 3 for receiving information and making appointments with those who care to appear in person before the commission. It is the desire of the commission that all elements of the Haitian people be heard freely and frankly.

"Citizens who for any reason desire a private interview will be welcome and their communication will be treated as confidential. The commission will pursue the same course of hearing and interviews at other points in the republic. The purpose of the mission is to gather as completely as humanly possible all the facts concerning the situation."

The members of the commission were informally presented to the people of Port-au-Prince in front of the Excelsior Hotel this evening and received an ovation.

They stood at the gate of the hotel while a procession of about 100 marchers carried past banners urging the end of American occupation and free election of the president.

Hundreds of visitors from all parts of the country stayed overnight for the opening of the commission's hearings tomorrow.

Young Plan Passed By German Group

Committee Action Indicates Reichstag Will Agree to Debt Proposal.

Berlin, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Passage of the Young plan and connected bill through joint committee today indicated that the path of proposed legislation to liquidate the World War will run smoothly through the Reichstag. The Young plan passed by a vote of 29 to 23. The committee also approved the agreement on American reparations and the Polish reparations agreement by a vote of 28 to 24.

The Centrists abstained from voting today on the ground that the government's financial policy in connection with the Young plan bills is not sufficiently clear. But they took that position with the tolerable certainty that their abstention would not imperil the bills in committee. Furthermore, the Centrists showed their loyalty to the coalition which passed the measures by proposing a vote of confidence for the chancellor.

The Bavarian Peoples Party also abstained, but it is taken for granted that the Centrists and Bavarians will fall in line with Young plan supporters when a vote is taken in the Reichstag.

History of Fashions Is Traced in Sketch

"From Whence It Came," a descriptive narrative of fashion, was presented last night by the Hecht Co. Players and viewed by more than 400 Washingtonians. Bits of bygone styles, the forerunners of present fashions, were shown.

Cyril M. Roberts, promotion manager of the store, as Capt. Devereaux a style critic, had the pleasant task of explaining to pretty Ana Biancanello, who portrayed the part of Rodna Mayhill, a fashion-crazed girl, how styles of today have been handed down from the historical periods of yesteryear.

Mrs. Minnigerode Andrews, of Alexandria, Va., loaned a number of period gowns for the occasion. One of these was worn by a model when she posed for a portrait which now hangs in the White House.

Suits Totaling $25,000 Follow Auto Accident

Two suits for an aggregate of $25,000 damages were filed yesterday in District Supreme Court against W Elmer Bacon, of 3103 Cathedral avenue northwest.

Manuel Herde, a minor, through his father, George F. Herde, of 2804 Twenty-seventh street northwest seeks $15,000 for personal injuries while the father seeks $10,000 for medical expenses and loss of his son's services and companionship. The younger Herde is alleged to have been struck down and run over by an automobile belonging to Mr. Bacon and operated by his daughter, Frances Bacon. The accident is said to have occurred last September 5 on Woodley road northwest, between Connecticut avenue and Twenty-eighth street.

Quaker School Officers To Speak Tomorrow

James F. Walker, principal of the Westtown School, Quaker Preparatory school, near Philadelphia, and Francis R. Taylor, of Philadelphia, president of the alumni association, will speak at a gathering of alumni and friends of the Quaker institution at 7:45 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Friends Meeting House at Thirteenth and Irving streets northwest.

The speakers will report the progress of the Westtown 1929 fund of $700,000 being raised for endowment and physical improvements. The school was founded in 1799. Approximately 40,000 Quaker children have received their secondary education at the institution.

Seven-Inch Rainfall Floods Buenos Aires

Buenos Aires, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Rains which heavily drenched the city yesterday and this morning and flooded some distant districts, ceased at noon today.

Between 4:30 p. m. yesterday and 10 a. m. today the rainfall totaled 7¾ inches. One person was reported drowned and material damages run high, mainly in the poorer districts.

Street car and bus services were running this afternoon after being partly tied up during the storm. As the downpour increased last night the inhabitants of the low districts were forced to leave their homes hastily as the streets, unable to carry off the tremendous amount of water, became flooded.

Leaving Dog to Starve Brings Man Jail Term

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Because he trussed up a collie puppy belonging to a neighbor and abandoned it 90 feet from the nearest roadway in a secluded suburban swamp, Roy Cloat, 32, was sentenced to 60 days in jail here this afternoon and fined $25 and costs.

Another man, exercising his dog, found the starving puppy, its head pulled down between its forepaws by a heavy rope. Every attorney solicited by Cloat refused to defend him.

Vatican City, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Pope Pius today ordered the creation of a historical section of the Sacred Congregation of Rites for expert examination of records, documents and historical background in requests for beatification and canonization.

Physicians, Pharmacies Indicted in Liquor Plot

Chicago, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—The Stevens Hotel Pharmacy, seven officers and employes of the Stevens and Hotel LaSalle Pharmacies and four physicians were indicted today by the Federal grand jury on charges of conspiring to violate the prohibition act.

The physicians were charged with prescribing illegally for intoxicating liquor, which the drug stores sold for beverage purposes.

Elaborate Funeral for Hotel Keeper.

Vienna, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Frau Anna Sacher, former proprietor of a widely known Vienna Hotel, was buried today. For elaborateness and solemnity her funeral was comparable only to that of Konrad Hoetzendo, Austria's popular field marshal during the great war. Numerous members of former royalty and thousands of members of society attended.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN CAPITAL SOCIETY

Drama Stars Are Guests in Capital Fete

Miss Barrymore and Sir Archibald Horner Are Entertained.

By JEAN ELIOT.

STARS of the dramatic stage have played leading roles on the stage of society in Washington in the last few days. Not only was Miss Ethel Barrymore, star of "The Love Duel," a guest of honor at the League of American Pen Women's Celebrity Breakfast at the Willard yesterday, but in the afternoon she attended the Congressional Club's informal Friday afternoon tea with its president, Mrs. Porter H. Dale, and on this occasion she shared honors with Miss Irene Dunne, now playing in "Show Boat," who was present as the guest of Miss Canfield, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Harry C. Canfield, of Indiana. Miss Dunne is an Indiana girl.

Moreover, Miss Edith Wynne Matheson, with her husband, Mr. Charles Rann Kennedy, and Miss Margaret Gage, were honor guests of the Greece America Society on Thursday night at an entertainment at the home of Miss Anne Darlington. The trio, who have done so much to revive and sustain interest in the Greek drama, spoke briefly on their work with this ancient art and its relation to modern life. Greek folk songs were sung by Mrs. Edith Rice.

Miss Barrymore was given a genuine ovation at the Celebrity Breakfast, attended by the largest company which has turned out for any of the series of fetes arranged to raise funds for a national headquarters for the League of American Pen Women. There was enthusiastic applause when she was presented and again after she had read a poem, "The West Wind," in that famous "Barrymore voice."

Speakers at the breakfast were Sir Archibald Flower, chairman of the board of governors of the Shakespeare Memorial Theater, who told of "Stratford and the Shakespearean Players;" Dr. William Allen Wilbur, provost of George Washington University, who discussed "The English Novel," in illuminating and entertaining fashion; Rear Admiral Robert E. Coontz, whose subject might have been "Join the Navy and See the World," since he discussed the educational advantages of foreign travel; and Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, erstwhile commandant of the Marine Corps and now superintendent of the Virginia Military Academy.

Others on the program were Dr. Mary Meek Atkeson, whose subject was "The Fiction of Tomorrow" and Mrs. Ambrose Deihl, a Pen Women's League member and chairman of motion pictures for the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Clarence M. Busch, national president of the league, presided, assisted by Mrs. Nina Swaim Reid, their witty give and take following the lines of court procedure and the speakers being "sentenced" to generous applause, lasting popularity and kindred punishments.

Mrs. Busch had as her guests: Mrs. William Wheatley, Mrs. A. Topliffe, Mrs. Frank Bacon, Mrs. Frank Anderson, Mrs. A. C. Cron, wife of Lieut. Col. Cron, Mrs. George Baker, Mrs. Fred Cline Smith, Mrs. Helen Hagner, Miss Eleanor Shutt and Mrs. Frank Kelly.

Mrs. Thomas D. Schall was present as the guest of Mrs. James M. Steel and many members of the league entertained groups of guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Bloom Entertain for Envoy.

The Spanish Ambassador and Senora de Padilla were the guests in whose honor Representative and Mrs. Sol Bloom entertained at dinner last night. Their other guests were the Minister of Switzerland and Mme. Peter, the Minister of Bulgaria and Mme. Radeff, Senator and Mrs. Guy Despard Goff, Senator Robert F. Wagner, Representative Stephen G. Porter, the United States Minister to Salvador, Mr. Warren Delano Robbins; the Secretary of the Swiss Legation, Mr. Walter H. Rufenacht; Mrs. Alvin Dodd, Mrs. George Mesta, Mrs. William Barret Ridgely and Miss Vera Bloom.

The Cuban Ambassador and Senora de Ferrara have as their guest Prince Rospigliosi, who will remain for several days. The Ambassador entertained at luncheon yesterday, when the Speaker of the House, Mr. Nicholas Longworth, was among the guests.

The German Ambassador and Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron, who have been in New York for several days, will return to Washington this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Beck Are Dinner Hosts.

Representative and Mrs. James M. Beck, of Pennsylvania, entertained at dinner last evening at the Mayflower in honor of Sir Archibald and Lady Flower, of Stratford-on-Avon, England.

The company included the Ambassador of Cuba and Senora de Ferrara, the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Senator David I. Walsh, Gen. and Mrs. Charles P. Summerall, Representative A. Piatt Andrew, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Henry T. Allen, the Air Attache of the British Embassy and Mrs. T. G. Hetherington, the Commercial Counselor of the British Embassy and Lady Broderick, Dr. Leo S. Rowe, Judge John Barton Payne, Mrs. Henry Dimock, Dr. David Jayne Hill, Miss Mary Patten, Mme Henry Roso, Miss Evadne Flower, Miss Helen Patten, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Denegre, Mr. and Mrs. Hampson Gary, Mr. Lynch Luquer, Mrs. Rushmore Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Belmont, Mrs. Frederick Hicks and Mr. Walter Davidge.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee P. Warren, 1736 Massachusetts avenue, are at the Barclay while in New York.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. William D. Connor will be at home tomorrow afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock at the Army War College.

Maj. Gen. Malvern-Hill Barnum, U. S. A., retired, and Mrs. Barnum are spending a few days in Washington as guests of Commander and Mrs. John Morse.

Mrs. Duncan Cameron and her daughter, Miss Elsie Quinby, left town yesterday for a month's motor trip through the South.

Mrs. John Greenslade Returns From West.

Mrs. John F. Greenslade, wife of Ensign Greenslade, will arrive today from the West Coast and will be at the Wardman Park Hotel, where she has taken an apartment until June. Mrs. Greenslade is the former Miss Rosemary Griffin, daughter of Mrs. Paul Bastedo.

Mrs. Royal S. Copeland entertained a small company at luncheon yesterday at the Carlton, as did Mrs. Fred A. Britten.

Benefit Performance Is Planned by Hunt Club Tonight.

The Fort Myer cavalry troop will be an outstanding feature at society horse show to be held at the Riding and Hunt Club tonight. The chief of staff, U. S. A., and Mrs. Charles P. Summerall will occupy a box with ranking Army officers.

Seven other events are scheduled for the evening performance, among these being the hunt class, in which competing teams will wear the traditional pink hunting coats, and the ladies saddle class, in which prominent Washington equestriennes will exhibit their mounts.

There will be an afternoon performance, beginning at 2 o'clock, in which children 16 years and under will compete for prizes and ribbons in seven events. Among the children who will ride are Alexandra Bacon, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Robert Low Bacon; George Patton, jr., son of Maj. and Mrs. George Patton; Marilyn Himes, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Himes, always a star performer in the ring, and Virginia Rodgers, daughter of Capt. Christopher Rodgers. A parade of winners will conclude the performance.

Miss Charlotte Nourse, master of the Casanova Hunt, and Mr. Dion Kerr, of Washington, will judge at the afternoon show. Gen. Henry T. Allen, Mr. Charles Barrie, of Media, Pa., and Col. Adna Chaffee will judge at the evening performance. Chester Gwynn will act as ringmaster.

The Navy and Marine Bands will play at both shows, and United States Marines will act as ushers.

The show is being given for the benefit of the Soldiers and Marines' Clubhouse, at Eleventh street, L street and Massachusetts avenue, of which Mrs. Hoover is honorary president; Mrs. Charles Francis Adams and Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, honorary vice presidents, and Mrs. Charles P. Summerall, president.

Mrs. John Allan Dougherty was the guest of honor at a dinner given last evening by Mrs. H. H. Low, of New York, who entertained a company of ten in the palm court of the Mayflower.

Maj. F. E. Rodriguez will entertain at the dinner dance in the gold room of the Wardman Park Hotel this evening. There will be 36 in the company.

Mrs. Robinson Downey entertained at dinner last evening at the Willard for Mrs. James Deering Fessenden, of New York, who is passing a few days here with Mrs. Downey on her way to Florida.

Assistant Postmaster General and Mrs. Frederic A. Tilton will entertain at dinner this evening at Wardman Park Hotel for Miss Lena M. Carle, of Detroit, Mich., who is their guest for a few days.

Taft Illness Causes Check In Fetes Here

Society Pays Tribute to Former President in Sickness.

Following the lead of the White House, many hosts and hostesses, official and unofficial, are canceling parties arranged for the next few days because of the critical illness of Mr. William Howard Taft, former President of the United States and later Chief Justice of the Supreme Court—a spontaneous tribute to a man greatly beloved.

The Women's National Press Club has postponed its annual dinner and stunt party, set for next Tuesday evening at the Willard, because of a feeling entertainment would be inappropriate at this time and because many women prominent in Washington's official groups were to have been guests of the club. The entertainment will be given later in the season.

The concert for the benefit of the Stratford restoration fund, which was to have been held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. William Corcoran Eustis, featuring Miss Grace Moore and Mr. Oscar Seagle, has been canceled by the committee, which includes Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Eustis and a number of other prominent Washington women. It was not possible to postpone this event, as Mrs. Eustis is leaving Washington shortly for Aiken, S. C., and Miss Moore, a brilliant young singer of the Metropolitan Opera, is about to go to the West Coast to make several motion pictures. The money for the tickets purchased will be refunded upon application to Mrs. Eustis.

Among the other festivities postponed because of Mr. Taft's condition is a tea which Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Kleth were to have given on Monday afternoon in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Lane, of Cambridge, Mass. Dr. Lane is to serve as scientific research adviser at the Library of Congress for the next six months. Dr. Kleth is chairman of the division of geology and geography of the National Research Council.

Mrs. Robert Hollister Chapman will sail the last of next week for Europe and will remain abroad for several months.

Dr. and Mrs. James Alexander Lyon entertained 18 guests at dinner last evening at their home, Glenview Farm, on the Rockville Road.

Mrs. Alfred H. Kraft, of New York and Mrs. Cyrus O. Baker, of Paris arrived in Washington yesterday and will be guests at the Mayflower for a week before leaving for New York. Mrs. Baker spent a month in New York upon her arrival there in December and since then she and Mrs. Kraft have been in Havana and Miami. Mrs. Baker is sailing for Paris in a few weeks' time and Mrs. Kraft will leave as usual for Europe some time in May.

Miss Gutelius' Pupils Plan Recital.

Miss Frances Gutelius has issued cards for an hour of music with her pupils this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Two-piano pieces will be featured by Barbara Bolling, Lucia Ellis, Letitia Bogan, Ruth Haycraft, Jane Cooper, Betty Marshall, Janet O'Leary, Karlan Meyer, Margaret Yanagita, Bernice and Beatrice Wyman, Home McAllister, Anne Stowell and Walter Drummond Swank.

Mrs. Mary R. Tysowski, of Atlantic City, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pagan at Tilden Gardens.

Envoy Is Host At Music Fete In Legation

Mrs. Lambert, Soprano, and Mr. White Play for Guests.

The Minister of Ecuador and Senora de Viteri entertained at a musicale last evening, when a delightful program was presented by Mrs. Richard Lambert, coloratura soprano, and Mr. Roderick White, violinist. Mrs. Lambert, the wife of the secretary of the United States legation in Ecuador, had chosen as her selections a group of folk songs of Ecuador.

Among the guests at the fete were the Minister of South Africa and Mrs. Eric Louw, the latter a gifted violinist; the Minister of Nicaragua and Senora de Sacasa, the Minister of Bolivia and Senora de Diez de Medina, the Minister of Costa Rica, Senor Don Manuel Castro Quesada; the Bolivian Consul General in New York, Dr. P. P. Eguez Baquerizo; Mr. and Mrs. Dana Munro, Dr. Leo S. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American Union; Mr. Pedro Paz, of Ann Arbor, Mich.; Capt. and Mrs. Frank B. Freyer, Miss Ruth Fessler, Mrs. Robert Whitney Imbrie, the Naval Attache of the Chilean Embassy and Senora de Polich, the Second Secretary of the Brazilian Embassy and Senora de Mello, and the First Secretary of the Bolivian Legation and Senora de la Barra.

Mr. Gerges J. His has arrived from Boston to be with Mrs. His, who has been visiting her parents, Representative and Mrs. Charles A. Eaton, at Bellevue, for the last two months. They will return to Boston together tomorrow.

Representative and Mrs. Adam Wyant entertained at dinner last evening before the Friday Evening Dancing Class, which met at the Willard. Others who took dinner guests to the dance were Col. and Mrs. George C. Thorpe, Mrs. David H. Blair and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carter.

Mrs. James Griswold Wentz and Mrs. Charles J. Williamson were among the luncheon hostesses at the National Women's Country Club yesterday.

I JUST SOAK MY CLOTHES IN CREAMY RINSO SUDS. THEY COME OUT SNOW-WHITE WITHOUT A BIT OF SCRUBBING
HOW THAT MUST SAVE THE CLOTHES! I'M GOING TO GET SOME RINSO TODAY

Gleaming white washes with this safe soap!

WHEN millions of women will use no laundry soap but Rinso . . . you can be sure there's a reason! And the reason is that Rinso washes clothes whiter, safely.

In Rinso's thick suds, the dirt soaks right out. Clothes come so snowy, even boiling isn't needed. This scrubless way of doing the wash saves hands from becoming red and rough.

Rinso is granulated, compact. One cupful gives more suds than two cupfuls of lightweight, puffed-up soaps. The makers of 38 leading washing machines recommend it. Get the BIG package. Try it for dishes, too.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

WITH the inauguration of the Catholic Radio Hour, with Cardinal Hayes and the Paulist Choir, through Station WRC, at 6 o'clock tomorrow night, there again comes the rumor that the voice of the Pope may soon be heard addressing the Catholics of the United States.

There was a time, not so long ago, either, when such a thing was a fantastic dream. However, the amazing progress made in transatlantic broadcasts, as demonstrated by our hearing the king, has brought the broadcasting of a message from the Pope well into the realm of possibilities.

Inquiry by us reveals that the only difficulty that now stands in the way of such communication between the Vatican City and the United States is that wire facilities between Rome and London are still not adequate for carrying a speech.

In the opinion of one of the most expert broadcast engineers, this is the only obstacle, and not at all insurmountable, which would now stand in the way.

If such a broadcast were attempted it would be carried by wire from Rome to Paris, by cable across the English Channel, by short waves from London to New York, and by telephone wire to various broadcasting stations throughout the United States.

We enjoy the tinkling music box which plays "My Maryland" between programs from Station WBAL, Baltimore.

THE privilege of singing "Slumber On," the theme song for the Slumber Hour, belongs exclusively to Milton J. Cross, the announcer. It was written by Keith McLeod, formerly an announcer.

Here's a tongue tangling sentence they try new announcers out with: "The sea ceaseth and it suffices us."

THE persistency of Dr. John Nathansohn, of Universal Wireless Communications, caused him to call personally at the Federal Radio Commission to get the order granted by the commission authorizing his company to begin broadcasting short wave radiotelegraph messages between fourteen cities, a la the Western Union and Postal.

Other companies which waited for the licenses to be sent to them are held up by a court order issued after the authorizations had been signed but before they had been mailed.

Dr. Nathansohn walked away from the commission with his letter in his pocket, his company has already sent its first message from Buffalo to Milwaukee, and he has the laugh on his competitors.

WORK'S BRIDGE

CONTRACT BRIDGE.

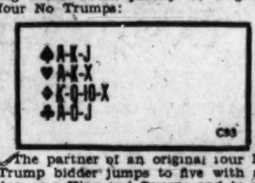
A dealer is justified in bidding one No Trump with a count of 13 and three suits stopped, two No Trumps with a count of 17 and four suits stopped, three No Trumps with a count of 21 and four suits stopped, the steps from one to two and from two to three being divided by a differential of four in the count; but this differential is not a constant and it would be unsound to bid four No Trumps with a count of 25. An original bid of four No Trumps is a slam invitation and requires a count of 27 for Aces, Kings, Queens and Jacks (Tens not being reckoned) and all four suits stopped twice. With a hand that strong four-odd at No Trump usually can be made, even with a helpless partner. The following hand would justify an original four No Trumps:



The partner of an original four No Trump bidder jumps to five with an Ace, or a King and Queen; and to six with a count of 8—in some cases with 7.

One night while giving a demonstration at a New York Club, one of the audience announced that he had found an "egregious error" in one of my books. He referred to a statement made to the effect that being familiar with the strength requirement for the original four No Trump bid was not vitally important, as a player might live to a ripe old age and never hold a hand which warranted an original four No Trumps. My critic stated that he had proved my theory concerning the infrequency of this holding to be false because during the preceding week he had held three separate hands (none as the result of a Goulash) each of which fulfilled the four No Trump requirement, and that his four No Trump bid had produced a slam on all three occasions. I told him that I considered his experience exceptional and I reiterated my belief that most No Trump slams are produced by the proper jumping by the partner of an original bidder of one, two or three No Trumps—and that will be our topic next Saturday.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

(Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce.)

The fire-fighting devices should always be located conveniently, and for small dwellings, this usually means in or near the kitchen. One of the simplest and most effective fire-fighting devices for dealing with fires in their early stages is a pail of water.

There is usually some one around when a fire starts. Also fires are so small at the start that the prompt application of a small amount of water, the use of blankets or similar simple expedients can be adopted to quench what might later develop into a severe conflagration.

It is certainly possible to hang fire buckets in some convenient and accessible place in each household.

Any one who has tried to throw water from a bucket knows the difficulty of throwing the water just where it is needed. Unfamiliarity with the operation and excitement of the moment have much to do with this. A partially filled pail may often be used more effectively. A cup or ladle full is easily handled and will often do more good than a bucket of water misdirected. The hands can also be used to advantage for throwing the water where it is most needed. Again, a broom can be used to apply the water in a finely divided state, which is often satisfactory for the purpose. The broom is also useful for tearing down draperies and reaching a fire with less danger to the person. A broom may be kept with the water pail for this special purpose. A suggestion has been made to provide water faucets in the house to which a garden hose can be conveniently connected, or, better, permanently attached.

Baby Mine

Dare Interprets the Mode

Paris, Feb. 28.

A NEW Easter outfit!

Now, you know I'm good. ("And so do I," swatto voice, says La Chic Secretaire—I wonder just what she means?) But to ask me to advise you about your Easter outfit suggests that I'm not only good, but omnipotent. And even I don't think I'm that!

Because a new Easter outfit consists of something you need for your wardrobe, and nothing more nor less. Thus you satisfy at one and the same time your need for something new for spring and Easter and your wardrobe needs for more than just that one occasion.

• • • • •

So what are your particular needs for an Easter outfit? A tailleaur? A dress ensemble with a nice coat and a crepe dress underneath? A tailored outfit like the one I illustrated for you today? For business women and schoolgirls of any age I would, of course, say that it would be this type of ensemble.

The dress stands by itself in originality and line, and then there is the unusual little jacket, which is worn just above the pockets of the dress. And then the three-quarter coat, which is quite a different silhouette again, completes the outfit completely.

Cut out this sketch and take it to your dressmaker, or make it yourself.

• • • • •

'N' then, if you would like to see if you can make it yourself, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post next week and wait for the return of an illustrated leaflet, which tells you exactly how to go about it. You can make it in very inexpensive flannel, you see, and then of a more expensive tweed when you have had this practice.

Every well-dressed woman should have at least one simple black coat in her wardrobe! This is the opinion of a famous French couturier, and I am so much inclined to agree with him that I can even say that should a woman's "at least" one be the only one, it should be this simple black one.

For a black coat can be worn with any color in the world and be smart—with the possible exception of brown and navy blue. Furred for winter and not furred for summer. And unfurred for summer, it appears with so awfully many of the smart little dresses that Paris seems to delight in this spring.

• • • • •

Maybe you only have one fox fur, maybe more—but however many you have, you want to take care of them, don't you? So you will find out how to make a bag in which to hang a fox fur by simply sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope today for a leaflet giving you illustrations and detailed directions.

• • • • •

And tomorrow's the day again for you to look for the weekly Dare fashion letter in the big Sunday edition of The Washington Post.

Au revoir!

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"What Price Freedom."

DEAR MISS McDONALD: Will you kindly tell me what you think of my case? Probably I am wrong; I usually seem to be.

My husband and I have been married about two years and neither of us is very young. We find that we differ very decidedly on some subjects. Of course, I expected when I married that that would be the case, but I thought it was a normal state of affairs. There is one subject on which we disagree violently, and every time it comes up it means a fight, so I have tried to avoid it whenever possible. I think that if two people do not agree on a question and if discussing it means a quarrel, then that question should be left alone by both. I have tried to do that, but my husband thinks differently. He says that I should change my opinion to suit his. It is against all my principles of life to think differently on this particular subject than I do, so, of course, I will not say I will change my way of thinking. I do not ask him to change his. I simply ask him not to discuss it. But rather than leave it alone, and since I will not say I will change my ideas to suit his, he has left me. I admit this is a very trivial thing to break up a home about. I could very easily say that I thought differently, even though I do not, but he has an inclination to become irritated if I differ very greatly on any subject.

If I should give in to him now I do not see where it would end. I certainly would not be able to have any mind of my own in time. If we should have had any children they would never be able to respect a mother that did not dare open her mouth before her husband, and I would not be able to have the influence over them that would be necessary if they were to be trained as they should be. Either that or they would turn against their father, and either situation would be undesirable.

It is not my wish to break up the home, but I do not see how I could make one under the circumstances. He talks about getting a divorce. It may be only a bluff; I don't know. I certainly will not try to get one myself. I have not lost my love for him, but I can not really respect him when I feel he is acting like a spoiled baby. However, he says it is all my fault, and that he will not live with any one who holds the opinions I do. Do you think he is right? Should I change my ideas to suit his. He may try to come back, but I do not believe he will live with me again unless I say that I change my point of view to his.

I have a great deal of respect for your opinions, Miss McDonald, and please accept my thanks for any advice you give me. JANE.

I wish you might have felt you could trust me with the whole story, so that I might know the issue at stake. This is vital to an understanding of the situation. For instance, if some point of moral probity were involved, one might be able to comprehend a husband who felt that he must convert a wife to his convictions. However, on general principles, the adult who tries to think for himself and his neighbor is almost invariably a nit-wit, unqualified to think at all.

The sort of man who performs as your husband has is usually a poor citizen and an "inferior" type of man, the sort whose sole achievement in life is that he succeeded in getting some woman to consider him a man and marry him. Little, petty tyrants Let him go his way if that is his choice. He is less than a man, and considerably less than a husband.

This column is for you! Your experiences, opinions and suggestions will help all who read this page. Express your views and help those in need of advice. You need not sign your name.

What Today Means to You

"PISCES."

IF March 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 4:50 to 6 p. m., and from 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 6 a. m. to 9 a. m. and from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m.

A most unexpected surprise, which will bring happiness, is indicated for this date. Help and influence will be obtained from friends, which will be of both social and business benefit. Happy family relations.

The child born on this March 1 will absorb knowledge easily, and will be mentally ambitious. It will have great loyalty to friends or to any cause it may take up. It will accept responsibilities, but will not push itself forward.

You are full of energy and pep, but you are unduly sensitive and always ready to take offense, even when none is intended. This deprives you of many friendships and associations which might prove very valuable in your scheme of life. You are "touchy" to an extreme degree, and people who otherwise would be willing to help you are afraid of you, and let you severely alone.

You are a hard worker, possess vision without being visionary, have a keen mind and a very retentive memory. All these are valuable gifts, and if capitalized in the right manner would undoubtedly command success. What is lacking in your make-up is ability to become a "mixer," and personality.

Your disposition is sympathetic and your outlook on life is a broad one, so far as general issues are concerned; when, however, they assume a personal character, your views are distorted and you lose all sense of proportion.

Your home life does not promise to be redolent of much happiness, and in your family circle there will be an absence of confidence and frankness, as those who are near to you will always be afraid of hurting your feelings and wounding your susceptibilities.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

SUNSHINE AND RICKETS.

THE amount of exposure to good sunshine required to prevent a child from having rickets, or to cure one that has developed the disease, is not the same in any two places or at different seasons. Probably we may yet have reports from local health departments in which the local requirements of the home city are given by months.

While adults do not have rickets, they are interested, since the same quality of light which protects a child against rickets builds up the resistance of both adults and children to common colds, coughs, pneumonia and many other infectious diseases.

Tisdale and his associates have told us that twenty minutes a day of good midday sunshine is enough to protect Toronto children from rickets. In January two and a half hours of ideal midday sunshine are required for protection of Toronto children. On a practical basis this calls for three to four hours daily of January sunshine as it is in Toronto.

Janet Clark, working in Baltimore with the more modern methods and in the most scientific way, gives it as her conclusion that 10 minutes daily of high-grade midday Baltimore sunshine is enough in August. The amount of the same article in March is about one hour.

Dr. Clark finds that in Baltimore the sunshine is richest and best in August. It is worst about the middle of January. While she does not consider the proof as full as it might be, she considers that the determining factor is the amount of ozone in the very high stretches of the earth's atmosphere. Of course, clouds, rains, smoke and air dust modify the effectiveness of sunhine. Dr. J. R. Earp compared the sunshine of Boulder, Colo., with that of Baltimore The Boulder sunshine is about three times as rich in ultraviolet. The sunshine in Baltimore is of the best quality in late morning, in Boulder, in the early afternoon.

He also studied the sky shine of the two places comparatively. In Baltimore the sky shine was richest in August and poorest in January. The difference was great. In Boulder the sky shine was about the same quality at all seasons of the year.

During November of one year the records showed sky shine of exceptionally good quality. However, that was due to several heavy falls of very clean snow in that month.

IT'S AN OLD CUSTOM.

A. R. L. writes: Some acquaintances have for a number of years made a practice drinking daily before breakfast a full quart of warm water into which has been dissolved a teaspoonful more or less of ordinary table salt, which results very quickly and satisfactorily in the elimination so much desired without any apparent ill effect.

It is believed that this mild saline solution passes away with the waste matter without reaching the kidneys and without harmful results to the system. Will you be kind enough to express your opinion as to whether this custom may be continued indefinitely, without danger to the health of the individual?

REPLY.

This method of avoiding constipation has been in use some time. It has considerable authoritative backing.

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

ALTHOUGH Herbert Brenon, the director, was born in Dublin, Ireland, an even 50 years ago, I doubt if that has anything to do with his peculiar penchant for the exotic in picture making. That there is such a strain in his work you will find upon tracing his career through the records of distinguished achievement.

While only a comparative few of his pictures have dealt with foreign subjects and locales, those few seem, nevertheless, to have been the best things he has done. Back in the martial days of 1917, when Tom Moore owned the First National franchise in the Washington territory and the Strand and Columbia were the Capital's representative first-run theaters, I vividly recall the difficulties that surrounded the successful exploitation of Mr. Brenon's special production of "The Fall of the Romanoffs." The picture was a weird blending of historical fact—as nearly as it had been determined at that date—and imaginative melodrama that never threatened to smash any box-office records, but did manage to leave an harassing memory of Rasputin, the Black Monk, as played by an actor whose identity has completely evaded me, but whose makeup was disturbingly suggestive of Mr. Lackaye's "Svengali."

In the interim, of course, Mr. Brenon has revealed an expanded art in such recognized screen triumphs as "Beau Geste," "Sorrel and Son" and numerous others, until now he comes again to the Russian locale and atmosphere, but not with such regal trappings as the Romanoffs provided.

In "The Case of Sergeant Grischa"—pronounced "Grish-ah," with the accent on the first syllable, and not "Griss-ka"—current at the RKO-Keith Theater, Brenon has swung well away from the current trend of back-stage girl-and-music shows and has relied upon public interest in profound emotions and elemental passions to win favor for his picturization of the Arnold Zweig novel. That his estimate of public taste has not been ill-founded seems to be amply proved by the respectful consideration and long box-office lines that have greeted the film in all of the cities in which it has been shown.

This latest of Mr. Brenon's many successes, incidentally, chalks up another high mark on the growing list of accomplishments to be credited to Radio Pictures, one of the newcomers to the production field.

The disquieting rumor is again afloat that one of Washington's apparently hopelessly ill-starred theaters is again to give up the ghost at the end of the current week. It is my hope that the reports of its demise have been greatly exaggerated.

Another brief word from Mons. H. Wolf Kaufman, 5 Rue Boudreau, Paris, states that Richard Strauss, the eminent Viennese composer, recently in Monte Carlo to attend a final rehearsal of his "Egyptian Helena," also attended the Cafe de Paris the same evening and listened attentively to the program offered by Horace Heidt and his Californians.

Asked for his opinion of jazz music, and whether he enjoyed it, the maestro replied: "At times. As played by Europeans, no. As composed by Europeans, no. But this way, with this truly American spirit and movement," and he pointed toward the Californian group, "ah, this way it is certainly exceptional entertainment. You Americans——" Naturally, it wouldn't do to say too much!

But I wonder how he liked Lobo, the studious Teutonic shepherd?

In the interim, of course, Mr. Brenon has revealed an expanded art in such recognized screen triumphs as "Beau Geste," "Sorrel and Son" and numerous others, until now he comes again to the Russian locale and atmosphere, but not with such regal trappings as the Romanoffs provided.

In "The Case of Sergeant Grischa"—pronounced "Grish-ah," with the accent on the first syllable, and not "Griss-ka"—current at the RKO-Keith Theater, Brenon has swung well away from the current trend of back-stage girl-and-music shows and has relied upon public interest in profound emotions and elemental passions to win favor for his picturization of the Arnold Zweig novel. That his estimate of public taste has not been ill-founded seems to be amply proved by the respectful consideration and long box-office lines that have greeted the film in all of the cities in which it has been shown.

According to the Standard Statistics Co. of New York, current activity in the movie world is abreast of the record-breaking rate of 1929, and in view of the favorable nature of fundamental trade factors, the largest aggregate business the industry has ever experienced is to be looked for in 1930, according to a current survey.

Let there be cheering—and maybe bands and a firecracker!

Next week at the Earle it will be Nick Lucas, the singing guitar-twanger, in person.

And don't forget that this week at the Fox it's "Happy Days," the big one you've been hearing about.

At one of those gaudy Fourteenth street Chinese-American restaurants they are evidently shooting at a French menu and trying to make it a three-nation pack—if you know what I mean—by spelling it "Vegetab le soup!"

National High School Orchestra Plays Tonight

The National High School Orchestra, composed of more than 300 of the foremost high school musicians of the country, will give a concert at 8:45 o'clock tonight in Constitution Hall. The orchestra has just completed an engagement in Atlantic City during the educational convention.

The organization, composed of 217 boys and 100 girls, includes three Washington youths—Charles King, string bass; Martin Emerson, trombone, and William Tufts, organist. Senator and Mrs. Arthur Vandenberg are sponsors of the concert. Their daughter, Elizabeth, is pianist.

Bishop of Alaska To Arrive in City

Right Rev. P. T. Rowe and Indian Deacon to Stay Five Days.

The Right Rev. Peter Trimble Rowe, Bishop of Alaska, accompanied by his Indian deacon, the Rev. Paul Mather, in charge of St. Elizabeth's, Ketchikan, Alaska, will arrive in Washington Tuesday and will remain in the city until next Sunday.

Bishop Rowe will be the celebrant at Holy Communion in the Church of the Ascension on Tuesday. A quiet hour will follow, with meditations given by the Rev. Robert Johnston. Bishop Rowe will give the missionary address Tuesday afternoon at the regular diocesan monthly meeting of the church.

Bishop Rowe will be the guest of honor at a dinner on Wednesday in Epiphany Parish Hall. The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, will be present. A rural missionary meeting will be held Friday in Trinity Chapel, Hughesville, Md., for the benefit of the visiting bishop. A missionary service will be held next Sunday afternoon in St. Mark's Church, Third and A streets southeast. Bishop Rowe will make his final address at this time.

Could Write a Book About It

"Nine years ago after my little girl was born dead, I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about four months. The next year I became the mother of a fine 11 pound baby boy. After he was born, I kept on with the medicine to build me up. Four months ago I was nervous and rundown and suffered from other troubles which I knew Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would relieve so I started taking it and now I feel fine again. Many of my friends could write a book on the good the Vegetable Compound has done them."—Mrs. W. GIGLI IS APPLAUDED IN CAPITAL CONCERT

Metropolitan Star Scores in Delightful Program of Varied Numbers.

PIANIST GAINS IN FAVOR

Beniamino Gigli, Metropolitan Opera star, assisted by Margaret Shotwell, pianist, gave a concert at Poli's Theater yesterday afternoon, under the local management of Mrs. Wilson-Greene.

The renowned tenor's program was colorful and varied. Operatic arias, ballads and a generous supply of encores kept the audience constantly applauding.

In his opening number, an aria from "L'Elisir d'Amore," by Donizetti, the tenor brought out new beauties from the familiar score. Vocal loveliness and a tenderness of expression were exhibited in Liszt's "Lieberstraum" and "Un Reve" by Grieg was so well received that it took two encores for Gigli to satisfy his audience.

The audience was also greatly pleased with the air "Then You'll Remember Me," from Balfe's "Bohemian Girl" in which the tenor's accent lent added charm to his excellent rendition. He concluded his portion of the program with an aria from "Luisa Miller," by Verdi.

Margaret Shotwell, of attractive personality, appeared versed in the technical requirements of the two solos she played, but "The Hungarian Rhapsody" registered higher in favor than did the "Blue Danube" waltz.

There will be an official business meeting following the luncheon.

Fifth Ave. Fashions NEW YORK

A most attractive frock in printed crepe silk in brown and yellowish beige tones, that is so appropriate for general daytime occasions, is sketched in Style No. 8205.

The clever placement of horizontal tucks at front of the long-waisted bodice gives a proportionate balance which lends beauty and grace to an entirely new silhouette for spring.

The collarless neckline in comfortable open V-shape has a pert trimming piece knotted at center. The long dart-fitted sleeves have corresponding trimming pieces at wrists, which choose plain crepe in brown tone.

This serviceable model comes in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. In the medium size, it takes but 3¼ yards of 39-inch material with ¼ yard of 32-inch contrasting.

The front of the bodice is cut along the perforated lines at the underarm edges. The upper edges are gathered and joined to the lower edges which creates the blousing above and hip-band effect below. The pin tucks at front of the bodice are stitched on the reverse side. It's very simple and made at a small outlay.

All patterns of Lucille Lorraine styles are 15 cents each. Mail your order to our Fashion Department, Washington Post, 259 Fifth avenue, New York City. Be sure to write your name and address clearly and give the number and size of the pattern.

CHURCH SERVICE SET BY NAVY SPONSORS

Bishop Freeman Will Preach in Bethlehem Chapel Tomorrow.

OTHER RITES SCHEDULED

Featuring services in Washington churches tomorrow will be the second annual patriotic service of the Society of Sponsors of the United States Navy, which will be held in the Bethlehem Chapel of Washington Cathedral at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, will preach the sermon. A number of other patriotic organizations will join with the Society of Sponsors in attending the service. The service will be broadcast over station WRC.

Bishop Freeman will officiate at the confirmation of a class at Grace Episcopal Church at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. The class will be presented to Bishop Freeman by the rector of the church, the Rev. Meade Bolton MacBryde.

Jubilee Service Planned.

The tenth anniversary of Holy Rosary Church will be observed tomorrow with appropriate exercises. A solemn high mass will be sung at 10:30 o'clock by the Right Rev. Mgr. Filippo Bernardini, dean of canon law at Catholic University.

A novena of grace in honor of St. Francis Xavier will begin Tuesday at 7:30 o'clock at St. James' Catholic Church. The Rev. J. Edward Malloy will deliver a sermon at the devotions each evening.

The Rev. John Weidley will observe his twenty-fourth anniversary as pastor of the Reformation Lutheran Congregation tomorrow. He will preach at morning and evening services.

Christian Endeavor Meeting.

The March meeting of the District Christian Endeavor Union will be held Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Rhode Island Methodist Protestant Church. The meeting will be under the auspices of the world peace committee of the Crusade with Christ Commission of the District of Columbia. The speaker of the evening will be Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War.

The sixtieth anniversary of the celebration of the Adas Israel Congregation at the Sixth Street Synagogue will conclude tonight with a banquet.

Campaign Will Close.

The evangelistic campaign by the Rev. Ben Hardin, of Chicago, which has been in progress for three weeks at the Full Gospel Tabernacle, will close tomorrow with farewell services at 11 o'clock and 7:30 o'clock.

Dr. F. Boyd Edwards, headmaster of Mercersburg Academy, will be the speaker tomorrow morning at the Howard University religious service in Andrew Rankin Chapel.

The annual day of prayer for missions will be observed by the Women's Council of the Federation of Churches next Friday, March 7. The services will be held in the Luther Place Church. Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, of Boston, will be the principal speaker.

Persian Minister Tells Of Change in Currency

The Imperial Persian Government has decided to change its monetary system from the silver to the gold standard, according to an announcement yesterday by Mirza Davoud Khan Meftah, Persian Minister. The reason for the change is the fluctuation of silver on the world market.

Until the shift is made, the Persian Parliament has passed a law giving the Persian government authority to supervise the buying and selling of all foreign currency in Persia.

Flower Speaks at Catholic U.

Landon School Five Wins in Final Game

The Landon School Five closed its season yesterday by winning a close, hard-fought game from the Sherwood High Team, of Sandy Spring, 11 to 8, on the Landon court. Close guarding featured the game from start to finish. The losers were unable to score in the final quarter after setting the early pace. Sherwood had previously defeated Landon at Sandy Spring, 42 to 21.

Sherwood led the way at intermission on the long end of the 4-to-3 count. Landon overcame the slight handicap soon after the second half started and gained the margin of victory in the last quarter. Baker and Nicholson starred for the rival teams.

FORMER BALL PLAYER DEAD.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Feb. 28 (Special).—Robert Conaway, 53, for years a star first baseman in professional baseball, died today at his home in North Shinnston after a few days' illness of pneumonia. In later years he mined coal. Several sons and daughters survive.

Ollie Pacini Victor In Italian Pin Event

Ollie Pacini's 1248 total earned him first money in the Italian duckpin sweepstakes which was completed last night. Frank Maley took down second prize and Niva Bonbrest finished third.

LOU MAGNOLIA WOULD TAKE ON SCOTT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Special to The Washington Post.

MIAMI, Feb. 28.—The blurry outcome of the Sharkey-Scott prize fight has aroused acrimonious feelings between the sportsmen of both parties, but due to some queer prank of sucker psychology the customers who paid cash for their seats do not seem to consider themselves defrauded.

The Garden Corporation lost money, probably no less than $50,000, and Jack Sharkey, fighting on a straight percentage basis, lost a paper profit of perhaps $25,000, for his share of the gate receipts is estimated at about $40,000 whereas, in their first optimism over the midwinter production in the loafing ground of the idle well-to-do and the idle ne'er-do-wells, the garden probably would have agreed to pay him at least $65,000 if he had elected to demand a guarantee.

Lou Magnolia, the referee, and James J. Johnston, owner of the American rights of Fainting Phillip, indulged in hot personal insults in several encounters today, notably on the lawn before the Dade Hotel, the Garden Corporation's chartered press lazarette, where Magnolia, rising to ecstactic wrath finally shouted that Scott was yellow and offered to fight him, free style, to a finish, in a cellar for a side bet of $25,000.

Asks 15 Minutes to Finish Philip.

"I will give away 20 pounds of weight and bet every dollar I have that within 15 minutes I will walk out of the cellar and that Phil Scott won't be able to crawl."

It may be worth nothing in this connection that there are no cellars in this region, all houses being set on concrete stilts with mere air chambers beneath them.

Magnolia made an ambiguous explanation of his ruling as to the blow which put Scott down the third time in round three when he, Magnolia, called an intermission in the fighting. He said the punch which felled Philip just then was a low blow but not a foul, landing on the outer side of the right leg. It was no foul, he insisted, because Johnston, before the fight had stipulated that Philip must not be awarded the fight on any such ground.

I believe Mr. Johnston did say something of the kind a few days ago but only to hearten the discouraged patrons who were holding aloof from the box offices, unwilling to buy tickets because of Phil's tendency to claim technical fouls. I am sure he did not wish to be taken literally and thus waive the slightest legal right for he is a garrulous prizering lawyer, insisting on his full due always.

Bout Was Handled Wretchedly.

Magnolia's admission that Scott was hit low, naturally discredits all his conduct in the ring subsequent to this punch and also discredits Sharkey's victory but there is no logic or sequence in the prize fight business and in the long run, Sharkey probably will be considered to have won according to the verdict.

The gist of the matter is that the fight was wretchedly handled by the referee. He was in a bad position at best, solicitous for the customers who would have been vexed if Scott had won on a low blow that was invisible to most of the crowd and suspicious of Scott's courage. Scott went down and refused to rise and Magnolia, instead of counting over him momentarily seemed to rule Sharkey out for fouling. He waved him back and made no gesture of stroking off the seconds.

Jack ran to his corner and let himself go in a disgraceful tantrum of rage. I heard amid the ripe profanity of his outcries, several references to the forfeiture of his money and therefore judge that Magnolia, at least, challenged the legality of the punch, for it had been expressly agreed that in case of a foul, the offending gladiator's purse should be held up, subject to confiscation at the local prize fight commission's discretion.

Magnolia Again Guilty Of Erratic Work.

When Scott finally resigned in a loose attitude on the ropes, Magnolia again was guilty of erratic administration for he should either have stopped the fight to spare Philip unnecessary punishment in his defense-

TITLE-SEEKING TEAMS FLOCK INTO TOURNEY, FILLING ALL CLASSES

Eleven Girls' Teams Entered; All Classes Well Filled.

AN imposing entry list was filed last night for the first annual District Amateur Athletic Union basket ball tournament to be held under the auspices of The Washington Post, starting March 10. A list of 85 teams, embracing the strongest combinations to be found in the various classifications in the District and adjacent territory, were found eligible when entries closed last midnight.

Forty-three teams filed registration applications for competition in three boys' classes and the two women's divisions, holding the pace set by 41 unlimited and 145-pound class men's teams, which filed entries a month ago.

Officials indicated that a few additional teams will probably be added to the list with the arrival of today's mail.

Array of Teams Is Impressive.

The array of teams now awaiting the start of the annual championship hostilities is probably the most representative group ever to declare District championship aspirations. College and high school players will be battling with and against the pick of the independent ranks. All of the nearby sections of Virginia and Maryland will be represented by formidable teams in all classes, planning to match baskets with the best the District ranks have produced.

The 130-pound class takes rank next to the unlimited men's division in number of entries. Sixteen teams plan to risk the ravages of the elimination tourney to prove their supremacy. Several are all-star schoolboy combinations, others were drafted from the cream of the independent players, while others have been campaigning since last fall with eyes focused on the District title.

Out-of-Town Teams in 100-Pound Class.

A classic field was attracted to the 100-pound division. This group is probably the most representative of the section. Five Capital quintets will vie with the Knights Midgets of Alexandria, the Charlottesville Fives, the Shipley Midgets, of Alexandria, and the Raymond Riordan School Team of New York City.

Eight contenders are included in the 115-pound class. The five outstanding women's unlimited teams will do battle for honors and six junior girls' combinations are entered in the younger division.

Registration officials will begin today the task of mailing registration cards to all eligible applicants. Plans for weighing players registered for the weight division next week will be made today. The selection of the scene of the tournament is also expected to be made within the next few days.

Tech Quintet Beats C. U. Yearlings, 30-29

The Tech High School Basket Ball Team, warming up for the University of Pennsylvania Tournament, defeated the Catholic University Freshmen last night in the Tech Gym by a 30-29 score in a thrilling battle. By its victory, Tech evened accounts for the season with the Cardinal Cubs, who won 38-36 in an earlier clash. Everett Russell led Tech's scorers with 7 points.

17th Straight Defeat Suffered by C. U. Five

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Feb. 28.—Fordham had no difficulty defeating the Catholic University Five tonight by a 55-to-17 score. It was the twelfth victory of the season for the Maroon and the seventeenth straight defeat for C. U. Zaliski and Red Weisse starred for Fordham, the former scoring 15 and the latter 13 points. The score at half-time was 31 to 7.

In the second half Weiss and Mulligan did most of Fordham's scoring after Marcutti had made a field goal for the visitors. Toward the end of the game Fordham substitutes were inserted and the Washington quintet took advantage by running their total up to 17 points. Peifer made himself prominent with some nice shots.

Tilden and Coen Beat French Pair in 5 Sets

Monte Carlo, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—In a resumption of Franco-American tennis warfare, Bill Tilden and his youthful Kansas City protege, Wilbur F. Coen, jr., today defeated the young French combination of Christian Boussus and Rene Debuzelet in the semifinals of the Butler Cup tournament by scores of 6—4, 4—6, 5—7, 6—3, 6—4.

The Americans thus qualified to meet Henry Austin and Charles Kingsley, a strong British team of former college players, in the final round tomorrow. Austin once captained the Cambridge University forces and Kingsley led the Oxford Team. Austin is England's outstanding player.

Tilden, the American singles champion, and Coen, now the eighth ranking player in the United States, were given a great battle by their French opponents, but came back strong after trailing at one set to two at the intermission.

Miss Van Wie to Face Detroit Ace in Finals

Ormond Beach, Fla., Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Miss Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, and Mrs. Stewart Hanley, of Detroit, will meet here tomorrow in the finals of the South Atlantic Women's Golf Tournament.

Miss Van Wie defeated Marion Bennet, New Britain, Conn., 4 and 2, in their semifinal match here today. Miss Van Wie played two fives on the final two holes to set a new course record of 73 for women. The old record was 74.

Mrs. Hanley, who provided a great upset yesterday in eliminating Miss Maureen Orcutt, metropolitan champion, easily vanquished Miss Ruth Replogle, Oklahoma City champion, today, 6 and 5.

Garden Lists Sharkey and Schmeling

By ALAN GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Jack Sharkey, no matter how much his technical knockout victory over Phil Scott may be disputed, will fight Max Schmeling, the clouting German, at the Yankee Stadium, probably on June 26, in a fifteen-round bout to decide the world's heavyweight championship.

Frank J. Bruen, general manager of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, in the midst of checking up the extent of the financial fiasco of last night's show, made this announcement today to confirm previous plans and dispose of rumors that Sharkey, because of his poor showing against Scott, might be required to engage in another test bout, possibly against Tuffy Griffiths.

At the same time, Bruen stated emphatically that Scott had fought his last fight in this country so far as the garden corporation is concerned. The British champion was accepted reluctantly for the match, because of his reputation for figuring in fouls and his lack of color and drawing power. Bruen considers that his showing last night was "the last straw."

Was a Good Show, Garden Thinks.

"We took it on the chin, financially, to put this show on," declared Bruen. "Regardless of the argument and disappointment aroused by the main event, I still think it was a good show. No matter what else happened, we disposed of Scott and the way now is clear to establish a recognized world's champion by early summer.

"Not since the 'long count' controversy following the last Dempsey-Tunney fight in Chicago has any heavyweight fight aroused such bitter argument as Sharkey's victory, in the third round, after Scott had claimed foul and continued only after being given a minute's rest by Referee Lou Magnolia.

Referee Upheld by Commission.

Jimmy Johnston, Scott's American manager, filed a formal protest with the Miami Boxing Commission today and said he would remain here for a hearing on Monday. This was regarded as purely a gesture, however, for Chairman Lou MacReynolds made the flat statement that the commission unanimously upheld Magnolia's decision. Since it was a question of judgment and not rules there appeared no alternative but to regard the verdict as final.

Magnolia, quizzed by newspapermen, flatly declared he saw no blow struck which he regarded as foul or as cause for the disqualification of Sharkey. He hotly denied the statement of Johnston that he (Magnolia) twice motioned to disqualify Sharkey for hitting low.

"Scott was not fouled," said Magnolia. "I warned Sharkey once and was sharply on the lookout for any foul punches. The blow on which Scott claimed foul and collapsed was a glancing punch off the hip bone. I called the halt to give Scott the benefit of any doubt, but chiefly because of the understanding beforehand with Johnston that he did not want 'my Phil' to win on a foul. Johnston wanted to be consulted, and I did so, as we carried Scott to his corner. Then I told Scott he had to go on or lose. He said he felt able to 'carry on.'

"Later, when he was struck squarely in the pit of the stomach by a left hook, and started to sag, I asked him

PENN CHOICE TONIGHT IN MEET

Special to The Washington Post.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The University of Pennsylvania tonight was a pronounced favorite to take the indoor intercollegiate track and field championship from New York University tomorrow night when the best of the East's college athletes clash in the annual meet.

On the outer fringe of favoritism stand three other teams—Harvard, New York U and Georgetown—eager to snatch upon doubtful points that the Quakers may drop or take advantage of scattered entries who may cut into the Penn point total. Besides these, no other college constitutes a threat with the possible exception of Yale.

Georgetown's worst fears were realized today with the announcement in Washington that Karl Wildermuth, intercollegiate outdoor sprint champion, who was counted on for many points in both the sprints and the broad jump, would be unable to compete. Wildermuth has not yet recovered from a recurrence of a leg injury suffered in a race with Jack Elder here January 19.

Berlinger Is Penn's Star.

Penn's favoritism is based on the all-around ability of Barney Berlinger, brilliant sophomore, who has as his chief rival for individual honors Leo Sexton, of Georgetown. Berlinger is expected to score the pole vault and is conceded great chances in the high jump, broad jump and shot put while Sexton is the chief threat in the high jump; is the 35-pound weight champion and also expected to score in the shot put.

Also in the relays is Georgetown well fortified with a 2-mile team composed of Jay Julicher, Jack Mara, John Downing and Jim Kelley which appears the best of the field and a 1-mile team comprising Chuck Carlin, Lewis Ricca, Vic Burke and Artie Briggs that appears to have only Holy Cross to beat out for first place.

Points in the hurdles may be picked up by Eric Kjellstrom of Georgetown and the Hilltoppers also may add points to Sexton's total in the weights with Parlette and Slezak competing. Canning and Bonnjwell also will be striving for points in the high jump.

New York University will not present as strong a front as last year, having lost Phil Edwards, star half-miler and Fred Veith, who ran on both crack relay teams. The Violets have potential individual champions, however, in Sol Furth, broad jump and hurdle star, and Dave Meyers, colored weight man.

British Press Denounces Victory Awarded Sharkey

LONDON, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—There were few in London today who had a good word for the Sharkey-Scott fight decision in Miami last night.

One of them was Ted Broadrib, widely known referee, who had this to say of Lou Magnolia, the fight arbiter, in the Evening News:

"I have seen Magnolia control several fights, and in my opinion he is a good referee and a man who won't be bluffed."

In general, however, the newspapers dealt in fire and brimstone—especially the evening papers. The morning journals could carry no more than a few lines of the result, but their afternoon colleagues were strong in condemning the decision which gave Sharkey a technical knockout when Scott claimed he had been fouled.

Scott Deliberately Robbed, Is Cable.

Fred Dartnell, the Star's boxing expert, cabled from Miami: "I consider that Scott was deliberately robbed of the decision."

The Evening News asserts that many American sporting writers agree the blow which gave Sharkey victory was a foul. Its famous sporting cartoonist, Tom Webster, who is at Miami, said: "Although our Phil never looked like winning, he should have had the verdict on a foul."

Scott's English manager was reported in the News as saying: "Scott has failed in his attempt to bring back to Britain the world's heavyweight championship, but his failure will be a blot on American boxing history which will never be erased."

Another interview reported in the same paper is that with J. W. H. T. Douglas, one of England's best-known sportsmen, who declares: "The idea of a minute's rest is all balderdash. Either Scott was beaten or he was fouled. To give him rest, then ask him to continue, was inviting trouble and criticism."

Disgusting Spectacle, Says Editorial.

The Star said editorially that the fight was no exhibition of skill but "a disgusting, degrading spectacle which can only do such a fine, healthy sport as boxing is when con-

Garden Lost $50,000 Fight Figures Reveal

The loss to the Madison Square Garden Corporation was estimated at $50,000 but may run as high as $75,000.

Sharkey, received 25 per cent, drew $40,000 for his share as compared with $100,000 he received for his victory over young Stribling a year ago. Scott, getting 20 per cent, drew $32,000. The guarantees to preliminary boxers totaled $52,000, with $10,000 each going to the semifinalists Johnny Risko and Vittorio Campolo.

Johnson Likes Enthusiasm At Camp

Catcher Phelps and Pitcher Pyle Draw Attention.

By FRANK H. YOUNG

(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

President Clark Griffith's tightening up of the purse string in doling out contracts for 1930 has just the opposite effect from what might be expected. Instead of some players pouting, all seemed to be determined to show the Nats' bosses that they are deserving, the result being that all are going about their work with a vim and pulling together like the crew in a well-trained boat.

"Sad Sam" Jones, for instance, always a hard man to talk to when it comes to discussing salary terms, was one of the spryest of the Nats in this morning's second workout. And this goes for Pitchers Fred Marberry and Irving Hadley and Catcher Muddy Ruel.

Hadley Takes Work More Seriously.

Hadley, like Jones, was forced to take a salary cut, with the opportunity of getting back the money lopped off in bonus form if he delivers the goods this season. He has listened to lectures on dieting, training, sleeping, idling and just plain resting by President Griffith, Manager Johnson and Trainer Mike Martin, has taken them with good grace and gives the impression of being more serious in his endeavors than ever before.

Naturally, no line can be gotten on any of the rookies until after they have limbered up their muscles and had several more days of training under their belts, but already a bit of constructive baseball is being done.

Catcher Gordon Phelps it seems, impressed Manager Johnson not a little with his slugging ability when getting a tryout in Washington last fall. He showed power with the willow, knocking two over the right field fence in one day's practice there. He catches with his fingers widely separated, laying himself open to broken and split hands at all times. Coach Patsy Gharrity has been assigned the task of correcting this fault, and the first lesson was taught at this morning's drill.

Group of Veterans Due Today.

The squad here will be enlarged by three and possibly four players tomorrow. In addition to Ossie Bluge and Joe Judge, word has been received from Hot Springs that Outfielder Sam Rice will be here. Sam West with his newly acquired bride also is expected by President Griffith, who suddenly decided that it might be a good idea to have Outfielder Emile Barnes here too, and wired for him to show up in time for Moday's drill.

Pitcher Herbert Pyle went through his first motions of working out this morning. He is another young giant, being 6 feet 3 inches tall, and weighing 195. He is but 23 years of age. He graduated from the Karnes City, Tex., sandlots in 1927, going to the Mission Club of the Texas Valley League.

Chattanooga bought him and he performed with the Lookouts in 1928 and 1929, being won by the Nationals in the fall baseball lottery. He started off well with Chattanooga last season, winning his first three games but lost his next four, although five hits was the most allowed in any of them. He only had a fair season thereafter, mixing relief and regular assignments and ending with a record of nine victories and sixteen defeats.

Inside Baseball Involved.

As the Nats are interested in the Chattanooga Club, it is possible that their claiming of Pyle was a smart move by President Griffith to prevent any other club drafting other Chattanooga talent, for under the rules, only one player may be drafted from any one class A club. Irrespective of the reason for Pyle being here, however, he will be given every opportunity to make good, for capable pitchers do not grow on trees and the Nats need one or two more if they hope to get anywhere in the coming race.

McLarnin 7-5 Choice To Defeat Mandell

Chicago, Feb. 29 (A.P.).—Jimmy McLarnin, the baby-faced welterweight puncher, and Sammy Mandell, world lightweight champion, will resume their pugilistic feud at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night, with McLarnin at 7-to-5 favorite.

They will meet in a ten-round bout at 145 pounds, with prospect that the match will be witnessed by 15,000 spectators, and producing a gate of around $60,000. These rivals have met twice before. In their first engagement, a lightweight championship battle fought in New York eighteen months ago, Mandell scored a decisive victory. McLarnin, however, got even by handing the Rockford sheik a neat pasting in their last encounter, at the stadium last fall.

Baltimore Man Gains U. S. Handball Finals

St. Louis, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—Alfred Banuet, of the Olympic A. C., San Francisco, 1929 national A. A. U. singles handball champion, won his semifinal match today from Joe Powers, of the Los Angeles A. C., to reach the finals of the 1930 tournament. Banuet won in straight sets, 21-7 and 21-19.

The defending champion will meet George Nelson, of Baltimore, in an East-West final here tomorrow night. Nelson became a finalist today by defeating Albert Hobelman, also of Baltimore, 21-10 and 21-14.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 28 (A.P.).—The Duke University Blue Devils, finalists last year and the favorites to win the Southern Conference Basket Ball Tournament which opened today, scored an impressive 43-34 victory in their debut against Louisiana State.

Duke was hard pressed in the free-scoring first half, but led at the intermission, 26 to 21. In the second half, Bill Werber, sharp-shooting guard, led a brilliant offensive and Duke steadily gained a safe margin. Joe Croson, sensational center, who, it was thought would be unable to play as a result of an infected lip, was in the Duke lineup and scored three field goals. Werber accounted for six two-pointers.

Maryland University met disaster tonight in its debut against the Wildcats from Kentucky, losing a 26-21 decision and suffering elimination.

Berger Stars for Maryland.

The game was bitterly fought from the outset with Kentucky holding a 12-6 lead at the half and maintaining virtually this margin to the end. Berger's shooting kept Maryland in the running throughout. He scored five field goals. Both teams missed frequently.

Virginia's two teams, which played this afternoon, show a victory and a defeat, Washington and Lee eliminating Mississippi, 33-29, in an overtime battle, and V. M. I. losing to Tennessee, 28-20.

Washington and Lee's Generals nosed out the University of Mississippi cagers, 33 to 29 in an overtime period, after the two teams had finished the regular period deadlocked at 28-all. The Oxford boys made a great comeback in the final half after finishing the first period six points behind.

Alabama Routs Clemson.

Alabama's Crimson cagers, the only team to finish the season undefeated, had little trouble turning back the Clemson basketeers here this afternoon, 31 to 22, in their first round contest in the Southern Conference basket ball tournament. Alabama had an 18-to-7 lead at the half.

Tennessee defeated Virginia Military Institute, 28 to 20, in a listless game of the afternoon program of the Southern Conference Basket Ball Tournament. The volunteers led at the half intermission, 15 to 11.

Sewanee's purple clad cage warriors sprung the first surprise of the 1930 Southern Conference Basket Ball Tournament by turning back North Carolina State, defending champions, 25 to 19, in the opening game here this afternoon. The North Carolina Sharpshooters were held to two field goals during the first half, while Sewanee was rolling up six to lead at the half 16 to 7.

Als A. C. Sextet Beats S. Atlantic Champions

The Als Athletic Club Sextet, aspirants to the District championship in the A. A. U. tournament, last night defeated the Towson All-Stars, of Baltimore, South Atlantic A. A. U. champions, in a thrilling extra-period encounter at Wilson Normal School, 22 to 21.

The Als led at the half, 9 to 5, but stellar shooting by Miss Brookhart brought the teams to even terms. The shot of Jewell Douglas in the overtime period gained the decision for the Als, who will meet the Jewish Community Center Sextet Tuesday at Wilson Normal School.

St. John's Five Extends Ben Franklin Quintet

St. John's Quint lost a heart-breaking decision to Benjamin Franklin University last night in their gym, 39 to 38, in a battle that required a 5-minute extra period. This defeat marks only the second time that the Cadets have been beaten in their gym this season. At half-time, the Saints held a 19 to 16 advantage, but at the end of the regulation time the Accountants had evened the count at 36-all.

Max Ryan, stellar guard of the victors, decided this thrilling encounter with a successful toss from the foul stripe. Due to lack of substitutes, the Vermont avenue lads allowed the Accountants to return to the game a player, after four personal fouls had been called.

Mays Beats Gallagher; Slowed by Low Punch

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, N. Y., Feb. 28.—Marty Gallagher, a promising, but somewhat awkward young heavyweight of Washington, lost a decision to Harold Mays, rough, tough Bayonne, N. J., veteran in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Gallagher gave Mays a pasting in the first round, the Bayonne stevedore finding it difficult to keep out of range of Marty's booming right. After that Mays began to solve the Washington kid's style and did very well by himself until the fourth, when he lost much caste with the audience by hitting Gallagher low. The punch was palpably bad and hurt Gallagher, but he had no desire to pull a Scott and continued after readjusting his protector.

CENTRAL AND WESTERN IN PENN TOURNEY DEBUT

District Fives In Action Today

Central vs. Stroudsburg; Western vs. Pleasantville.

Tech Makes Debut in Tournament Monday at Philly.

CENTRAL and Western, the latter making its bow in Penn Tournament play, will play their first games in the Pennsylvania basket ball classic today. Central, experienced in similar tournaments of the past, will inaugurate the play of the local fives, when it meets Stroudsburg in the Palestra at noon, while Western will wait until 4 o'clock before making its debut before Northern fans against the Pleasantville High School Quintet.

Tech, interhigh champion and the third local team entered, will not play until Monday when it meets the Freehold High Five, of New Jersey.

Although little is known of the rivals of the Capital's entrants, there is little doubt but that Central, Western, and Tech will make good showings before the gaze of Pennsylvania fans. The men of Coach Coggins, to whom the tournament is no new thing, look especially sweet to repeat the successes of former years in the 1930 event. Although failing to win the interhigh championship after an auspicious start, the Blue and White Five impressed with its coolness under fire and its consistent play.

Central Has Cool Combination.

With that same calmness, Central may be favored in the midst of the general excitement and strain of tournament play, which so often proves the undoing of otherwise great teams. Knowing what it is all about, however, the Mount Pleasant team is not apt to become flustered once the action gets under way. Led by Wilbur Cross, who refuses to become confused over any event, the Blue and White line-up includes similar players who may be banked upon in time of stress.

Lampson, Parkins, Farhood and Brandt more or less resemble the level-headedness of their captain. Lampson proved one of the outstanding guards of the series, while Brandt, inserted to the center post at the fag end of the season, has shown potential ability in his first year at the sport.

With those two pillars of strength, Thompson and Freeman, Western will enter the classic with hopes of accomplishing that which it was unable to do in the interhigh series. Possessing one of the best rounded clubs of the schools, the Red and White was nevertheless unable to win more than half of its games in the championship races.

It is said that throughout the season, the Western team banked too much on each game, playing as if for life and death in every instance.

At present, however, the Western players are regarding the tournament contest as just "more games" and are intent upon keeping in that frame of mind throughout their play at Philadelphia.

Everett Buscher is likely to pair off with Thompson at the other forward post, while Rabbitt and Paul Chatlen will take their regular places at guard for the opener this afternoon.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SHINING, $80.60, $22.70, $15.70; MARDIE, $11.00, $10.00; PEACE JIMMY, $5.20.

SHINING, away fast and saving ground entering the stretch, headed MARDIE and outfinished the latter in game fashion. MARDIE broke well and, after losing ground rounding into the stretch, finished resolutely. PEACE JIMMY went forwardly all the way and had no mishaps. ZINN was away in a tangle and could never reach contention. DOWNPOUR was away poorly. LITTLE LOVE stumbled and lost her rider shortly after the break.

SECOND RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:32½. Off at 2:33. Winner, O. Reid's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—COMMAND, $26.90, $13.60, $5.40; PRETTY RUN, $4.50, $3.40; COLONEL CAMPUS, $3.20.

COMMAND, pacing into the lead at once displayed the most speed in pacemaking and, continuing well under energetic handling in the final drive, held PRETTY RUN safe. The latter, taken completely out of it at the break, lost ground rounding the first turn, but moved up gradually thereafter and, after an additional loss of ground turning for home, finished in resolute fashion under weak handling. COLONEL CAMPUS had no mishaps. KAJABA weakened in the final stages. KNOW ME GNOME tired.

THIRD RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:02½. Off at 3:05. Winner, L. M. Emery's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—LOWER FIVE, $39.90, $17.20, 47.00; REVOLVER, $4.70, $3.80; SLY POLLY, $2.80.

LOWER FIVE, reserved close up through the early stages, moved up when the leaders went wide and, taking the lead, drew out handily. REVOLVER, fractious at the barrier, was off well and displayed good speed in pacemaking, but weakened in the final drive after losing ground. SLY POLLY, outrun early, closed a gap in the final quarter. JIM BELL, closed ground.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; claiming. The Imperial Shoe Store Trophy. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:37. Winner, Miss Blanche Watson's br. f. (3), by Sweep—Lady Eastman. Trained by J. R. Schuster. Value to winner, $750; second, $150; third, $75; fourth, $25. Time, 0:24, 0:49 2-5, 1:16 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—JEAN, $8.20, $4.20, $3.20; MASTER SAMOVER, $6.80, $3.70; SWEET CHANCE, $5.80.

JEAN, going in her best form, took the lead at the break and easily led to the stretch, where she lasted to outfinish MASTER SAMOVER. The latter, a forward factor throughout, finished well. SWEET CHANCE saved ground turning for home and closed ground.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,000; allowances. The Bauerlin, Inc. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start poor. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:03. Off at 4:08. Winner, M. Two-dollar mutuels paid—TURQUOISE, $10.70, $4.60, $3.00; HAPPY HANLY, $4.30, $3.30; HAYMAKER, $3.20.

TURQUOISE, reserved a short distance off the early pace, moved up stoutly in the stretch and, under powerful handling, was just up in time. HAPPY HANLY moved into the lead approaching the half-mile pole but, being slightly in the drive. HAYMAKER, eased back and reserved to the stretch, tired under punishment in the final drive. KEYDET had no mishaps. ROYAL OMAR tired and was eased up.

STOCK PRICES RISE AS TURNOVER SAGS

COMMODITIES IN RALLY

New York, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—The line of the least resistance proved to be decidedly upward in today's stock market. Efforts of the bear faction to unsettle the list during the morning met with scant success. Speculators for the rise took the market in hand during the afternoon and sent shorts rushing to cover.

The forward movement was somewhat selective, but more than a score of issues reached new high levels for 1930, many gains running from 2 to 6 points, with a few even wider. The index of 90 leading stocks rose 1½ points to within less than a point of its high of the year, reached two weeks ago.

Despite rather unimpressive business and trade reports, the market's recent resistance to bear pressure has converted many traders, previously skeptical, to the bull side. Driving in of shorts, however, proves the most successful way of sending stocks higher, for public buying still fails to be attracted in any volume. Today's sales of 3,209,510 shares were a little lower than yesterday's. The fact that the public has been a negligible factor in the market of late has made bearish operations difficult, however, as stocks appear to be in the hands of traders not easily stampeded into selling.

Trade Reviews Unimpressive.

The week-end business and trade reviews appearing today indicated that conditions still remain spotty, weakness of commodity markets having had a somewhat retarding influence. It was pointed out, however, that farm implement manufacturers are reporting large sales, which was interpreted as evidence that speculators rather than farmers have been principal losers in the gyrations of the grain markets. Bradstreet's weekly food price index was reported at the lowest level recorded since January, 1922.

Sears Roebuck's sales report for the second month of its 13-month calendar showed an increase of only 3 1-5 per cent over the like period of last year, despite the fact that some 80 new stores were opened during the year. At the annual meeting of Montgomery Ward, President Everitt described business conditions as "less favorable than we would like to see them" but expressed confidence in the organization's ability to increase profits during the year. The plan of acquisition of Kraft Phenix by National Dairy was announced, and contained the rather unusual feature of the partial exchange of debentures for Kraft stock, perhaps reflecting the changed public appetite for securities.

Westinghouse-Electric Gains.

Utility and electrical equipment stocks were at the forefront of the advance. Westinghouse Electric mounted 6 points, North American 5, American Water Works 4, American Power & Light and American Telephone, more than 3, all to new highs for the year. Several low-priced specialties again reflected bullish operations. Crex Carpet jumped 6 points to a new 1930 peak above 22, and Associated Dry Goods, Bendix Aviation, Borg Warner, Brunswick-Balke-Collender, Eureka Vacuum, and Marlin Rockwell all reached new high levels for the movement.

Amusement shares contigued in demand, Radio, Paramount and Warner Bros. selling up a point or so further into new high territory for 1930. Coppers rallied after an early bear drive, American Smelting & Anaconda gaining nearly 2 points. United Aircraft was sent up 5 points to a new high. National Dairy and Kraft Phenix common stocks made scant response to the merger plan, although Kraft preferred jumped 7 points.

Midland Steel products was a spectacular performer, rising more than 13 points to a new peak at 53. Nearly 10 points of the advance was made in a string of seven sales which came out on the tape just before the close, undoubtedly reflecting a flury of shorts. Otis Elevator rose 14 points to a new top at 329.

U. S. Steel Rallies.

U. S. Steel sold off 1½ points, then rallied to close fractionally higher. Simmons was depressed to a new low at 62⅛, but rallied to 63½, off 1½ points, net. American Tobacco B and Eastman Kodak lost about 2 and 3 points in profit taking.

Credit conditions remained easy, reflecting piling up of funds at the banks in preparation for March 1 disbursements estimated above $600,000,000. Call money renewed at 4½ per cent, then declined to 4.

Commodity markets generally rallied further. Wheat futures closed about 2½ cents higher, reflecting better export demand for flour, and reports of smaller Argentine estimates. Corn closed more than a cent higher. Cotton was quiet, and closed a few cents a bale lower, under realizing on its recent advance. Raw sugar steadied on reports from Cuba that the single selling agency would not be dissolved in the near future.

Foreign exchanges eased. The Spanish peseta touched a new low for the movement at 12.16 cents, off about 1-10 of a cent, reflecting political disturbances in Spain. Sterling cables ruled ⅛ cent lower at $4.85 15-16.

NUMBER OF BONDS TOUCH 1930 PEAKS

BALTIMORE & OHIO RISES

New York, Feb. 28 (A.P.).—The bond market's slow progress continued today, bringing a scattering of new highs for the year in representative sections of the quotation table. Buying was of moderate proportions, but offerings were not so plentiful, particularly in the rails.

Securities establishing peak prices for 1930 included the Liberty 3½s, Canadian National Railways 5s, American Telephone convertible 4½s, Loew's 6s with warrants, Portland Railway 7½s, American Writing Paper 6s, Rio Grande do Sul 6s and the recently issued American Telephone debenture 5s and International Telephone 5s.

Although this was the last day of the month, money remained easy. Funds were plentifully supplied in the call market at the renewal rate of 4½ per cent and the official figure fell to 4, while the "outside" quotation dropped to 3½. Time accommodations also eased.

Several bonds of miscellaneous descriptions gave evidence of considerable strength. Union Pacific first 4s rose 1 point. Baltimore & Ohio gold 4s improved ⅞, and Atchison adjustment 4s were marked up 1¾. The New Haven 3½s repeated Thursday's performance, rising 1½ to 2½ points. Shell Union Oil 5s with warrants rose nearly half a point on active accumulation.

Telephone Shares Touch Peak.

Following the shares to a new 1930 top, the American Telephone convertible touched 160½, closing at 159¾ for a 2½-point net gain on a volume of more than $2,600,000, par value. The Parmelee 6 was active and 2 points higher, likewise in sympathy with the strength of the shares.

National Dairy Products 5½s turned heavy after the announcement of the company's plans to use $33,000,000 in the debentures in part payment for the assets of Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation. These bonds are outstanding to the extent of about $50,000,000 and the news gave rise to reports that an additional issue might be forthcoming. In a large turnover, the debentures sold off nearly a point.

Marked resistance was shown by most of the investment rails, including Santa Fe general 4s, Southern Pacific refunding 4s, Southern Railway general 4s, Nickel Plate 5½s, Great Northern 7s, and Canadian Pacific debenture 4s. Wabash 5s sagged ¾.

U. S. Issues Prove Dull.

The fourth Liberty loan closed within an eighth of its year's high. Trading in the Treasuries was dull.

Belgian bonds changed hands freely, holding virtually unchanged. Interest in the French municipals dwindled but the Republic 7s closed at 115¾, or within ¼ of their top for the year. Italy public utility 7s and government 7s and Seine Department 7s were other trading centers in the foreign group.

The market heard today that a $50,000,000 issue of American & Foreign Power bonds, probably debentures with 5½ or 5½ per cent coupons, would be offered next week. The reported price is 95. Dow Chemical Co., it is understood, is to sell a $6,500,000 note issue.

New offerings of the week declined about $1,000,000 from last week's total. The volume was $65,485,000 against $20,787,000 in the corresponding period of 1928.

NOW IS TIME TO BUY BONDS, SAYS BANKER

Interim of Tight Money, as Now, Is Period to Invest, Declares Meyer.

BANK CLEARINGS SLUMP

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The bond distributing division of the investment banking business seems to have at this moment an unusual opportunity and a corresponding responsibility in connection with the business situation, Eugene Meyer, jr., former head of the Federal Farm Loan Board, informed members of the Bond Club of Washington yesterday at their monthly luncheon meeting at the Carlton Hotel.

Reviewing national financial history for the past 12 years this banker and authority on international finance, reminded members and their guests that history proves that the best time for bond investors to buy is during or immediately following a period of tight money and that the present time is such a period.

The bond distributing organizations, he said, have an important function to fill and their success depends upon their response in meeting the legitimate economic needs of both borrowers and lenders of capital through the purchase and sale of bonds.

Cites Qualities for Firms.

"In the past," he said, "the most successful firms have proved to be those who best understood their business, who were careful in buying from issuing corporations, both public and private, and who were thorough in their study of securities, of values and fundamental economics. The best bond salesman is not the gibbest talker, but the man who knows most about the value of his wares, and who uses his knowledge for the benefit of the buyer's interests. I believe that conditions at this time justify investors in buying bonds which combine safety of principal and a fair yield."

Many local bankers will attend the Eastern Regional Savings Conference of the savings bank divisions, American Bankers Association, at the Hotel Commodore, New York City, March 20 and 21.

The conference is open to representatives of all banks interested in the savings business. It is not limited to members of the savings bank division. The subjects to be discussed are ones which are of paramount interest to all banks and are to be presented by persons who have been successful in developing the business which they discuss. Open forums in charge of a leader follow the presentation of each address.

Probable Discussions Listed.

Some of the subjects outlined in the programs are advertising, personal loan department, cost accounting and audit control, pension and bonus plans, insured savings, the advantages and disadvantages to the banks and the depositors of pying interest from the day of deposit to the day of withdrawal.

The banquet committee announces that Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the National Business Survey Conference, called by President Hoover, will be the main speaker.

Two holidays and quiet business were pronounced as the reason for the drop in local bank clearings for February from the preceding month and February 1929. The report of the Washington Clearing House Association, made public yesterday, revealed February clearings as $96,545,212.86, compared with $118,219,262.83 for January and $109,649,040.44 for February last year.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

In making inquiries address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Family Stores; Foremost Dairies.

O. B. C.—I have been told to purchase either National Family Stores or Foremost Dairies. Have you any available information?

Answer—Foremost Dairies' earnings have not been up to expectations. No dividends are paid on the stock, which, as a result, must be placed in the category of a speculation. National Family Stores common was placed on a yearly dividend basis of $1.60 per share last May. Earnings for 1929 are officially estimated at $4 a share, or more than double dividend requirements. Ten per cent of annual earnings are set aside annually for retirement of the preferred stock at 35. The company operates a chain of clothing and apparel stores and is under capable management. The common is regarded as a speculative investment with some attractiveness.

Metropolitan Chain Stores.

E. R.—What can you tell me about Metropolitan Chain Stores and Bulova Watch? My broker has advised me that both are good. Your reply is awaited with interest.

Answer—Income of Metropolitan Chain Stores has not been sufficient for the payment of dividends to stockholders, and if you desire a return on your invested capital this stock should be ignored. In the case of Bulova Watch, $3 in dividends are distributed on the common. Earnings last year were in excess of $5 and estimates place profits for the current year at $7. Bulova may be termed a good issue to be held.

Has $100 to Invest.

F. C. K.—As I do not consider myself familiar with the world of stocks and bonds, possibly you can advise me how to invest the small sum of $100 so as to produce 10 per cent or better? Part of it is to be left in the bank drawing 5 per cent, the remainder I wish at work.

Answer—The best and only advice that can be given one of your extremely limited capital is that you keep whatever little money your have in the bank, drawing the fixed rate of interest. One situated as you has no business either speculating or investing in securities, or for that matter in anything else. Accumulate, if you can, a substantial sum of money in the bank, and if in the future you have a surplus in excess of an amount that will guard you against the possibility of any emergency, it will then be time for you to think of purchasing some securities, but not until then.

Julius Kayser and Others.

E. S. R.—Will you kindly give me your opinion as to the advisability of purchasing common stock of Julius Kayser at or about the present price? Is there any indication that the present dividend rate will not be maintained? I understand this stock now pays a dividend of $4 per share. I have 100 shares of common stock of Warner Brothers Pictures Corporation, which I purchased at $47. Would you advise sale or retention? I have also heard that this stock is now making over $12 per year per share. Is this true? Also please express your views as to speculative outlook for National Bellas Hess Co. and National Dairy Products.

Answer—Julius Kayser, now paying annual dividends of $4 a share and selling at a price to yield to the investor approximately 11.4 per cent, is very well regarded, as common stocks go, especially as there is no present indication that current dividends will not be maintained. At prevailing levels, Warner Brothers Pictures shows you a substantial profit. However, even at prevailing prices, and on the annual dividend of $4 per share, the stock returns substantially better than 8 per cent on the investment. Can not advise as to whether or not you should sell. For year ended August 30 last, estimated company earned over 8 per cent on common shares. National Bellas Hess is fairly well regarded from a speculative investment viewpoint, as is also National Dairy Products.

Packard; Reo.

L. R. M.—What do you think of Packard Motor and Reo Motor as a long-time investment?

Answer—Neither is to be classified as an investment in the strict sense of the term. Even though both are on dividend basis, the former paying 80 cents annually, with 60 cents extra paid in 1929 and the latter paying $1 annually, with $2 extra distributed in 1929, the shares are speculative. However, they appear to have quite some attraction for long-term holding.

Dayton; Waldorf.

C. L. O.—Kindly give me some information about Dayton Airplane and Waldorf System. What dividends do they pay?

Answer—Dayton Airplane pays no dividend. Earnings have not been satisfactory and the stock, therefore, must be classed as a speculation. Waldorf System distributes $1.50 annually to stockholders, and may be considered an attractive stock for long-term holding. Earnings for 1929 are officially estimated, at $2.50 per common share, as against $2.08 in 1928. Profits in 1929 were the highest since 1923. Gross income last year set a new high mark, and sales last month were 6 per cent ahead of January, 1929. Waldorf has no funded debt and only a small amount of preferred. Including its cafeterias, Waldorf System operates the largest chain of restaurants in the country—located in 42 cities, and plans to open more eating houses. The company strengthened its position last year by discontinuing unprofitable stores, and with the earnings' outlook satisfactory, directors may see fit to pay an extra cash dividend this year.

Erie.

G. V.—What is your opinion of Erie? Is this stock worth holding?

Answer—There appears no reason to sell this stock from an earnings standpoint. Profits for 1929 equaled $6.03 a share on the common, as against $4.93 in 1928 after first and second preferred dividends, and earnings for 1930 should compare favorably with those for the past year. Erie's earnings from its coal properties, which have now been turned over to the Pittston Coal Co., augment by a sizable amount the nonoperating income of the road for 1929.

Erie is regarded as an issue with attractive speculative possibilities for both medium and long-term holding. No dividends are paid on the common stock at the present time.

National Family Stores.

T. L. T.—What is your opinion of National Family Stores stock as an investment?

Answer—Sales reports of National Family Stores, recently published, show an increase in volume of approximately 100 per cent over those for corresponding periods in 1928. Recently the president of the company estimated that earnings for the common stock for 1929 would be in the neighborhood of $4 a share, which would be more than ample for dividend requirements on that issue of $1.60 annually.

In fact, the company appears to be in a position to pay extra dividends on the common out of profits for the twelve months. Taking these facts into consideration, National Family Stores seems to be in a favorable position for long-term holding.

YOUR INCOME TAX

NO. 27.

The cost of capital assets, such as building and machinery, less depreciation and salvage, may be deducted from gross income if their use in business suddenly is terminated.

Usually such assets must be sold or otherwise disposed of, in order to claim a loss. However, there is an exception. If, for example, property has been discarded by reason of some unforeseen cause, such as change in the manufacture of a product to which machinery is especially devoted, or where new legislation makes the continued profitable use of the property impossible; the taxpayer need not have parted permanently with the property in order to claim a loss. But if use of property was abandoned because of depreciation or obsolescence, the taxpayer must have parted permanently with it if a loss is claimed.

Loss due to the voluntary removal or demolition of old buildings, the scrapping of old machinery, equipment, &c., due to renewals or replacements, is deductible. But if a taxpayer buys, as the site of a new building, land upon which an old building is located, demolition of the old building is not considered a loss and therefore is not deductible. The value of the real estate, exclusive of the old improvements, is presumed to be equal to the purchase price of the land and building, plus the cost of removing the useless building.

Separate Prizes for Separate Divisions Equalize Opportunity

In the Great $20,000 Opportunity Campaign

Second Period Now in Progress With Individual Prizes of

$350 IN GOLD

And 90,000 EXTRA VOTES for Each $20 Worth of New Subscriptions

Residents in suburban districts have exactly the same chance to win big awards as those in densely populated city sections because they compete only against those in a similar situation. $100 in cash will be awarded to the candidate in the out-of-town district who turns in the greatest amount of new subscription payments within the period starting February 20th and Ending March 12th; $100 to the city division candidate who turns in the greatest amount from his division; $50 each to the second candidate in each division and $25 each to the third candidate in each division—a grand total of $350 for just a few days of spare time effort. Remember that only subscriptions received within this period will count toward these special awards and that candidates are not limited to securing subscriptions from their own territory but are given equal credit for subscriptions obtained in territories other than their own.

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT SITE IS SELECTED BY COMMISSIONERS

MORE LAND SOUGHT ADJACENT TO TRACT

Completed Plans Provide for 280-Acre Landing Spot for Capital.

The long fight for a municipal airport for the National Capital appeared to be won yesterday.

The Congressional Airport Commission, which was appointed last year, met in the morning and decided to purchase the two private flying fields near the south end of Highway Bridge for the municipal airport.

If the plans of the commission go through, there would be added to these fields the adjacent land now used by the Department of Agriculture as an experimental farm, and also a part of Columbia Island nearby.

This would provide in all about 280 acres for the municipal airport, according to Senator Hiram Bingham (Republican), of Connecticut, chairman of the commission.

Road to Be Relocated.

The two private fields, which have been known as Hoover Field and the Washington Airport, are directly opposite each other. Separating them is a military road that leads to Arlington. Under the plans of the commission, this road will be removed so as to swing around the combined field that is to be created.

An entirely new bill will be drafted for the acquisition of the two fields and the other land, Senator Bingham said.

The owners of the two fields, he revealed, have told the commission that they will sell them for what they cost, plus 10 per cent. And the commission regards this offer as eminently fair.

U. S. to Have Title.

The commission last spring drafted a bill authorizing a Federal appropriation of $500,000 for the municipal airport, but this evidently will be abandoned. Whatever new legislation is drawn up will provide that the Federal Government shall have title to the airport, but that the District Commissioners shall administer it.

The members of the commission believe that the day will come when the National Capital will be literally surrounded by airports; that the one they are trying to give the city now will simply be part of a great system.

Senator Bingham made this clear in an address he delivered over WRC under the auspices of The Washington Post last spring.

Gravelly Point Not Abandoned.

The Connecticut senator said yesterday that the creation of a municipal airport near the Highway Bridge will in no way interfere with the ultimate development of another port at Gravelly Point, about a half mile on the other side of the bridge.

"We appreciate the importance of developing Gravelly Point," he said, "and we understand that the Government will continue filling in there."

Perhaps no city in the world has had so much interest evinced in its airport or been offered so much advice in connection with its establishment as has Washington.

Among those who appeared before the Congressional Commission to urge a municipal airport here was Col. Charles A. Lindbergh himself.

Other Airports Visited.

Prior to the hearings The Post sent a staff reporter on a tour of three cities, so that he might tell the people here what those cities were doing to prepare for air traffic.

In company with Maj. Donald A. Davison, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, and Robert J. Cottrell, secretary of the Board of Trade, he visited airports in Cleveland, Detroit and Buffalo.

An aerial view of the territory to be included in the proposed municipal airport recommended yesterday by the Congressional Airport Commission. Highway Bridge is seen in the foreground; Washington Airport to the left of the road; Hoover Field to the right of the road, and the Department of Agriculture experimental farms in the rear of Hoover Field. All this would become one great flying field under the plan announced yesterday.

TRADE GROUP HAILS AIRPORT DECISION

DINNER GIVEN BARNARD

Decision of the Congressional Joint Airport Commission to approve the purchase of the Washington Airport, Hoover Field and the Department of Agriculture's experimental farm for a temporary airport for Washington was hailed as one of the greatest victories ever attained by the Washington Board of Trade at a dinner meeting of committee chairmen and officers of the organization last night at the Willard Hotel.

This action of the Airport Commission was taken yesterday, and it followed a radio talk by Lawrence E. Williams, chairman of the aviation committee of the Board of Trade, in which he announced that the board would agree on the property mentioned as a compromise airport in the fight for Gravelly Point. Up to the time of this announcement, Senator Hiram Bingham, chairman of the Airport Commission, had expressed the belief that the Board of Trade was hindering the establishment of an airport through its determination to favor no other site than Gravelly Point.

The dinner last night was in compliment to Jerome F. Barnard, who was chairman of the midwinter dinner of the trade board. Last night's celebration took the form of a duplicate in miniature of the midwinter dinner. The same decorative theme of "Inside the Red Mill" was carried out, and a program of dances and songs similar to those of the first dinner was staged. Eddie Ward's Orchestra furnished the music. William Ellis, chairman of the membership committee, was master of ceremonies. Mr. Barnard was the recipient of several gifts, including a handsome watch.

Boy, 7, Is Burned Badly by Matches

Clothing of Lad, at Play, Catches Fire; Kinsfolk Aid Him.

Playing with matches in the rear of his home at 1767 E street northeast, late yesterday afternoon may cost the life of 7-year-old Leonard P. Wernecke, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Wernecke.

The child, with several other youngsters, was striking matches and flinging them aside when one of the burning sticks fell on his clothes. The fire quickly enveloped him in flames. Neither the boy nor his companions realized the seriousness of the situation and none of them, apparently made any effort to beat out the fire.

The boy's screams attracted the attention of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McVearry, in their next-door residence at 1769 E street. The husband rushed to the yard, threw the child to the ground and smothered the fire as he was tearing the blazing garments off his nephew.

The youth was taken to Casualty Hospital, where his condition was reported as critical.

Lehlbach Bill Minority Report Due Monday

The House yesterday decreed that minority reports on the new Lehlbach retirement bill would have to be filed by noon Monday, thus heralding early action on that measure.

Chairman Lehlbach, of the House civil service committee, asked the House to set a deadline on minority reports so that the bill could be acted on at an early date. House leaders are known to be in favor of disposing of the bill as quickly as possible.

Radio Star Gives Song Recital Here

James Melton Ably Assisted by A Capella Choir of Congregational Church.

James Melton, radio star, and lyric tenor, and the A Capella Choir, of the First Congregational Church, appeared in joint recital last night at Constitution Hall for the benefit of the Children's Emergency Home.

It was Mr. Melton's first appearance in person in the National Capital and he was greeted with an ovation when he came on the stage to sing his first group of songs. This group of French operatic arias, including a selection from Bizet's "Pearl Fishers," gave the popular young tenor a chance to demonstrate the real tone beauty of his voice and his impeccable diction. One of his radio favorites, "The Hills of Home," also received warm appreciation as did a group of German lieder numbers.

The A Capella Chorus, under the direction of Ruby Smith Stahl, gave good account of itself, especially in a Bach number, "Glory Now to Thee Be Given," and in a group of classic chorales.

Youth Posts Collateral For Racing Policeman

"I thought he was just a college kid trying to race me, so I gave him a run," declared Lee Medivedeef, 19 years old, of Baltimore, when he was booked at the Ninth Precinct station at 9:30 o'clock last night on charges of speeding preferred by Fourth Precinct Policeman E. D. Alber.

The policeman, off duty in plain clothes, said he pursued Medivedeef from the H street viaduct to Thirteenth and H streets northeast, being forced to attain a speed of 75 miles an hour before forcing the man to the curb and arresting him. Medivedeef flashed a $100 bill to post collateral, and the station police were forced to scour the neighborhood to obtain change.

Sigma Chi Opens Capital Session

Two Washingtonians Honored by Fraternity Meeting in District.

Members of the Sigma Chi Fraternity from twelve Eastern States and Canada yesterday opened their two-day regional convention at the Mayflower Hotel in honoring two of the oldest men in the order, both of Washington, including Joseph M. Dufour, 89 years old, of 1015 N street northwest, and Jr J. Weaver, 90 years old, of 1709 S street northwest.

Among those participating in the opening meeting, presided over by Harold M. Gilmore, of Philadelphia, head of the fraternity's province of Pennsylvania, were former Postmaster General Harry S. New and Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet. The visitors were welcomed here by Prof. De Witt C. Croissant, of George Washington University.

The gathering will close tonight with a banquet at the hotel to be addressed by Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley and other notable Sigma Chis. The day's program includes a golf tournament, sightseeing tours and a business session.

Wife Swallows Poison After Alleged Quarrel

As a climax to an alleged quarrel with her husband, Mrs. J. H. Gaskill, 17 years old, swallowed a quantity of poison yesterday afternoon at her home on C street near Seventeenth street southeast, Fifth Precinct police reported.

The young woman was taken to Casualty Hospital, where her condition was described as serious. Later in the day the woman's husband appeared at the hospital and, despite reported protestations from hospital attendants, insisted on taking his wife home.

Woman Seeks Divorce, Naming Corespondent

Alleging that her husband has been intimate with another woman, who is named as corespondent, Mary Gay Omeara of 5531 Sherrier place northwest, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to grant her an absolute divorce from Arlie P. Omeara, said to be employed in a Seventh street store. The other woman also is said to be employed at the same establishment.

The Omearas were married July 9, 1924, at Baltimore, and have one child. The wife declares that her husband and the other woman are much in each other's company at theaters and restaurants. She asks custody of the child and alimony.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

"WHAT is a savant?" asked Luella.

"A savant," I told her, "is a man of special learning, usually a professional scientist."

She merely nodded her head, but it aroused curiosity: "Why all this interest in savants?"

'Twas a front page newspaper story that started Luella on this trek. A teacher of fourth grade pupils asked a simple question that even the savants couldn't answer: What is the oldest city in the world?

"Who cares?" asked Luella.

Off-hand, I could think on no one interested in the oldest city in the world, certainly not the real estate agents—and yet it is rather nice to know these things; like how old is Anne, and who killed Cock Robin? The answers to these are what constitute real knowledge.

"You think so?" she asked.

* * * *

EVIDENTLY, it was to be a morning of question-asking. "Don't you think so?" I shot back at her.

"Positively, no!" she declared. "This is a new age. We don't care about anything old——"

So! That's it. The new age ignores all the fine traditions of the past.

"Yes, you do," shouted Luella in sarcasm. "Maybe old wine, and possibly an old song or two—but old women? Ha, ha! You'll have to tell that to the Marines!"

The Marines? What-ta they care about old women? That outfit is notoriously fond of flappers, and flappers fond of Marines. No, I wouldn't say a word to the Marines.

"If you'll take my advice," cautioned Luella, "you'll say nothing to anybody about liking old things—or they'll think you're an antique——"

* * * *

WAS a time when she had no such ideas, when I read her that verse, getting down on my knees to make it more effective. "I was a king in Babylon, and you were a Christian slave——"

Now, that was a concession, and made me feel like a king again; but it cost a complete outfit—a new Easter ensemble for Luella.

"You know well you don't like me in old clothes," she said, smiling when I told her she could go down and get a complete new wardrobe.

"And then," she suggested, "if you'd really like to see one of the old cities, we could probably take a trip——"

"Where to?" I asked.

"Oh," she pondered, "Atlantic City's old enough for me."

So saith Luella, the savant.

CITIZENS ARE URGED TO WIDEN PROGRAMS

Fisher Says Associations Should Strive for City-Wide Plans.

ATTENDANCE IS FACTOR

A plea that citizens associations of the Capital include in their programs city-wide as well as sectional improvements that District officials may get the sentiment of the majority on all problems of major importance, was made last night in a radio address over station WMAL, by Allen Fisher, president of the Connecticut Avenue Citizens Association and a delegate to the Federation of Citizens Associations.

Mr. Fisher based his plea for such consideration on the fact that while many associations list several hundred members, only a few attend the monthly meetings because in many instances neighborhood needs have been filled and no subject of importance is scheduled to come before the meeting.

The Connecticut avenue president told of efforts of officers of citizens associations to get action on certain improvements, advantageous to the city at large. The officer would appear before a committee, a senator or some other official and state that his organization favored a certain thing. When asked the total membership, the officer would reply, giving a number around 500, but when asked how many had voted in favor of the improvement, would be forced to answer that only 40 attended the meeting.

Another forward step in the activities of all associations, Mr. Fisher said, would be a request to delegate to the federation to make regular reports to the associations on the leading projects before the federation, what action has been taken and what is contemplated for the future.

Mr. Fisher lauded the primary purposes of the citizens associations—to improve their own territory—but added that they were losing ground through their failure to include in their programs discussions and expressions of opinion on matters of importance to the entire city.

Weekly Alimony Awarded Woman

Stafford Allows Medicine Salesman's Wife $10 Weekly.

Justice Wendell P. Stafford, in Equity Court yesterday awarded Mrs. Myrtle Owen Herbert, of Twenty-second street northwest, near Pennsylvania avenue, $10 a week temporary alimony from her husband, John G. Herbert.

At the same time, the justice referred the case to the auditor, with instructions that that official determine how much the man's weekly income is. Herbert claims that he is a medicine salesman and that his weekly earnings are less than $30.

Mrs. Herbert, who was represented by Attorneys John P. Mullen and James B. Archer, denied, through depositions allegations of her husband that she had been intimate with another man on Christmas Eve night.

Policeman Arrests Pair In Copper Theft Case

Entering his automobile in front of the District Building last night after attending the 7 o'clock "roll call" at the Detective Bureau, Detective John Foley became suspicious of the actions of two young men, who emerged from the fence surrounding the new Department of Commerce Building across the street.

The men, according to Detective Foley, soon went behind the fence and emerged with a large roll of copper roofing. The detective arrested the men, who were held for investigation. They described themselves as Herbert E. Dodd, 37, a steamfitter, and John Roger, 20, a laborer, on New York avenue northwest near Eleventh street.

High School Orchestra To Play at Press Club

A section of the National High School Orchestra will play at the National Press Club this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

At noon, escorted by Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, the 311 members of the orchestra will call on President and Mrs. Hoover at the White House. The orchestra is made up of the outstanding musicians of the high schools in 36 States, and is led by Joseph E. Madey, of the University of Michigan.

Made Ill by Monoxide Gas.

Monoxide gas, supposed to have been inhaled while coming to Washington on a bus yesterday, caused Miss Ruth McCormick, 20 years old, of Fort Myer, Va., to be taken suddenly ill in a department store where she is employed. She was given treatment by the rescue squad and taken to Emergency Hospital.

WATER BUREAU CUT IS CHARGED BY ORAM TO BUDGET BUREAU

District Official Blames Furlough of Laborers to Lack of Funds.

104 MEN WILL LOSE 17 DAYS' PAY IN 1930

Several Promotions Among Executives Are Approved by Department.

Responsibility for the furlough of per diem employes in the maintenance division of the District Water Department was placed primarily upon the Budget Bureau yesterday by Capt. Hugh C. Oram, Assistant Engineer Commissioner having supervision over the department.

The Budget Bureau last year refused to approve sufficient funds for the maintenance work, and it was necessary to get Congress to appropriate an additional $30,000 as a deficiency appropriation, Capt. Oram said. Again this year the Budget Bureau held the sum down, refusing to make allowance for the higher cost of maintenance incident to the growth of the water system.

There are 104 men who now are scheduled to lose a day a week for the next seventeen weeks, but this will not save enough to prevent a deficiency, and more drastic action probably will be necessary later.

Officials explained that because of the short session of Congress last year it was possible to get a deficiency appropriation prior to March 4, but that this year it is expected the deficiency appropriation bill will not be enacted until some time in June.

Several promotions among executives of the water department were approved yesterday on recommendation of D. W. Holton, superintendent. These were incident to Mr. Holton's promotion to be superintendent. Humphrey Beckett was named engineer, vice Mr. Holton, with a salary increased to $4,600 a year. Others promoted were W. R. Woodward, T. L. Wilson, T. M. Latimer, Howard Wilson, and John B. Allen, each to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of the man preceding him.

Police Asked to Hunt For Two Girls and Boy

Two young girls and a boy were reported by police to be missing from their homes yesterday.

The missing ones are Catherine Wesley, 19 years old, of 403 Tenth street northwest; Mary Frances Kelly, 20 years old, of 150 Rhode Island avenue northwest, and Richard Davis, 14 years old, of Capitol Heights, Md.

The first-named girl has light hair and was wearing a red coat when last seen. The 20-year-old girl is a brunette. She was wearing a plaid coat with fur collar. The boy was wearing a red sweater and blue trousers when last seen.

Damage Suit Fails In Sidewalk Case

Justice Says Mere Presence of Ice or Sleet Does Not Make Liability.

Justice Jennings Bailey in District Supreme Court yesterday ruled that the mere presence of snow, sleet and ice on the sidewalks does not make the District liable for damages to persons who slip and fall.

The ruling was made in connection with the sustaining of a demurrer filed by the District and Otto Sheafer, of 1206 Twentieth street northeast, to a suit for $20,000 damages filed recently by Geneva A. Deck, of 1605 Evarts street northeast. The plaintiff alleges that permanent injuries were suffered as the result of a fall February 22, 1929.

The court points out that the law requires that the municipality keep the streets in reasonable safe condition, and that the declaration of suit did not set forth facts showing the sidewalk to be otherwise. Assistant Corporation Counsel Raymond B. Keech appeared for the District while Attorneys T. L. Jeffords, E. B. Frey and Charles E. Morganston represented the plaintiff.

Wife Sued for Divorce After Infidelity Note

"There is one thing sure and certain, you can't be true to but one and until I can I'm going to paddle my own canoe."

That message from his wife, Nannie J. Price, of 51 Randolph place northwest, has convinced him that a reconciliation is impossible, J. Harold Price, of 642 Lamont street northwest, yesterday told the District Supreme Court in a suit for absolute divorce. Price names a corespondent and alleges that his wife has been intimate with the man. Attorney Vivian O. Hill appears for the husband.

Woman Reports Jewelry Stolen.

Mrs. Marie Simons, occupant of an apartment on Vermont avenue northwest near L street, informed police last night that during her absence from the apartment in the afternoon, a thief jimmied the door and stole three rings, a brooch, a bracelet and a fountain pen, valued at $435.

TWO GAMING RAIDS NET 37 PRISONERS

20 FLEE BY WINDOWS

Battering down heavily barred doors, members of the police vice squad yesterday invaded two reputed gambling establishments, elaborately equipped, in the heart of the downtown section, trapped 37 men and seized a quantity of alleged gaming paraphernalia.

Wielding axes and sledge hammers, Sergt. Oscar J. Letterman and Detectives Richard J. Cox and James Mostyn smashed their way through two heavily barred doors to the second floor of an establishment above a tobacco shop on I street northwest near Eighth street.

The hammering was a signal of a dash for freedom among the occupants of the establishment and 20 succeeded in escaping the raiders through windows and over adjoining roofs. When the squad members gained the establishment, they corraled 20 other patrons of the place.

Two Wagons Used.

Two patrol wagons were necessary to transport the prisoners and seizure to the First Precinct. John Joseph Dee, 36, alleged proprietor, was booked on a charge of permitting gaming. The others were questioned and liberated as Government witnesses.

Fifteen persons were trapped in the other establishment on Thirteenth street northwest near F street after the raiders had battered down a heavy door. They were also taken to the First Precinct, where Harry Schmidt, 31, alleged proprietor, was registered on a permitting gaming charge. The others were liberated as witnesses.

A bit of humor occurred when the raiders invaded a Negro house on New York avenue northwest near Sixth street and seized a half-gallon of liquor.

Dog Is Turned Loose.

Six persons were in the premises, and in the search for evidence someone turned a large German police dog loose on Detective Mostyn.

The liquor sleuth ran all over the house before his brother officers could persuade the house occupants to call off the dog.

When the excitement died down the raiders arrested Paul Puller, colored, 34, on charges of sale and possession of liquor. The other occupants and the dog were released.

Apartment House Figures in Deal

Chalfonte Is Purchased by Willard; $1,500,000 Reported as Price.

The Willard Apartment Co., Inc., of which L. R. Hawkins is president, announces its purchase of the Chalfonte, formerly known as Phillips Terrace, occupying the entire block west of Sixteenth street, bounded by Lanier, Harvard and Argonne streets and covering 60,000 square feet of ground, from a group of local investors. It is reported that the purchase price was $1,500,000.

The building was constructed by William S. Phillips & Co., Inc., in 1926 and contains 210 apartments, or approximately 600 rooms. It is of the most modern fireproof construction, is five stories in height and is serviced by two high-speed electric elevators. The units range in size from one room, kitchenette, dinette and bath to four rooms, kitchenette and bath. The majority of the apartments are with screened sleeping porches. Electric refrigeration has been installed throughout the building.

JURY ADDS $22,730 TO PROPERTY PRICE

Land-Owners Filed Complaints on Sums Awarded in Condemnation.

SIX PARCELS AFFECTED

The United States Government must pay $22,730 more than it expected in order to get six parcels of land in the Southwest section for the erection of the new Department of Agriculture Building, according to an award of a reviewing jury filed yesterday in District Supreme Court with Justice Alfred A. Wheat. The reviewing jury went into action several weeks ago after six property owners had complained that they had been awarded too small sums by the condemnation jury.

John M. Beavers, who owns the property at 1316 B street southwest, was given $10,850 more than the condemnation jury had awarded.

This jury gave Mr. Beavers $55,500 instead of $44,650, and made other awards as follows: 1367 C street southwest, $14,000 instead of $12,800; 240 Fourteenth street, $19,500 instead of $16,750; 206 Fourteenth street, $30,000 instead of $25,290; 220 Linworth place, $56,700 instead of $53,755, and 1306 B street, $46,750 instead of $46,475.

The Government was represented by Assistant Attorney General H. H. Glassie and Assistant United States Attorney Arthur G. Lambert. Attorneys J. I. Weller, George W. Offutt, jr., William C. Sullivan and Frank Sprigg Perry appeared for the property owners.

Funds probably available for Community Chest organizations for 1930 will amount to $1,610,478.80, according to a statement yesterday by John Poole, president of the Federal-American National Bank, which is the corporate treasurer of the Chest. This is approximately $180,000 less than the amount fixed by the budget committee as necessary to meet the requirements of these 75 organizations this year.

Figures to date show 64,254 audited pledges, amounting to $1,595,861.61. Pledges reported but not audited show 1,200 more givers whose contributions total $10,225, making a total of $1,606,086.61. From this, according to Elwood Street, director, there must be deducted 5 per cent, or approximately $85,000, for shrinkage, leaving $1,521,086.61, which added to the cash balance on hand January 1, amounting to $89,392.19, makes $1,610,478.80 which will be available.

Encouragement is expressed by Chest officials in regard to the recent campaign, which while falling approximately $180,000 short of its goal, yet produced about $120,000 more than the 1929 campaign.

INITIAL OFFERING OF DRAMA GUILD PROVES PLEASING

AUDIENCE FINDS PLAY RICH IN GOOD HUMOR

Presentation to Be Repeated Tonight; Actors Do Able Job.

The Community Drama Guild's initial offering last night of the "Honey-Moon" was easily one of the better amateur productions presented here this season. To the audience in the McKinley school, the group gave a performance rich in humor.

Although the play strongly resembles Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew," its three-fold plot, together with its clever lines has given it a popularity that has continued from its first presentation, in 1805 in the Drury Lane Theater, London.

The story is woven around a peasant and his three daughters, one of whom has married a man she believed to be a duke. On their honeymoon he tells her that he is not a duke but a mere peasant. Mrs. Yvonne Kushner admirably handles the part of the bride, Juliana, who after marriage, learning that she has married a mere peasant, becomes recalcitrant.

Father Swears Revenge.

In a rage, her father, Balthazar, sets out to avenge his daughter, whom he believes held captive in the peasant's cottage. Mr. Orme Libbey gives an excellent portrayal of the Duke Aranza, who seemingly deceived Juliana.

While the romance between the duke and Juliana was budding Count Montalban, played by Mr. Paul Graves, a friend of the duke, seeks to woo Balthazar's daughter, Volante, who repulses his advances.

The count joins Balthazar, played by George Odell, in his search for the duke. Balthazar's third daughter, Zamora, acted by Miss Jennette Seiler, has run from home and served as a page boy to Rolando, one of the subjects of the duke.

Meanwhile Juliana has escaped from the cottage and pleads that a divorce be granted her by the man whom she believes to be the real duke. He in turn sentences them to live together for a month and at the end of that time, if she still wishes to be separated, says he will grant it.

Denouement Moves Swiftly.

The denouement comes with the arrival of Balthazar with Count Montalban and Volante and they go to seek justice from the Duke. At the audience chamber in the palace of the Duke they meet the long-lost daughter, Zamora, who has fallen in love with the woman-hating Rolando.

From then the plot moves swiftly. Outstanding in the portrayal is the excellent acting of Mr. Libbey, Mrs. Charles Farrar, who plays Rolando; Mr. Odell, Mrs. Kushner, Miss Dorothy Crosby, as Volante, and Miss Seiler. Mrs. Ida G. Mattingly, as the designing innkeeper, gives the audience some enjoyable moments in the fourth act.

Those In the Cast.

Those in the cast and their parts are Duke Aranza, Mr. Libbey; Jacques, Mr. Walter E. Thorne; Lampedo, Martin Scranage; Rolando, Charles Farrar; Count Mountalban, Paul Graves; Balthazar, George Odell; Lopez, Harold Norton; Campillo, George W. Davis; Olmedo, George W. Gates; Pedro, Philip Notes; Juliana, Mrs. Kushner; Volante, Dorothy Crosby, and Zamora, Jennette Seiler.

Tonight the play will be presented again. Miss Alma Kruger, of the Civic Repertory Theater, New York, directed the show.

G. W. U. Debaters Defeat North Carolina's Team

George Washington University, represented by Woodfin L. Butte, of this city, and Norman R. Hagen, of Minneapolis, Minn., defeated the University of North Carolina, represented by J. M. Bailey, jr., and G. P. Carr, in an open debate last night at Chapel Hill, N. C., on the subject, "Resolved, that the nations accept a plan to complete disarmament except for such forces as are needed for police purposes."

The George Washington debaters, taking the negative, contended that disarmament would be impracticable and that neither would it insure peace nor would it be feasible in any manner.

Municipal Center Lots Bought.

Purchase of three lots for the municipal center was approved yesterday by the District Commissioners. Two lots were purchased from J. B. Stein for $58,600 and one from a group of trustees for $20,300.
